Internal Risk Factors:

- We derive a significant portion of our revenue from certain key and long-standing customers, and we do not have long-term contracts with all of them. Also, some portion of our revenue as per contracted price, net of returns has been derived from customers with whom we have short-term business relationships. Any reduction in business from such customers, or termination of arrangements, may adversely affect our business, cash flow, financial condition and results of operations.

We derive a significant portion of our revenue from a limited number of key and long-standing customers across various sectors, including information technology, manufacturing, telecommunications, banking, consulting, healthcare, e-commerce, pharmaceutical, legal, logistics, event management and transportation companies. These customers collectively contribute a significant share of our revenue as per contracted price, net of returns, and we expect to remain reliant on major customers for the foreseeable future. Our engagements with these customers are generally governed by service agreements, short-term work orders, or email-based confirmations, many of which are short to medium-term in nature and do not contain exclusivity provisions or long-term commitments. The average tenure of these agreements is one year, and such agreements are generally renewed annually subject to mutual agreement. These arrangements are typically terminable by either party with prior notice and may not be renewed on similar terms, or at all.

The table below sets forth contributions to our revenue as per contracted price, net of returns by our largest customer, top 5 customers, top 10 customers and top 20 customers for the period ended December 31, 2025 and for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

Any reduction in the volume or scope of services provided to such customers, nonrenewal or premature termination of contracts, or delays or defaults in payments may materially and adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition, and results of operations. Further, dissatisfaction relating to service quality, pricing, or operational execution could weaken these relationships and result in the loss of business or reputational harm. Changes in customers' business operations, procurement strategies, or financial condition may also lead to a decline, delay, or cancellation of their service requirements.

Our revenue concentration limits our bargaining power in commercial negotiations and may constrain our ability to maintain or improve margins. Additionally, dependence on a select group of customers exposes us to risks arising from their financial distress, insolvency, or operational disruptions, any of which could adversely affect our performance.

We have not experienced any major instances of termination of agreement which impacted the financials of the Company in the past. At the same time, we are not sure that in future we will not face such instances and that will not affect the financials of the Company.

To mitigate these concentration risks, we are undertaking targeted diversification initiatives, including expanding our geographic footprint. We opened new offices in Ahmedabad and Chennai in Financial Year 2024-25 and in Kolkata in the current financial year. We are also strengthening our sales team to tap underpenetrated sectors such as media, entertainment, and government. We are also focusing on improving service quality, operational efficiency, and customer relationship management, to increase customer retention. These strategic initiatives are expected to broaden our customer base, reduce dependency on key customers, improve revenue resilience, and support long-term profitability.

2. Our operations are concentrated primarily in the state of Delhi, and any disruption in these markets could materially affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

Our business is primarily concentrated in the state of Delhi and other Tier -I cities such as Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Noida, Gurugram and Chennai, which subject us to various risks, including but not limited to vulnerability to change in laws, severe weather conditions or other natural disasters, war, or war-like situation or terrorist attacks, among others. Upon occurrence of such events, we may have to halt our operations. Any such disruption for any reason could result in significant increase of costs and delays in execution of our engagements. While such instances have not materially occurred in the past, however future occurrence of any such instances could impact our earnings, financial condition and results of operation. In order to mitigate the aforementioned risks, we are exploring diversification of our operational capacities by setting up additional facilities and extending our services in Tier – II and Tier – III cities as part of our growth initiatives.

Furthermore, we face significant competition from other mobility providers and increasingly improved public transportation systems primarily in the state of Delhi and other Tier-I cities as mentioned above. If public transport infrastructure becomes more efficient, safe, and affordable, our existing and prospective customers may shift away from using our services, thereby adversely impacting demand. Additionally, any local regulatory changes that impose operational restrictions, licensing challenges, or higher compliance costs may further constrain our ability to operate effectively in these cities.

Given our dependence on these concentrated geographies, any significant disruption to our operations in these key markets could materially and adversely impact on our revenue, results of operations and overall financial condition.

3. Any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds through fresh issue of equity shares (“Net Proceeds”) as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus shall be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior approval from Shareholders.

We propose to utilize the Net Proceeds through issue of equity shares towards pre-payment or re-payment, in full or in part, of certain outstanding borrowings availed by our Company and general corporate purposes. For further details of the proposed objects of the Offer, kindly refer “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 128. At this stage, we cannot determine with any certainty if we would be able to completely utilize the Net Proceeds towards the objects aforementioned. In accordance with Section 27 of the Companies Act, 2013, we cannot undertake any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus without obtaining the Shareholders’ approval through a special resolution. In the event of any such circumstances that require us to undertake variation in the disclosed utilization of the Net Proceeds, we may not be able to obtain the Shareholders’ approval in a timely manner, or at all. Any delay or inability to obtain such Shareholders’ approval may adversely affect our business or operations.

Further, our Promoters & Promoter group would be required to provide an exit opportunity to the Shareholders who do not agree with our proposal to modify the objects of the Offer, at a price and in the manner set out under the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018. Additionally, the requirement for Promoters & Promoter group to provide an exit opportunity to such dissenting shareholders may deter the Promoters & Promoter group from agreeing to the variation of the proposed utilization of the Net Proceeds, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. Further, we cannot assure you that the Promoters & Promoter group of our Company will have adequate resources at their disposal at all times to enable them to provide an exit opportunity at the price prescribed by SEBI under Chapter VI-A of the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018.

Further, we may not be able to undertake any variation in the objects of the Offer to use unutilized proceeds of the Offer, if any, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. This may restrict our Company's ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition by re-deploying the unutilized portion of the Net Proceeds, if any, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations. Further, pending utilization, we are required to deposit the Net Proceeds only in scheduled commercial banks listed under Schedule II of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

The Company Secretary shall oversee the Company's legal and compliance functions and monitor compliance with the applicable provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable laws and regulations.

5. A significant share of the CCR segment in India is held by the unorganised sector. Any increase in the unorganised market share may adversely impact our ability to compete and scale, affecting our business and financial condition.

The Corporate Car Rental (CCR) market is highly fragmented, with numerous small, local competitors who operate with lower overhead and fewer regulatory burdens. While these operators may offer inconsistent service, limited safety protocols, and reduced accountability, their aggressive pricing and local presence keep them competitive. This fragmentation diminishes our bargaining power with corporate clients, especially those who require consistency and large-scale service.

We have generated following revenue from CCR during the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

(₹ in million)

Our operational risks include managing a growing fleet, ensuring high vehicle utilization and adhering to evolving regulatory standards across various cities. We also face the ongoing challenge of recruiting and retaining trained chauffeurs, which directly impacts our service reliability, safety and client satisfaction. Our inability to address these issues could hinder our ability to maintain performance standards and retain customers.

Should the unorganized sector's market share continue to expand, or should corporate clients increasingly choose informal or app-based mobility services for their lower costs or convenience, our ability to secure new business and retain existing clients could be negatively impacted. If we are unable to effectively differentiate ourselves through reliable service, fleet quality and operational efficiency, our market position may be weakened, which may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. While such instances have not materially occurred in the past, however future occurrence of any such instances could impact our earnings, financial condition and results of operation.

As a structured and compliant corporate entity, our Company is well-positioned to serve the mobility needs of corporate clients through standardised service delivery, trained chauffeurs, a well-maintained fleet and adherence to safety and regulatory norms. Unlike unorganised players, we offer end-to-end mobility solutions with robust operational controls, digital booking systems and consistent service quality across geographies. Our reputation, long-standing client relationships and technology integration enable us to bridge service gaps left by informal providers. These differentiators help us cater to large institutional clients seeking reliability, scalability and compliance segments where the unorganised sector lacks capability or reach.

6. A significant portion of our revenue is derived from repeated customers, and any loss of such customers may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

A significant portion of our revenue is derived from repeated customers who regularly engage our chauffeur services. The loss of such customers, or any reduction in the frequency of their bookings, could adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations. Customer retention in our industry is influenced by factors such as service quality, pricing, reliability, customer experience, and competition.

Since incorporation, we have set ourselves apart through our commitment to customer satisfaction and consistent quality of service, resulting in high customer retention. As a result, the revenue contribution from retained customers has over the period / financial years as reflected in the table below:

(₹ in million)

For a given period/ financial year, a customer is considered to be a retained customer if that customer was also a customer of the Company in the immediately preceding financial year.

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

If we fail to maintain high standards of service or are unable to meet changing customer expectations, our existing customers may shift to competitors or alternative mobility solutions. Additionally, any negative feedback, operational lapses, or decline in service quality may impact customer loyalty and brand perception. Since acquiring new customers typically involves higher marketing and acquisition costs compared to retaining existing ones, a decline in repeat business could result in increased expenses and reduced profitability.

The Company places strong emphasis on customer satisfaction and loyalty. We continuously monitor customer feedback through structured review systems and undertake necessary corrective actions to maintain service excellence. Our chauffeurs undergo regular training in safety, etiquette, and professional driving to ensure a consistent and premium customer experience. While the Company has not lost any major customer in the past in a manner that has adversely affected its financial position, no assurance can be given that such circumstances will not arise in the future.

7. Chauffeur shortage and increase in Chauffeur's compensation could adversely affect our Company's profitability and ability to maintain or grow its business.

Our Company's operations are significantly dependent on the availability of trained and professional chauffeurs, both those employed directly by us and those sourced through third-party vendors. As of December 31, 2025 and Financial Year ended on March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we had 296, 236, 205 and 195 chauffeurs respectively. With our aim to expand fleet capacity and geographical presence across India, the availability of skilled chauffeurs remains a critical factor.

Compensation paid to Chauffeur's for the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 are as under:

(₹ in million)

Particulars	For the Period / Financial Year ended
	December 31, 2025	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Compensation paid to Chauffeur's	48.87	44.11	41.60	33.87
Revenue through vehicles owned	708.98	693.47	937.85	390.03
% of revenue through vehicles owned	6.89	6.36	4.44	8.68

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

Shortages of experienced chauffeurs, driven by increased demand, labour mobility and competition in the chauffeur-driven corporate car rental market, may compel us and our vendors to offer higher compensation and additional incentives to attract and retain talent. As a result, this may increase our operating expenses and adversely impact our margins.

Our chauffeur onboarding process involves structured background checks, including employment history, police verification, driving license checks and medical fitness assessments. In addition, we have implemented a comprehensive training and compliance framework, with regular modules covering defensive driving, customer interaction, grooming standards, traffic regulations, and vehicle maintenance.

Despite these investments, attracting and retaining trained chauffeurs remains a challenge, especially when competitors may offer less rigorous onboarding procedures, fewer compliance obligations, or more flexible terms of engagement.

While such instances have not materially occurred in the past where chauffeur shortages and increase in chauffeur's compensation have impacted our earnings, financial condition and results of operation. To mitigate the continuous risk, we provide in-house training to our chauffeurs to strengthen our internal training capacity and train more chauffeurs for continuous recruitment in our fleet.

8. Our current ratio has been below 1 in the stub period and financial year ended on March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, which may affect our ability to meet short-term liabilities.

Our current ratio, which measures our ability to meet short-term obligations with our short-term assets, has been less than 1 in stub period and financial year ended on March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 as per our Restated Consolidated Financial Information.

Particulars	As at
Current Ratio	0.68*	0.80	0.88	0.94

The current ratio decreased as of December 31, 2025, primarily due to a reduction in trade receivables as a result of improved collection efficiency and faster realization of outstanding dues, which led to a decrease in current assets.*

 current ratio: total current assets divided by total current liabilities.*

A current ratio of below 1 indicates that our current liabilities have consistently exceeded our current assets during these period /financial years. This could affect our ability to meet our working capital requirements and short-term liabilities on time. However, the Company has not faced any difficulty in meeting its short-term obligations in the past, as our cash flows from operations have consistently remained positive, amounting to ₹ 423.69 million, ₹ 344.26 million, ₹ 629.73 million and ₹ 147.68 million for the period ended December 31, 2025 and the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, respectively. If we are unable to generate sufficient cash flows or obtain alternative financing on favourable terms, our operations, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

9. We are unable to trace bank statements for certain allotments made by our Company. In the event we are found not to be in compliance with any applicable regulations in relation to such allotments, we may be subject to regulatory actions or penalties for any such possible non-compliance and our business, financial condition and reputation may be adversely affected.

We have been unable to locate copies of bank statements of following allotments made by our Company for cash:

We have been unable to obtain copies of these bank statements. While our Company is of the view that the funds received by our Company against the allotments undertaken during the above period were in compliance with applicable law, we cannot assure you that the relevant bank statements will become available in the future, or that regulatory proceedings or actions will not be initiated against us on account of any non-compliance. Although no regulatory proceedings or actions have been initiated against us in relation to these anomalies to date, we cannot assure you that such actions will not arise in the future or that the relevant statements will become available.

10. Any anticipated fluctuations in fuel or EV charging and energy costs may adversely affect our business and profitability.

Our operations are heavily dependent on the availability and pricing of fuel, including diesel, petrol and Compressed Natural Gas (CNG). In recent periods, the cost of fuel has fluctuated significantly due to various factors beyond our control, such as changes in the global price of crude oil, international supply-demand dynamics, geopolitical situations including wars affecting the global supply chain, currency exchange fluctuations and domestic fiscal and regulatory policies. Our fuel procurement is carried out through a combination of fuel cards, approved fuel stations and controlled reimbursement processes, under a structured and technology-driven fuel management system. Further, fuel expense towards sourced vehicles through vendors are included in the car rental hiring charges. Despite these controls, fuel cost remains a material component of our operational expenses.

The table below sets out our expense incurred towards fuel and EV charging and energy cost for our own fleet for the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023 as a percentage of our total expense in the respective period/ financial year:

(₹ in million)

Particulars	For the Period / Financial Year ended
	December 31, 2025		March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024		March 31, 2023
	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*
Expense incurred towards fuel	44.56	6.62	60.67	8.18	69.14	9.28	69.39	15.60

EV Charging and Energy Costs	1.80	0.27	-	-	-	-	-	-
Total	46.36	6.89	60.67	8.18	69.14	9.28	69.39	15.60

*% of total expenses

While our contracts with customers typically allow us to pass on fuel price increases, there is no assurance that we will be able to fully or timely pass on such cost escalations. In circumstances where we are unable to transfer the increased cost of fuel or energy to our customers, whether due to contractual limitations, client resistance, or market competitiveness, our margins and profitability may be adversely affected.

Furthermore, any prolonged shortages or supply chain disruptions in the availability of diesel, petrol, or CNG could impact our ability to operate efficiently, which would in turn affect service quality, customer satisfaction, and ultimately our business, results of operations and financial condition.

11. Our success depends significantly on the continued involvement of our Promoters, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management Personnel. Any loss of such personnel or failure to attract and retain qualified professionals may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our business operations, growth strategy, and overall success are significantly dependent on the continued leadership, strategic vision, and industry relationships of our Promoters, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management Personnel. Any cessation of their involvement, whether due to resignation, retirement, incapacitation, or otherwise could adversely affect our ability to manage operations, execute strategic initiatives, and retain customers, potentially leading to a loss of stakeholder confidence. Moreover, any reputational issues involving our Promoters, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management Personnel could negatively impact our brand image and overall business prospects.

We are supported by a competent Board and a management team with expertise across fleet deployment, financial management and customer experience. However, the loss of any key managerial personnel or senior managerial personnel, or failure to attract and retain qualified professionals, could impair our ability to deliver client-specific solutions, maintain service quality, or respond effectively to market challenges. As the premium mobility, transport, and corporate travel services industry is highly competitive and resource-intensive, we may need to offer higher compensation or additional benefits to attract and retain talent, which could increase our operational costs. There is no assurance that we will be successful in doing so, and any failure may adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The high degree of dependence on a limited number of individuals managing multiple functions may restrict our ability to scale operations as the business continues to grow in size, geography and complexity. As we expand our service offerings and geographic reach across Tier-I, Tier-II and Tier-III cities, and increasingly cater to large corporates, embassies, and hospitality clients, a more robust and layered organisational framework may be required. Our ability to ensure operational consistency, service quality and responsiveness to customer expectations may be adversely impacted if we are unable to timely adapt our organisational design and management bandwidth in line with our growth.

Any disruption to the services of our Promoters or Key Managerial Personnel or Senior Management team or delays in institutionalising a scalable organisational model, could result in operational bottlenecks and affect our long-term business sustainability, financial performance and competitive positioning. While there have been no such material instances in the past, where loss of such personnel or failure to attract and retain them have had any impact on our earnings, financial condition, or results of operations.

For further details on our Promoters, KMPs and SMPs, kindly refer “Our Management” and “Our Promoters and Promoter Group” beginning on pages 346 and 367 respectively.

12. We are exposed to the risk of delays or non-payment by customers, which may also result in cash flow mismatches.

We are exposed to customer credit risk in the usual course of our business dealings with our customers who may delay or fail to make payments or perform their other contractual obligations. We typically grant a credit period of 30 days to our customers and also in some fixed agreements with few customers, it varies from 45 to 100 days. The table below sets out our trade receivable days, provision of doubtful debts and amount written off as per our Restated Consolidated Financial Information for the period ended December 31, 2025 and in the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

(₹ in million, unless otherwise indicated)

*Trade receivables days calculated as trade receivables during the period/financial year divided by revenue as per contracted price, net of returns multiply by number of days in a financial year i.e. 365.

The financial condition of our clients, business partners and other customers may be affected by the performance of their business which may be impacted by several factors including general economic conditions. We cannot assure you of the continued viability of our counterparties or that we will accurately assess their credit worthiness. We also cannot assure you that we will be able to collect the whole or any part of any overdue payments. Any material non- payment or non-performance by our customers or other counterparties could affect our financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. We have allowed expected credit loss of ₹ 9.79 million, ₹ 0.17 million, ₹ 0.33 million and ₹ 2.41 million for the period ended December 31, 2025 and for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, respectively.

To mitigate customer credit risks, our Company ensures that the transactions with our customers are typically supported by agreements, clearly defining payment terms, obligations, and remedies in case of default. These agreements serve as a legal safeguard and provide enforceability in case of disputes. In addition, the Company undertakes into continuous correspondence or periodic renewals with customers to monitor credit exposure, review performance, and update terms as required. This approach enables proactive identification of potential risks, enhances recoverability of dues, and strengthens the overall credit control framework.

13. Our Company has availed unsecured loans that may be recalled by the lenders at any time.

Our Company has availed unsecured loans from banks and related parties, which may be recalled by the respective lenders at any time. As of December 31, 2025, our total outstanding unsecured borrowings aggregated to ₹ 8.11 million, comprising unsecured loans from banks of ₹ 3.78 million and unsecured loans from related parties of ₹ 4.34 million. As of March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, our outstanding unsecured borrowings aggregated to ₹ 41.76 million, ₹ 39.44 million and ₹ 2.94 million, respectively, all of which were unsecured loans from related parties.

The unsecured loan from the bank outstanding as of December 31, 2025 pertains to our Subsidiary, Leap Green Infra Private Limited, and represents vehicle-specific term loans sanctioned for the acquisition of 50 motor vehicles. As of December 31, 2025, Leap Green Infra Private Limited had taken delivery of 45 vehicles, while the loan amount pertaining to the remaining five vehicles, for which delivery and transfer of possession had not been completed as of such date, aggregated to ₹ 3.78 million.

In the event that any lender demands immediate repayment of such unsecured loans, our Company may be required to arrange alternative sources of funding or utilize its existing cash resources to meet such repayment obligations. There can be no assurance that such alternative financing will be available on commercially acceptable terms, or at all. Any such demand for repayment may adversely affect our liquidity, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

For further details on the financing arrangements entered into by our Company, kindly refer “Financial Indebtedness” beginning on page 461.

14. Manufacturer-initiated vehicle recalls could disrupt our operations, adversely affect fleet availability, and have an adverse impact on our operations, reputation, customer relationships and financial condition.

We operate a fleet of vehicles comprising economy, premium and luxury categories, including vans and buses, sourced through both owned assets and third-party vendors. These vehicles are procured from various original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) and may be subject to safety or technical recalls initiated by the manufacturers. In the event of a manufacturer-issued recall, we may be required to suspend the use of affected vehicles in our Corporate Car Rental (CCR) and Retail Car Rental (RCR) operations until the necessary inspections, rectifications, or part replacements are completed.

If a substantial number of vehicles in our fleet are recalled, particularly models that form a significant proportion of our operational capacity, it may impact our ability to fulfil our service obligations under existing contracts. Delays in obtaining replacement, or lack of availability of alternative vehicles, may result in disruption to our operations, potential loss of customers and a negative impact on our reputation in the market. These risks are amplified in scenarios involving high-demand periods or large-scale bookings, such as for corporate events or high-profile assignments.

Furthermore, manufacturer recalls may also reduce the residual value of the affected vehicles, increase fleet maintenance and servicing costs, and expose us to potential liability claims or penalties for non-performance under contractual obligations. Although there were no reported instances of manufacturer recalls affecting our fleet during the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, however future occurrence of any such instances could impact our earnings, financial condition and results of operation. We have not experienced any instances of vehicle recalls in past 3 years. Any such disruptions may have an adverse effect on our business operations, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. However, to reduce the adverse effect, our Company purchases vehicles from OEM who are established and do not have any history of field recalls. Further, to improve maintenance and upkeep of vehicles, our Company gets its vehicles services from the authorised service centres of OEMs so that the vehicles in the fleet functions at its best operational efficiency.

15. Our Company has experienced multiple instances of minor delays in the payment or filing of statutory dues, including under the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, the Employees' Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 and the Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, may expose us to regulatory actions, interest, penalties and other liabilities, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

Our Company is required to comply with various labour, tax and other statutory laws, including the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, the Employees' Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 and the Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, and is required to deposit statutory dues and file periodic statutory returns within the prescribed timelines. Any failure to comply with such statutory requirements may result in the levy of interest, penalties, fines or other regulatory actions by the concerned authorities. Such non-compliances may also adversely affect our reputation, increase our compliance costs, divert the attention of our management towards regulatory proceedings and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

There have been certain instances of delays in the payment of statutory dues and filing of statutory returns under the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, the Employees' Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 and the Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 during the relevant period. Consequently, our Company has paid the applicable interest and/or late fees, wherever applicable. The details of such delays are set forth below:

Except as mentioned below, there has been no delay in the payment of statutory dues/liabilities under the aforesaid Acts during the period ended May 31, 2026 and the financial years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

No proceedings have been initiated and no material penalties have been imposed on our Company in relation to the aforesaid delays. However, there can be no assurance that similar instances will not occur in the future or that the relevant authorities will not initiate proceedings or impose interest, penalties or other actions against our Company. Any such proceedings or actions may adversely affect our reputation, increase our compliance costs and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

Our Company has taken steps to strengthen its statutory compliance framework, including periodic monitoring of statutory compliances by the Company Secretary and the relevant functional teams to facilitate timely payment of statutory dues and filing of statutory returns. However, we cannot assure you that there will be no instances of delay or non-compliance in the future.

16. One of our debtors, owes us a significant amount of ₹ 8.85 million plus interest towards unpaid dues. The debtor is currently admitted for Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (“CIRP”) under the provisions of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016.

The debtor namely Fairstreet Sports Private Limited had engaged with our Company in July 2023 for the hiring of high-end vehicles, luxury cars and buses for organizing a Moto GP event namely “MOTO GP BHARAT” in September 2023. Our Company had raised invoices aggregating to ₹ 13.95 million. Though amounts aggregating to ₹ 5.10 million has been paid by the debtor but amount of ₹ 8.85 million plus interest at the rate of 24% per annum is due and payable. The Company had filed a petition under Section 9 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 with the National Company Law Tribunal, Allahabad Bench (hereinafter referred to as NCLT), however, NCLT directed the Company to file its claim before the Interim Resolution Professional (hereinafter referred to as “IRP”) who has been appointed as Fairstreet Sports Private Limited, (hereinafter referred to as the “Corporate Debtor”) has been admitted for CIRP by the NCLT Allahabad Bench. The company had since filed its claim with the IRP on June 12, 2025. The CIRP of the Corporate Debtor is in progress. Though the claim of the Company has just not been admitted but also the admission of claim of the operational creditor does not guarantee full recovery of the outstanding amount. The resolution plan, if approved by the Committee of Creditors (CoC), may entail a significant haircut on the debt, a reduction in the interest rate, or an extended repayment schedule. Hence, in view of the aforesaid there is no guarantee that our company will be able to recover a material portion of the claim amount. The final outcome of the CIRP may have a material adverse effect on our cash flows and results of operations. The case is still pending and next date of hearing is July 13, 2026.

However, we have made the following provisions and has experienced the following bad debt in the past:

Particulars	For the Period / Financial Year ended
	December 31, 2025	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Balance at the beginning of the financial year	1.88	2.23	3.05	0.64
Provision in statement of profit and loss	9.79	0.17	0.33	2.41
Utilised during the financial year	(11.50)	(0.52)	(1.15)	-
Balance at the end of the financial year	0.17	1.88	2.23	3.05

There can be no assurance that such provisions/bad debts may not arise in the future. The financial conditions will be adversely affected to the extent which may have a material adverse impact on our financial condition and cash flows.

17. Our Company has incurred bad debts in the past and any inability to recover outstanding receivables from our customers may adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

Our business is exposed to the risk of customer defaults and delays in recovery of trade receivables. During the period ended December 31, 2025 and during Fiscal 2024-25 and Fiscal 2023-24, we recognised bad debts aggregating to ₹11.5 million, ₹0.52 million and ₹1.15 million, respectively. We did not recognise any bad debts during Fiscal 2022-23. The occurrence of such bad debts indicates that certain customers fail to honour their payment obligations in a timely manner or at all.

Our ability to recover outstanding receivables depends on various factors, including the financial condition of our customers, prevailing economic conditions, industry-specific challenges, and the effectiveness of our credit evaluation. Any significant increase in customer defaults, deterioration in the creditworthiness of our customers, or inability to recover outstanding dues may require us to make additional provisions for doubtful debts or write off receivables, which could adversely affect our profitability, liquidity and cash flows.

Further, if a substantial portion of our trade receivables becomes overdue or irrecoverable, we may experience working capital constraints and may be required to arrange additional financing to support our operations. There can be no assurance that our existing credit control and recovery mechanisms will be sufficient to prevent future bad debts. Any material increase in bad debts or impairment of trade receivables could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

18. Our asset-heavy fleet ownership model requires significant capital expenditure for vehicle procurement. Any increase in vehicle acquisition costs, maintenance, fuel prices, or constraints on financing availability may adversely impact our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Our Company operates on an asset-heavy model, as of December 31, 2025, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we owned 297, 292, 254 and 159 vehicles, respectively. These vehicles include economy, premium, luxury and coaches. As our business is significantly reliant on the efficient functioning and upkeep of this fleet, any increase in procurement or operating costs of these vehicles can adversely affect our financial results.

The table below sets out the amount incurred by us towards procurement of new vehicles for the respective period/financial years:

Particulars	For the Period / Financial Year ended

[#]Amount incurred on procurement of new vehicles (Capital Expenditure).

Unless we are able to continuously expand and upgrade our fleet by acquiring vehicles on commercially favourable terms, the aging of our fleet may lead to increased maintenance costs and compromise customer experience, particularly in the premium and corporate segments, where expectations are higher. This could diminish our competitive advantage and impact our ability to retain or acquire clientele that prefer newer, well maintained vehicles.

Further, any increase in vehicle prices due to inflation, regulatory changes, increase in raw material or manufacturing costs, currency depreciation, or increased import duties could raise our capital expenditure and affect our profitability. Additionally, vehicle ownership entails regular maintenance and insurance costs, both of which are expected to rise over time. As our fleet size increases to meet demand, our exposure to these recurring costs will also grow, thereby exerting additional pressure on our margins. If we are unable to procure and operate vehicles efficiently or on commercially viable terms, or if we are unable to increase the hiring charges in future then it may materially and adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

While continuously expanding and upgrading our fleet by acquiring vehicles provides greater control over fleet quality, customer experience, and compliance, it also exposes us to high upfront investment, vehicle depreciation, and reduced flexibility during demand fluctuations. Expansion into new geographies or segments necessitates continual investment in fleet acquisition to meet contractual commitments and service standards. Fleet procurement forms a major component of our capital expenditure, and vehicle prices are subject to volatility arising from regulatory changes, OEM pricing policies, import duties, GST, and commodity costs. Sustained increases in acquisition costs or adverse financing conditions, such as higher interest rates or reduced credit availability, may constrain our ability to expand or replace the fleet, affecting asset turnover and payback periods. In addition, our operating costs including fuel, maintenance, and chauffeur salaries are subject to fluctuations, and any significant increase without corresponding price adjustments may adversely impact profitability, particularly under fixed-price contracts. Ineffective cost controls or delays in financial reporting could also impact operational planning and performance.

The table below sets out the cost incurred by us towards our services (operating expenses) as a percentage of our total expenses for the period ended December 31, 2025 and for the financial years ended on March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

While we maintain OEM and financial institution relationships, adopt disciplined cost controls, and leverage internal systems for fleet optimization and cost monitoring, our capital-intensive model inherently exposes us to risks arising from fluctuations in vehicle acquisition, financing, and operating costs, which may materially affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations. We mitigate these risks through disciplined financial management, including OEM-authorized maintenance, data driven route optimization, pricing flexibility across client segments and robust financial systems for timely revenue recognition and cost analysis.

19. Intense competition in the chauffeur-driven mobility industry may result in pricing pressures, customer attrition and increased operating costs, any of which may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We operate in a highly competitive and fragmented chauffeur-driven mobility market, with participants ranging from large multinational players to small local operators. Barriers to entry in the industry are relatively low and customers typically face minimal switching costs. We face competition not only from companies offering similar services, but also from alternative modes of transport and aggregators, which may have greater financial resources, brand recognition or technological infrastructure.

Pricing remains a key competitive factor in the industry. Although we follow a flexible pricing model that accounts for client type, service category and volume commitment, we may be required to revise our pricing or extend discounts to retain or grow market share in the face of aggressive pricing by competitors. Such competitive pricing pressure may adversely impact our margins and overall revenue as per contracted price, net of returns.

Our customers, particularly in the corporate segment, have a tendency to evaluate service providers on the basis of pricing, availability, consistency and value-added features. Similarly, chauffeurs and vendors may shift their allegiance to competitors offering higher payouts or more consistent trip allocations, thereby affecting the stability and reliability of our supply chain. The cost to switch from one provider to another remains low across customer and chauffeur segments. The table below sets out our revenue as per contracted price, net of returns from our business segments for the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023.

We anticipate that competitive intensity may increase further as existing players scale operations and new entrants deploy digital platforms, advanced logistics systems, or capital-backed expansion strategies. While such instances have not materially occurred in the past, however future occurrence of any such instances could impact our earnings, financial condition and results of operation. In order to mitigate the aforementioned risks, we may need to incur additional marketing and customer acquisition expenses, invest in digital infrastructure, or increase vendor and chauffeur payouts. For instance, we currently maintain a digital marketing presence across multiple platforms, including LinkedIn, Instagram, and Facebook, and engage an external agency to support brand campaigns and customer engagement efforts.

Our inability to respond effectively to these competitive pressures, through differentiated service delivery, pricing flexibility, or customer retention strategies, could result in loss of business, reduced profitability and a material adverse impact on our results of operations and financial condition.

Although we offer fixed pricing across majority of our fleet, but offering variable pricing forms a basis of our business, fostering strong, lasting relationships with our clients and ensuring high customer retention. This adaptability allows customers to manage their budgets more effectively by choosing pricing structures that best suit their needs, while still relying on consistent quality of service. As a result, trust and loyalty are strengthened, and clients are more inclined to remain with our Company in the long term, appreciating the balance of transparency, choice, and reliability.

20. Our brand image is integral to our business, and any failure to maintain, promote or protect it may adversely affect our reputation, business prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

Our Company is of the view, that it's brand image represents a key intangible asset and has been instrumental in establishing our presence in the premium chauffeur-driven mobility space. Over the last 33 years, we have built a strong brand on the foundation of consistent service delivery, operational excellence, trained chauffeur workforce, a well-maintained fleet, and adherence to hygiene and safety standards. We have actively invested in enhancing our brand recall through digital marketing initiatives, vehicle branding, industry partnerships, and presence at key touchpoints including airports and corporate travel desks through third party vendors.

Our brand reputation is closely tied to customer experience and perception of service quality. A portion of our business depends on service delivery through third-party vendors and contracted chauffeurs, any service lapses, including those related to vehicle quality, chauffeur conduct, or response times, may lead to dissatisfaction, negative reviews, or reputational damage.

While we maintain internal mechanisms such as feedback systems, training modules and quality audits, we may not be able to prevent or control all incidents that could negatively impact customer experience.

Further, adverse events such as vehicular accidents, customer complaints, social media criticism, or negative media coverage, even if unrelated to our operations, may be attributed to us and result in brand dilution. Given the nature of our business, reputational risks are difficult to quantify and may persist beyond the resolution of the underlying issue. Additionally, any lapses in our digital presence, including content inaccuracies or poorly managed marketing campaigns, may adversely affect our brand perception.

We cannot assure you that such incidents may not occur in the future. While such incidents have occurred in the past, there have been no material adverse impact on our business operations or financial condition. While our Company obtains motor vehicle insurance and third-party insurance, there can be no assurance that any claim under the insurance policies maintained by us will be honoured fully, in part or on time.

To enhance our services, we maintain high operational standards supported by strict chauffeur compliance protocols. All chauffeurs undergo comprehensive training covering safety, etiquette, and client service expectations. Our fleet is maintained through OEM authorized workshops and inspected prior to each deployment to ensure consistent and error free rides. We have deployed a chauffeur mobile application for real-time tracking, route monitoring, and trip validation. Incidents are addressed promptly through a centralized resolution system. Additionally, quality control audits, feedback loops, and preventive maintenance protocols are in place to ensure service excellence, thereby safeguarding brand equity and customer satisfaction across all service touchpoints.

21. Misconduct or negligence by our employees or chauffeurs may be difficult to detect and, if it occurs, could adversely affect our brand, reputation, business prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

We rely on our employees and chauffeurs, including those engaged through third-party vendors, to carry out our day-to-day operations. As of December 31, 2025 and Financial Years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we had 296 ,236, 205 and 195 chauffeurs, respectively. Given the direct interface between chauffeurs and our customers, any misconduct, negligence or non-compliance on the part of our employees or contracted chauffeurs may adversely impact customer satisfaction and our reputation.

Our third-party service providers include driver-owners, vendors operating multiple vehicles with chauffeurs, and on-call vendors engaged to meet short-term demand. In order to manage these third-party relationships, we undertake various measures, including:

- Entry-level screening for driver-owners and contracted vendors, which typically includes personal interviews, background verification, police verification, vehicle compliance checks, and document verification (including police clearance certificates, vehicle registration certificates, insurance and road tax). For on-call vendors, we rely on the screening carried out by the vendors themselves.
- Regular engagement with chauffeurs through monthly reward and recognition programmes and ensuring timely payment to encourage alignment with our service standards.
- Training and skill development programmes conducted by our operations & training teams along with third-party agencies appointed by our Company at the Company's branch and client sites, supported by a dedicated learning and development team. These covers both behavioural and operational requirements mandated by our customers.

While these safeguards are in place, we may not be able to detect or prevent all instances of misconduct or negligence. Our Company can not guarantee 100% background verification for all employees and chauffeurs. Any lapse, such as inappropriate conduct, failure to follow safety protocols, or involvement in criminal activities, may result in negative publicity, damage to our reputation, customer attrition, or legal and regulatory exposure. Even where such claims do not result in liability, the cost of investigation and defence may be significant.

We also require chauffeurs, whether directly engaged or deputed by vendors, to undergo police verification and background checks and ensure that vehicles are equipped with GPS tracking and panic buttons. However, these measures may not always be sufficient to deter or prevent misconduct. Although there have been no material litigations or claims in relation to chauffeur misconduct during the period ended December 31, 2025 and during the financial year ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we cannot assure that such incidents will not arise in the future.

To mitigate risks arising from misconduct or negligence by chauffeurs, we follow a structured onboarding process, including police verification, background checks, license validation, and medical fitness assessments. Most chauffeurs are directly employed, ensuring greater control over service quality. Vehicles are equipped with GPS and panic buttons for real-time monitoring. Our chauffeur mobile application supports trip tracking and incident reporting. Regular training sessions and recognition programs reinforce compliance and service standards. A dedicated vigilance team monitors daily operations. These measures collectively help safeguard our reputation, ensure passenger safety, and maintain quality services across all touchpoints.

22. Our inability to obtain or renew required licenses, approvals and registrations in a timely manner, or at all, may adversely affect our operations, revenue and regulatory compliance.

We are required to obtain and maintain a number of approvals, licenses, registrations, and permissions under various laws and regulations from governmental and regulatory authorities in order to operate our business across jurisdictions in India. These include approvals related to commercial vehicle operations, driver compliance, vehicle emissions, insurance, and labour law regulations. Many of these approvals are subject to ongoing compliance conditions and periodic renewal.

Except as disclosed below, there are no material approvals which our Company has applied for but not received, as on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus:

1. Application for registration with Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS) has been filed by our Company for securing security clearances, accessing aviation security training programs, and obtaining Airport Entry Passes (AEP) to operate within restricted airport zones.

For further details, kindly refer “Government and Other Statutory Approvals” beginning on page 521.

While there have been no such instances in the past, where the Company has not applied for the relevant applicable licenses and approvals under the applicable law or has applied for such licenses and approvals with a delay which have impacted our earnings, financial condition and results of operation. Failure to obtain, maintain or renew these approvals, or any breach of conditions associated with such licenses, may result in suspension, penalties, or cancellation of approvals, which could cause disruption in our operations or the inability to continue operating in certain regions. Such non-compliance may also adversely impact our ability to service key customer accounts, affect revenue from specific locations and result in reputational damage or regulatory scrutiny.

In addition to internal compliance, we also rely on third-party vendors for a significant portion of our fleet operations. We maintain oversight over vendor compliance by (i) verifying relevant documentation, including driving licenses, registration certificates, comprehensive insurance, fitness and pollution control certificates and police clearance records; (ii) using the M Parivahan mobile application for cross-verification; and (iii) conducting background checks and personal interviews of vendor chauffeurs and vehicles. However, despite these vetting measures, we cannot assure you that these checks are fully exhaustive or that our vendors will consistently maintain compliance with all applicable laws and licensing requirements.

Any failure by our vendors to maintain requisite approvals or provide valid documentation may impact our ability to legally operate those vehicles, affect customer experience and raise liability concerns. Further, any regulatory changes, or delays in obtaining necessary clearances or renewals, either directly or through vendor partners, could materially and adversely affect our business operations, revenue from operations, cash flows and financial condition.

23. Our sustainability goals and EV integration plans are subject to infrastructure readiness, regulatory shifts and third-party dependencies.

Our transition toward an electric and Euro VI-compliant fleet is dependent on timely vehicle availability, charging infrastructure, vendor tie-ups and regulatory approvals. Delays in execution or capital outlay may affect our cost structure, customer perception and ability to meet sustainability targets. Inadequate EV adoption may also affect service delivery in cities with emission restrictions. Our Company has recently inducted following 21 EVs into our fleet and the EV segments are divided into two types:

Sr. No.	Type of EV	Number of EV Vehicles
1.	Electric Luxury SUV	15
2.	Electric Multi-Purpose Vehicles	6
	Total	21

Our infrastructure strategy includes in-house EV charging stations and tie-ups with third-party developers in major metros. We are also in active dialogue with OEMs and financiers for phased transition to Euro VI vehicles. A dedicated fleet management team with telematics tools is being put in place to ensure data-driven EV optimization. Further, our EV-related operations, including fleet deployment, charging infrastructure management and associated sustainability initiatives, are being undertaken through our subsidiary, Leap Green Infra Private Limited, which has been established to exclusively focus on EV mobility solutions.

24. Our marketing and advertising initiatives may not be effective in enhancing brand recognition, acquiring new customers, or retaining existing ones, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our growth and market positioning are dependent on the effectiveness of our marketing, advertising and promotional campaigns to increase brand awareness, attract new customers and retain existing ones. We have adopted a multi-pronged strategy that includes digital outreach via platforms such as LinkedIn, Instagram, Facebook and targeted emails. These efforts are aimed at enhancing brand identity and driving customer engagement through curated content, client success stories and campaign highlights. We also participate in industry forums and events to improve visibility and network with potential clients.

Further, our sales and marketing function is supported by relationship-driven client engagement and account-based marketing. However, the effectiveness of these initiatives is subject to several factors including accurate targeting, messaging, market dynamics and customer behaviour. For the period ending December 31, 2025, and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, our Company incurred ₹ 4.42 million, ₹ 1.37 million, ₹ 0.73 million and ₹ 0.97 million, respectively, towards advertisement & business promotion expenses, representing 0.66%, 0.19%, 0.10% and 0.22% of total expenses for the respective period/ financial years.

Despite these investments, we cannot assure that our campaigns will successfully attract new customers or retain existing ones. If we adopt ineffective advertising strategies or fail to differentiate our services in a competitive marketplace, we may experience reduced customer conversion, decreased loyalty and lower brand recall. Furthermore, if our competitors increase their advertising spend or introduce more compelling campaigns, we may be compelled to match such expenditure, further impacting our margins. Failure to realize a return on investment from our advertising and promotional initiatives may adversely affect our financial results, especially if increased marketing spend does not translate into proportional growth in customer base or revenue.

While there have been no such instances in the past, where Company's ineffective marketing and advertising initiatives have impacted Company's earnings, financial condition and results of operation. To mitigate the risk of ineffective marketing, our Company has implemented a focused and data-driven outreach strategy supported by a dedicated public relations agency. We leverage digital platforms such as LinkedIn, Instagram and Facebook, complemented by participation in industry forums to enhance brand recall and client engagement. Our account-based marketing approach is reinforced by a growing sales team with geographic focus. Further, we monitor campaign performance and customer feedback to optimise messaging and resource allocation. These measures collectively support sustained customer acquisition and retention, while ensuring cost-effective brand positioning across core and emerging target markets.

25. The Company depends on third party vendors for transportation and any delays, disruptions, capacity constraints, service interruptions or cost fluctuations in such third-party services may adversely affect our operations.

We rely on third-party transportation engaged by our vendors for the supply and delivery the service in the course of our operations. Our dependence on such third-party service providers exposes us to risks arising from delays, interruptions, or inefficiencies in transportation, including factors such as limited fleet availability, labour shortages, vehicle breakdowns, scheduling issues, adverse weather conditions, regulatory restrictions, fuel price fluctuations, and other logistical challenges. Any disruption in the transportation services used by our vendors may result in delays in the supply of materials, increased procurement costs, or interruptions in our production and operational timelines.

Since we do not have direct control over the transportation infrastructure, quality, or performance of such third-party logistics providers, any failure on their part to provide reliable and timely services could adversely affect our supply chain efficiency. This may impair our ability to meet customer demand, maintain inventory levels, or execute orders on schedule, which could in turn have a material adverse effect on our business operations, financial condition, and results of operations.

The table below shows the revenue contribution through vehicles operated through vendors, for the period ended December 31, 2025 and for the Financial Years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

(₹ in million)

Particulars	For the Period/ Financial Year ended
	December 31, 2025		March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024		March 31, 2023
	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*
Vehicles operated through vendors	190.06	21.14	259.82	27.25	395.05	29.64	178.68	31.42

*% Revenue as per contracted price, net of returns

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

We work closely with our vendors to monitor their logistics and transportation arrangements and encourage them to engage reliable and established transportation partners. To mitigate potential disruptions, we maintain regular communication with key vendors, plan procurement schedules in advance, and seek to maintain adequate buffer inventories wherever operationally feasible. We also seek to diversify our vendor base to reduce dependence on any single supplier. However, as the transportation services are managed by third-party providers engaged by our vendors, our ability to fully mitigate such risks is inherently limited, and delays or disruptions may still occur.

26. Our Company has not been able to obtain confirmations and consents from certain individual members of the Promoter Group and, as a result, certain disclosures relating to such persons in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus are based on information available with our Company and may be subject to limitations.

Pursuant to the requirements of SEBI ICDR Regulations, 2018, our Company has sought confirmations, declarations and consents from all identified members of the Promoter Group for the purpose of making disclosures in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. However, despite its best efforts, our Company has not been able to obtain the requisite confirmations and consents from certain members of the Promoter Group due to their non-cooperation. Consequently, certain disclosures relating to such persons have been prepared on the basis of information available with our Company, public records and other sources considered reliable by our Company.

As a result, our Company may be unable to include certain disclosures relating to such persons, including information required under applicable laws and regulations, in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus and other Offer-related documents. The absence of such information may result in limitations in the disclosures made by our Company and could lead to regulatory observations and requirements for additional disclosures. However, our Company has undertaken reasonable efforts to conduct due diligence on such persons and has obtained due diligence reports from Indus IntelliRisk and IntelliSense Services.

While our Company has undertaken reasonable efforts to obtain the requisite confirmations and consents from all identified members of the Promoter Group, the inability to obtain such confirmations and consents may adversely affect the completeness of the disclosures contained in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus and other Offer-related documents.

27. Our flexible and dynamic pricing model, while designed for customer acquisition and retention, may result in margin volatility and impact our financial performance.

We adopt a flexible pricing strategy tailored to different customer categories, geographic markets and engagement models. Our ability to customise rates enables us to competitively position ourselves across diverse customer segments such as Indian and foreign corporates, embassies, hospitality partners, travel agents and individual clients. Third party travel agent and hospitality partners are generally offered rates below standard corporate tariffs, and domestic direct clients are engaged through negotiable or opportunity-based pricing.

While this pricing flexibility helps support client retention, relationship building and the acquisition of high-profile customers, it introduces volatility to our operating margins and may lead to inconsistency in revenue realisation. In strategic cases, such as servicing marquee clients like IPL teams, Asian Football Confederation and American Embassy, etc. We worked with the clients as per the mutual understanding to preserve long-term business relationships and brand visibility. Though such decisions can adversely impact our short-term profitability, nevertheless in the medium to long term our Company reaps benefits which helps us to achieve sustained growth and strong goodwill.

Additionally, our pricing structure is dependent on maintaining favourable cost arrangements with fleet vendors, third party travel agents and hospitality aggregators. Any changes in vendor pricing, or our inability to renegotiate such costs in line with our pricing commitments to clients, may adversely affect our gross margins. An inability to effectively balance pricing competitiveness with profitability across segments may limit our earnings potential, impact cost recovery and adversely affect our operating margins, financial condition, and results of operations. While such instances have not materially occurred in the past, however future occurrence of any such instances could impact our earnings, financial condition and results of operation.

28. We have entered into related party transactions in the past and may continue to do so in the future, which may involve potential conflict of interest and could affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We have, in the ordinary course of business, entered into transactions with our related parties in the past and may continue to do so in the future. Such transactions have included, and may include, sale and purchase of services, loans, reimbursements, lease arrangements, or other operational or financial transactions with our Promoters, Promoter Group, Group Company, Key Managerial Personnel and their relatives or entities under common control.

For further details, kindly “Restated Consolidated Financial Information – Annexure 43 - Related Party Transactions” on page 429 and chapter titled “Summary of Related Party Transaction” on page 90.

Although we have established procedures to monitor related party transactions, including the requirement of prior approval of the Audit Committee and/or the Board of Directors, there can be no assurance that such transactions will not give rise to actual or perceived conflicts of interest. Future related party transactions could, particularly if not implemented on terms favourable to us, have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Additionally, any perception of conflict of interest or inadequate corporate governance in connection with related party dealings may affect investor confidence and our reputation in the market.

29. Certain information contained in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is derived from an Industry report issued by ICRA dated June 2026, (“ICRA Report”). There can be no assurance that such third-party statistical, financial and other industry information is complete, reliable or accurate.

30. Event of widespread and/or prolonged mechanical failures or breakdowns of our vehicle fleet may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business operations are highly dependent on the proper functioning and maintenance of our vehicle fleet. Any failure, malfunction, or breakdown of vehicles may lead to service interruptions, delays in fulfilling customer bookings, or cancellations, which could adversely affect our reputation, customer satisfaction, and financial performance. Such failures may arise due to factors including mechanical issues, wear and tear, accidents, inadequate maintenance, or delays in the availability of spare parts. Additionally, frequent vehicle downtime could increase maintenance costs and reduce overall fleet efficiency.

Our Company owned 297, 292, 254 and 159 vehicles as of December 31, 2025, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, respectively, and incurred costs of ₹ 23.80 million, ₹ 37.77 million, ₹ 48.08 million and ₹ 31.62 million towards car repair and maintenance, constituting 3.53%, 5.09%, 6.45% and 7.11% of our total expenses, respectively.

Our services are largely dependent on the availability of vehicles in a well-maintained and operational condition. The Company has, over the years, expanded its vehicle portfolio, with a significant focus on the luxury segment. Accordingly, we incur substantial expenditure to ensure proper maintenance and smooth functioning of our fleet to meet customer expectations and maintain service quality.

Further, in the event of widespread and/or prolonged mechanical failures or breakdowns, our ability to meet customer demand may be significantly impacted, potentially resulting in loss of clients and revenue. Repeated occurrences could also lead to increased insurance premiums, regulatory scrutiny, and reputational damage.

While vehicle breakdowns are inherent to our business, the Company has not experienced any prolonged or widespread incidents of vehicle failure that have materially impacted its operations, cash flows, or financial condition. However, no assurance can be given that such events will not occur in the future.

To mitigate this risk, the Company follows a structured preventive maintenance program for all vehicles, carried out in accordance with manufacturer guidelines and industry best practices.

31. Our business operations are dependent on achieving adequate service volumes and optimal fleet utilization to maintain profitability and avoid losses.

Since we operate on an asset-heavy model, wherein a significant portion of our fleet is owned and maintained directly by us, our cost structure includes substantial fixed costs related to vehicle procurement, maintenance, chauffeur salaries, infrastructure and support services, which do not vary significantly with changes in service volumes. Consequently, our profitability is highly dependent on our ability to generate adequate volumes of bookings and achieve high vehicle utilization across geographies. Any decline in demand from key corporate clients, lower-than-expected volumes from event-based assignments, or seasonal variations in retail bookings could lead to underutilization of our fleet and adversely impact our operating margins.

Moreover, while higher booking volumes can enhance cost efficiency by spreading fixed costs, such volumes often attract customer-negotiated discounts, which may partially offset these benefits. In addition, we undertake customised fleet deployments and event-specific logistics arrangements, which require upfront investment in vehicles, chauffeur training and operational resources. These investments may not always be fully recoverable, particularly in one-off or non-repeat assignments. Failure to recover such costs, achieve target volumes, or align service pricing with operating expenses could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We mitigate volume-related risks through a diversified business model comprising Corporate Car Rentals (CCR), and Retail Car Rentals (RCR), which allows us to target both recurring and ad-hoc customer segments. We leverage long-standing relationships with a broad base of clients, including Companies and HNIs, which has contributed to customer stickiness and repeat bookings. Our robust operational framework, including proactive fleet scheduling, real-time vehicle tracking and strict maintenance protocols, supports high vehicle uptime and efficient resource allocation. Our ability to execute complex, large-scale assignments such as the G20 Presidency and other government or marquee events has also resulted in repeat mandates and long-term contracts, contributing to revenue visibility and reduced idle fleet risk.

32. Our success depends on our ability to retain and attract qualified senior management and other employees, and if we are not able to retain them or recruit additional qualified personnel, we may be unable to successfully develop our business.

Our performance depends largely on the efforts and abilities of our Promoters, Senior Management and other employees, kindly refer “Our Management” and “Our Business – Human Resources” beginning on pages 346 and 320, respectively. Our success is significantly dependent on the experience, expertise, and continued involvement of our Promoters, senior management personnel and other employees, who play a critical role in driving our business strategy, operations and growth. The loss of the services of any of these individuals may adversely affect our strategic direction and delay or prevent the achievement of our business objectives.

In addition to our management team, our business is highly dependent on our trained and experienced chauffeurs, who play a key role in running our operations. Competition for skilled chauffeurs in the car rental industry is intense and our ability to attract and retain such personnel is critical to our continued success.

As we continue to expand our operations, we will require additional experienced management, sales and technical personnel. Any inability to attract, retain, and motivate qualified employees may materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

Company has incurred following amount in past as Employee benefit expenses for the period/ financial years ended indicated:

% of revenue as per contracted price net of returns	11.90	11.13	7.78	13.66
% of total expenses	15.88	14.30	13.92	17.46

If we lose the services of any of member of our management team or other employees, we may be unable to locate suitable or qualified replacements and may incur additional expenses to recruit and train new personnel. The loss of the services of such persons may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

The table below presents the attrition rate of our employees for the period ended May 31, 2026 and for the financial years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023:

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

Our Company anticipates an employee attrition rate at an average of 13%, which is managed through workforce planning measures such as maintaining limited resource buffers, cross-training employees for critical roles, and implementing standardised documentation and structured handover processes to reduce dependence on specific individuals. Further, our Company's human resources are not concealing with the statutory returns filed for EPFO and ESIC. To mitigate this risk, the Company is undertaking a comprehensive reconciliation of employee records with statutory filings, strengthening internal controls over payroll and implementing standardized processes to ensure timely and accurate submission of statutory returns going forward.

33. Our Company is not in compliance with certain requirements under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 and any regulatory action or non-compliance thereunder could adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company collects, stores and processes personal data in the ordinary course of its business. The Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 ("DPDP Act") and the rules framed thereunder prescribe various obligations on entities processing personal data, including establishing mechanisms for handling complaints and grievances of Data Principals, implementing consent management processes, maintaining data protection compliance policies, and establishing procedures for responding to personal data breaches.

As of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, our Company has not implemented certain policies, procedures and mechanisms required for compliance with the DPDP Act, including mechanisms for handling complaints from Data Principals, formal consent management processes, comprehensive data protection compliance policies and documented personal data breach response procedures. Accordingly, our Company is not in compliance with certain requirements of the DPDP Act.

Any failure to comply with the DPDP Act and other applicable data protection requirements could result in regulatory scrutiny, investigations, penalties, directions from regulatory authorities, customer complaints, reputational harm, loss of business opportunities and additional compliance costs. Further, any personal data breach or failure to adequately protect personal data could adversely affect the confidence of our customers and other stakeholders in our Company and have an adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

34. We have certain contingent liabilities which have been disclosed in our Restated Consolidated Financial Information, which if they materialise, may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The following is a summary table of our contingent liabilities as at December 31, 2025, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023:

There is no assurance that we will not have similar or larger contingent liabilities in the current Fiscal, or in the future and if a significant portion of these liabilities materialise, it could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Further, certain contingent liabilities may arise and be recognised in the future, such as in the event of any adverse outcomes of our existing legal proceedings, penalties including for amounts beyond the provisions currently made by us, or any adverse effect on our business pursuant to disputes and regulatory actions, for which we may need to make further provisions for future payments, which may increase contingent liabilities.

For further information on contingent liabilities as of December 31, 2025, kindly refer “Restated Consolidated Financial Information – Annexure 46 – Contingencies and Commitments” on page 433.

35. There are outstanding legal proceedings involving our Company. Any adverse decision in such proceedings may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We are involved in certain legal proceedings which are pending at different levels of adjudication before various courts, tribunals, enquiry officers and appellate authorities.

We cannot provide assurance that these legal proceedings will be decided in our favour. Any adverse decisions in any of the proceedings may have a significant adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. 36. We rely on automated systems and store customer data, which exposes us to risks of operational disruptions and cybersecurity threats. A failure in our IT systems or a data breach could materially harm our business, reputation and financial condition.

Our operations are heavily dependent on technology platforms developed and managed by an outsourced IT team. These platforms include our internal backend systems, chauffeur mobile application and online booking interfaces through Company's website which are integral to the delivery of our car rental services. Increased digitalisation of our operational processes and electronic storage of customer data increases the risk of IT system failures or cyber incidents.

We collect and process personal data such as customer names, contact information, government-issued identification numbers, travel preferences and GPS-based location data. This data is encrypted and access-controlled, and its usage is governed by our internal privacy and data protection policies, which follow applicable Indian laws and best practices. Despite our current safeguards, we cannot guarantee that our systems or those of our third-party vendors will be immune to evolving cyber threats.

Cybersecurity breaches, including unauthorized access, malware, phishing, ransomware, or social engineering attacks, could result in significant data loss, compromise of customer privacy, reputational damage and potential regulatory penalties. Although we have not experienced any material cybersecurity incidents to date, the sophistication and frequency of attacks continue to rise and our current defences may prove inadequate in the future.

We are also subject to the Information Technology Act, 2000 and the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 ("DPDP Act"). The DPDP Act imposes obligations regarding the lawful processing of digital personal data, consent management, data localization, and grievance redressal. Non-compliance with these laws could lead to substantial penalties and damage to our brand.

Any future security breach, operational disruption of our automated systems, or failure to comply with data privacy regulations may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company has implemented a secure, technology-enabled operational framework managed by an outsourced IT team to safeguard against cybersecurity threats and system disruptions. We follow industry-standard encryption, access control and data governance practices in compliance with applicable Indian laws, including the DPDP Act. Our backend systems and chauffeur mobile application are regularly monitored and updated to address potential vulnerabilities. Additionally, we are developing a customer-facing application to enhance digital engagement and competitiveness. These measures, along with periodic audits and structured IT protocols, are designed to ensure data protection, operational continuity, and resilience against evolving digital threats.

Our Company has implemented an IT governance framework for our mobile application and maintains ongoing correspondence with our IT support teams to manage and mitigate potential risks. This ensures that we can quickly address security vulnerabilities, deploy necessary updates, and maintain the app's performance, thereby safeguarding our business operations.

37. Our business is dependent on the road network and uninterrupted fleet operations. Any disruptions could adversely impact our reputation, customer satisfaction and financial performance.

Our service delivery in the Corporate Car Rental (CCR) and Retail Car Rental (RCR) segments is intrinsically linked to the availability and condition of the road infrastructure across India. As our operations span more than 80 cities pan-India through both our own fleet and third-party vendors, any interruption in road transport can directly impact our ability to deliver services in a timely and efficient manner. Road transport in India is susceptible to a wide range of external factors, including but not limited to, political unrest, inclement weather conditions, natural disasters, poor road quality, ongoing construction, regional disruptions, vehicular accidents and third-party negligence.

Except as disclosed on Risk Factor No. 37, we have not experienced any material incidents during period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 that have adversely affected our financial condition or operations, there can be no assurance that such events will not occur in the future. Such disruptions may result in delays, service cancellations, or inability to fulfil customer bookings, particularly in cases involving scheduled corporate travel or high-profile events, potentially leading to penalties under our service contracts.

Prolonged or significant downtime of our vehicles or fleet-related infrastructure, including due to mechanical failures or availability of spare parts, may further impair our service capacity. Even though we undertake rigorous fleet management practices, route planning and preventive maintenance, certain factors remain beyond our control. Any such delays or operational disruptions could increase our maintenance costs, negatively impact customer experience, result in legal or contractual liabilities, and harm our brand reputation. Over time, recurring service inconsistencies may also affect client retention and our ability to secure repeat or long-term contracts, thereby adversely impacting our revenue, profitability and cash flows.

To mitigate risks associated with road infrastructure and fleet disruptions, our Company strategically plans routes and operations around urban centres and corridors benefitting from the Government of India's major infrastructure initiatives. These include the development of national highways, focused on multi-modal connectivity and reducing transit bottlenecks. We align fleet deployment with cities experiencing improved highway access and urban road expansion. Combined with our preventive maintenance practices, real-time vehicle tracking and vendor standby network, these measures enhance service reliability and operational continuity across geographies.

38. Inability to maintain adequate insurance coverage for our operations, fleet and workforce, or any denial of insurance claims, may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

We maintain various insurance policies in the ordinary course of our business, including but not limited to motor vehicle insurance and general liability insurance. These policies are aimed at covering key operational risks such as third-party liability, bodily injury, accidental damage and theft. For further details, kindly refer "Our Business – Insurance" on page 322.

Motor vehicle liability insurance is particularly critical to our Corporate Car Rental (CCR) and Retail Car Rental (RCR) segments, as it covers our exposure to claims arising out of bodily injury, death, or property damage to third parties. However, there is no assurance that the insurance policies we maintain will be sufficient to cover all potential liabilities or that our insurance claims will be settled in full, in part, or in a timely manner.

Our insurance policies are subject to standard limitations, including deductibles, exclusions and liability caps. In the event of a claim that exceeds the limits of our coverage, or in case a claim is denied or delayed, we may be required to bear the financial burden of the loss. While we have not had any material insurance claims denied during the period ended December 31, 2025 and financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we cannot guarantee that similar outcomes will occur in the future.

(₹ in million expect for numbers)

Sum assured 	55.45	15.27	32.52	12.06

* Claim received by third party is the amount given directly by insurance company to third party.

 Sum assured is only for those vehicles which were involved in the accident during the specified period/ financial year.

The above data has been certified by VAPS & Co. pursuant to their certificate dated June 27, 2026 vide UDIN: 26082515FTZGHA4344.

The accidents varied in severity, from fatal incidents involving loss of life to minor damage cases, such as a self-damaged sunroof, a vehicle struck by a flying rock and a collision where a loaded truck hit the left side of our vehicle.

Our Company does not have any such instances in past where claim submitted to insurance company exceeds the sum assured i.e. liability insurance cover. The percentage of Insurance coverage against the total asset is 100%.

Additionally, some of our insurance policies have been expired. There is no assurance that we will be able to renew such policies in a timely manner, on commercially acceptable terms, or with adequate coverage. Any inability to maintain or renew adequate insurance coverage could materially impair our ability to manage operational risks and expose us to substantial liabilities.

Non-compliance with applicable insurance-related regulations, including failure to maintain mandatory insurance coverage or gaps in coverage for specific risks, may also result in penalties, reputational harm, or disruptions to our service delivery.

39. Any failure to comply with the financial or other restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements may adversely affect our business operations, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We have availed various financing facilities from banks and financial institutions, primarily for the purpose of funding our fleet and business operations. As on December 31, 2025, March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023, our total outstanding borrowings (including long term & short borrowings) amounted to ₹ 677.46 million, ₹ 627.01 million, ₹ 577.43 million and ₹ 216.66 million, respectively. For further details, kindly refer “Restated Consolidated Financial Information” beginning on page 373.

The agreements governing our financing arrangements contain customary representations, warranties, undertakings and covenants, including restrictions on our ability to, among others, change our capital structure, amend our constitutional documents, alter our shareholding pattern or management control, undertake new borrowings, or create additional encumbrances without prior lender consent. Any breach of these terms, or inability to obtain the necessary consents in a timely manner, may result in an event of default under such agreements.

While we have complied with all financial and other covenants and have obtained requisite consents from our lenders for undertaking the Offer as of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, we cannot assure you that we will continue to remain in compliance in the future. In the event of a default, our lenders may accelerate repayment of outstanding borrowings, enforce security over our assets, or impose additional conditions that may restrict our operational flexibility.

While our Company is of the view that the prepayment or scheduled re-payment of a portion of certain outstanding borrowings will help reduce our outstanding indebtedness and debt servicing costs, assist us in maintaining a favourable debt to equity ratio and enable utilisation of our internal accruals for further investment in business growth and expansion, the premature redemption will not result in the creation of any tangible assets for our Company. For details regarding the repayment or prepayment of loan, please refer to table disclosed in the chapter titled “Objects of the Offer – Pre-payment and/or re-payment, full or in part, of certain outstanding borrowings availed by our Company.” on page 130.

40. Our Subsidiary and Group Company are engaged in a line of business similar to that of our Company and may compete with us, which may give rise to conflicts of interest.

Our Subsidiary and our Group Company, Leap Green Infra Private Limited and Mann Tours India Private Limited, respectively, are engaged in a line of business similar to that of our Company. As a result, our Company, our Subsidiary and our Group Company may compete for business opportunities, customers, contracts, personnel and other resources. Such competition may result in conflicts of interest, diversion of business opportunities and increased competitive pressures on our Company.

Further, our Company has not entered into any non-compete agreement with either our Subsidiary or our Group Company restricting them from undertaking business activities that are similar to those carried on by our Company. Accordingly, neither our Subsidiary nor our Group Company is restricted from pursuing business opportunities that are similar to, or compete with, those of our Company. While our Subsidiary operates in a business segment similar to that of our Company, it currently provides transportation services exclusively through electric vehicles (EVs). This specialized focus caters to a distinct customer segment that prioritizes sustainable and environmentally friendly mobility solutions.

Our Company, our Subsidiary and our Group Company intend to adopt such procedures and practices as may be permissible under applicable laws to address any instances of conflict of interest, if and when they arise. However, there can be no assurance that such measures will be effective in preventing or resolving all conflicts of interest. Any such conflict or competition may adversely affect our Company's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

41. We may require additional financing in the future to fund our growth strategy, and any failure to raise such financing on commercially acceptable terms, or at all, may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our growth strategy includes expanding our geographic footprint across Tier-I, Tier-II and Tier-III cities, enhancing our fleet of premium and luxury vehicles, continuing investment in technology platforms and mobility applications, and maintaining high service standards. These initiatives may require significant capital expenditure and ongoing working capital investments. While we have historically funded our capital expenditure and operating requirements primarily through internal accruals and sanctioned borrowing facilities, there can be no assurance that our internally generated resources or available credit lines will be sufficient to meet our future capital requirements.

In the event our internal accruals and existing facilities prove inadequate, we may be required to raise additional financing from banks, financial institutions or capital markets to support our expansion plans. Our ability to secure such funding on favourable terms depends on several factors, including general economic conditions, prevailing interest rates, investor sentiment, our credit profile and the performance of our business. Our Company's ambitious expansion also poses a risk of overextension, potentially straining operational resources and leading to a decline in service quality. Such a decline could harm our brand reputation and long-term profitability.

Future borrowings may subject us to restrictive covenants, including limitations on the incurrence of additional debt, creation of liens, declaration of dividends and maintenance of specific financial ratios. Such covenants may affect our operational and financial flexibility. In addition, a significant portion of our financing may be secured by our assets, including our owned fleet, receivables, or cash balances, thereby reducing our ability to raise additional secured funding. For further details, kindly refer "Financial Indebtedness" beginning on page 461.

Alternatively, we may consider raising capital through equity issuances which could result in dilution to our existing shareholders. Any delay or inability to secure financing in a timely manner, on acceptable terms, or at all, may result in postponement, downsizing, or cancellation of our growth plans and strategic initiatives, adversely impacting our competitive position, business operations, financial performance and future prospects.

42. Our growth strategy and ability to scale are contingent on our ability to expand fleet size, vendor partnerships, and infrastructure across geographies.

To capitalize on industry demand, we must continually expand our fleet and infrastructure. Any inability to scale in a timely and cost-effective manner, due to capital constraints, vendor unreliability, supply chain issues, or regulatory hurdles, may impact our ability to meet customer demand. Additionally, non-availability of high-end vehicles or EVs at scale could hinder our execution in premium segments or affect our sustainability goals.

To mitigate the above said, we maintain a balanced procurement strategy with vendor-based supplementation and an asset-heavy core fleet. Our vendor relationships are flexible and transaction-based, enabling quality control and service consistency.

43. Limited availability of documents substantiating the prior work experience and educational qualifications of our Directors, Key Managerial Personnel (“KMPs”) and Senior Management Personnel (“SMPs”) may affect the respective disclosures in their brief profiles included in the section “Our Management” of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Certain Directors, Key Managerial Personnel (“KMPs”) and Senior Management Personnel (“SMPs”) of our Company have provided documents relating to their professional experience and educational qualifications. However, in certain cases, the available records do not conclusively establish the exact tenure of their prior employment or fully substantiate their academic credentials. Specifically, certain educational qualification documents pertaining to Parmjeet Mann, Avarjit Singh Birghi, and Jagdeep Singh are not available with the Company. Accordingly, the profiles of such Directors, KMPs, and SMPs included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus have been prepared based on their declarations, confirmations, and supporting documents available with the Company, to the extent reasonably verifiable. While the Company has appropriately qualified such disclosures and continues to undertake best-efforts verification and encourage maintenance of updated records, it may be unable to independently verify certain aspects of their professional or educational backgrounds. Any inaccuracies, inconsistencies, or uncertainties in these disclosures could adversely affect investor perception of the Company's management.

44. Our directors are or were not directors of listed companies and hence lack adequate experience to address complexities associated with listed companies.

Our Directors are currently not, and in the past have not been, directors of listed companies. As a result, they may have limited exposure to the regulatory, governance, compliance, reporting, and stakeholder-management complexities typically associated with listed entities. The responsibilities of directors of a listed company involve adherence to stringent corporate governance standards, periodic disclosure requirements, oversight of internal controls, compliance with securities laws, and engagement with investors, regulators and market participants. Limited prior experience in these areas may impact the ability of our Directors to effectively navigate the enhanced obligations and expectations applicable once our Company becomes listed.

Any challenges faced by our Directors in adapting to the regulatory framework and governance practices required of a listed company could potentially affect the quality and timelines of compliance, decision-making processes, and the overall effectiveness of our Board. This may have an adverse effect on our corporate governance standards, stakeholder confidence, and the Company's operations, financial condition, or reputation. There is no assurance that our Directors will be able to seamlessly transition to or efficiently manage the responsibilities associated with being directors of listed company.

Our Company provides continuous support and guidance to the Board on matters relating to corporate governance, regulatory compliance, and obligations under applicable securities laws.

45. Our inability to effectively implement our growth strategy and manage our expansion may adversely affect our business operations and financial condition.

We have undertaken a strategic growth initiative to increase our penetration in Tier-I cities and expand into Tier-II and Tier-III cities across India, along with broadening our international footprint through vendor networks in cities such as London, New York, Dubai, Abu Dhabi, Jeddah and Colombo. While these strategies are aimed at consolidating our market position and enhancing our presence in existing and new geographies, there is no assurance that we will be successful in achieving our intended expansion objectives.

The success of our strategy is subject to numerous factors including, but not limited to, the availability of adequate resources, our ability to acquire new customers while increasing revenue from existing ones, retaining qualified personnel, expanding our sales team, leveraging technology for operational efficiency, continuing to build brand value and sustaining our position in a competitive and fragmented market.

Our expansion and growth are expected to place significant demands on our operational, financial and human resources. We will need to continually evolve and improve our internal control mechanisms, information systems, fleet infrastructure, and service protocols to maintain service quality and consistency. In addition, execution of our business strategies, such as setting up additional branch offices, entering into new vendor arrangements, introducing new services, increasing our fleet capacity, deploying electric vehicles (EVs) and launching customer-friendly applications, may involve substantial upfront costs, and the benefits of these investments may not materialize in the anticipated timeframe, or at all.

We also rely on third-party vendors for service delivery in several cities, and our growth in such locations may be impacted by their performance, quality and availability. Additionally, our expansion strategy may involve scaling our operations in areas where we currently have limited presence or brand recognition, which may lead to unforeseen operational, regulatory and logistical challenges.

If we are unable to implement our growth strategy in a timely and cost-effective manner, or if the revenue generated from our expansion efforts is insufficient to offset the associated costs, our financial condition, operational results and cash flows may be adversely affected. Furthermore, if we fail to maintain effective quality control and customer satisfaction during this period of growth, it could result in reputational harm and loss of business. For further details on our strategic initiatives, kindly refer “Our Business – Our Strategies” on page 301.

Our Company has adopted a phased and resource-aligned approach to growth, focusing on demand-driven city onboarding and operational scalability. Expansion efforts are backed by our quality assurance protocols and region-specific operations teams. We have successfully opened offices in cities such as Ahmedabad, Kolkata and Chennai, and continue to deepen our presence in existing markets before entering new ones. Additionally, our management regularly monitors execution timelines, resource deployment and customer feedback to ensure operational consistency. These measures help mitigate risks associated with rapid expansion and support sustainable, controlled growth across target geographies.

46. Certain information in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus includes reference and disclosures relating to, certain authorities, institutions, organizations and individuals from whom we have not obtained specific consents for the inclusion of their names or the information pertaining to them.

This Draft Red Herring Prospectus contains references and disclosures relating to certain governmental authorities, regulatory bodies, statutory authorities, industry associations, institutions and individuals in connection with our business, industry, operations and other matters. We have not obtained specific consents from all such authorities and individuals for the inclusion of their names or the information relating to them in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Although we believe that such information has been accurately reproduced from the letter of appreciations and awards received by our Company, publicly available sources or other sources believed to be reliable and that no facts have been omitted which would render the reproduced information inaccurate or misleading, such authorities or individuals have not independently verified the contents of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus and do not accept responsibility for the statements attributed to them or the information contained herein. In the event any such authority or individual raises objections to the inclusion of their name or the information relating to them, we may be required to amend, revise or clarify the relevant disclosures. Any such developments may adversely affect investor perception of our Company and the successful completion of the Offer. For more details, kindly refer “Our History and Certain Corporate Matters” beginning on page 337.

47. We operate in a highly regulated industry and changes in existing laws or regulations or liabilities under applicable laws may adversely affect our business operations, results of operations, financial condition and profitability.

Our operations are subject to extensive regulatory oversight under various central, state and local laws in India, including those relating to motor vehicle regulations, environmental protection, labour and employment laws, chauffeur qualifications, emission norms, passenger limits and commercial licensing. We are required to obtain and maintain numerous registrations, permits, approvals and licenses in connection with our business and the deployment of vehicles in different states.

For more details, kindly refer “Key Industry Regulations and Policies” and “Government and Other Statutory Approvals” beginning on pages 327 and 521 respectively.

Any failure to obtain, renew or comply with the conditions of these approvals could result in regulatory scrutiny, penalties, or the suspension of our ability to operate in certain jurisdictions. For instance, some states impose age limits on vehicles used for commercial transportation, which may necessitate periodic replacement of older fleet vehicles. Furthermore, increasing regulatory emphasis on fuel efficiency, emissions standards and driver safety may impose new obligations on us, including investment in cleaner vehicles, enhanced driver training and greater compliance reporting.

As our Company is engaged in pan-India operations through both owned and vendor-sourced fleets, any inconsistency in regulatory compliance across jurisdictions, such as adherence to road safety, pollution control, or labour welfare standards, could result in fines, reputational damage, or revocation of vehicle permits. The regulatory landscape in India remains dynamic, with new rules or amendments introduced regularly by central and state transport departments, municipal corporations and labour authorities.

To ensure consistent compliance across our pan-India operations, we've integrated all licenses, permits and regulatory requirements for every vehicle. Our comprehensive strategy protects our business from regulatory risks, helps us maintain profitability, and secures our reputation as a reliable and law-abiding operator. By improving our compliance and governance systems, we align ourselves with a constantly evolving regulatory landscape. Having already secured all necessary government licenses and approvals, without any delay the focus shifts to maintaining and proactively managing these obligations. This mitigation strategy involves implementing regular audits and continuous monitoring to ensure that we remain in good standing. This effective compliance framework will help us in anticipating and adapting to new policies, reducing the risk of penalties, legal challenges, or reputational damage.

48. We may not be able to adequately protect our intellectual property, or may unintentionally infringe upon third-party intellectual property rights, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and reputation.

Our brand, reputation and market recognition are important components of our business strategy, and we rely on various forms of intellectual property, including registered and pending trademarks, to protect these assets. We have applied for registration of the trademark 'Mann' and use our logo in connection with our brand and service offerings.

As on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, we have following registered/applied trademark as described below:

4			TM Applied for	7381017	December 05, 2025

[#]The trademark was registered under the former name of the Company i.e., Mann Tourist Transport Service Private Limited. The application for change of name has been submitted with the relevant authority and is currently pending.

There can be no assurance that our pending trademark applications will be approved, or that our existing trademarks will be renewed or enforced effectively by the relevant authorities. Any failure to obtain or maintain such intellectual property rights may restrict our ability to operate under our current branding, expose us to legal risks and result in penalties or reputational damage. Additionally, unauthorised use or imitation of our trademarks or brand elements by third parties could lead to customer confusion, dilution of our brand equity, and potential loss of business.

Protecting our intellectual property rights may require litigation, which could be time-consuming, costly and with uncertain outcomes. Further, even with legal recourse, the steps we take to protect our proprietary rights may not always be effective in preventing unauthorised use or imitation, particularly in a service-oriented and competitive industry like ours.

While we make reasonable efforts to avoid infringement of third-party intellectual property rights, we cannot provide assurance that our operations or branding elements do not or will not inadvertently infringe existing or future intellectual property rights of others. Any such claims could require us to obtain licenses on unfavourable terms, redesign or replace certain branding or technology components, or cease the use of infringing elements altogether. These actions could be expensive, time-consuming, and disruptive to our operations. Although we have not been involved in any intellectual property-related litigation or disputes during the period ended December 31, 2025 and during the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we cannot assure you that such disputes will not arise in the future. Any such claims, even if not ultimately successful, may involve significant legal expenses, divert management attention, and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, results of operations and financial condition.

49. Inability to maintain effective internal controls and compliance systems could lead to operational errors, regulatory lapses, employee misconduct and adversely affect our business, financial condition and reputation.

As we continue to scale our operations across multiple geographies and expand our service offerings, the adequacy and effectiveness of our internal control systems remain critical to our ability to manage operational, financial and compliance-related risks. Our internal audit functions are designed to evaluate the adequacy of internal systems on an ongoing basis and ensure that our operations adhere to Company policies, internal guidelines and applicable laws. We periodically review and upgrade our control mechanisms to reflect changes in the scale and complexity of our business.

While there have been no material instances in the past indicating failure of internal controls or compliance frameworks except one isolated instance involving employee misconduct where we had to settle fraud-related issues with clients and file complaints against former employees for alleged offences under the Indian Penal Code, 1860, and the Information Technology Act, 2000. For further details, kindly refer “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – I. Litigation involving our Company – A. Litigation filed by our Company – Criminal proceedings” on page 516.

As our business grows, we may face challenges in maintaining adequate internal controls over expanding operations, particularly in connection with vendor management, chauffeur onboarding, data protection and service-level monitoring. Operational risks also include lapses in judgment or human error, which may result in financial misstatements, compliance failures, or system inefficiencies. Any such lapses could impact the accuracy of our financial reporting, lead to regulatory scrutiny, or erode investor confidence.

Further, we are subject to domestic anti-corruption laws and are also exposed to reputational and compliance risks related to bribery, facilitation payments or other unethical business practices by employees, vendors, or intermediaries. While we continue to enhance our internal safeguards, we cannot assure you that such breaches will not occur. In the event of non-compliance, we may be subject to significant civil or criminal penalties, legal proceedings, reputational damage, and diversion of management time and resources. Additionally, in some cases, we are subject to ‘Know Your Customer’ (KYC) processes by our corporate clients and government-related entities. Any failure to satisfy such requirements or perceived deficiencies in our internal controls may adversely impact our ability to secure or retain such contracts.

Our inability to maintain and continually strengthen our internal controls, compliance systems and ethical governance practices could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and reputation.

Our Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel (“KMPs”), and Senior Management Personnel (“SMPs”), may be deemed to be interested in our Company to the extent of their individual shareholding and shareholding by their relatives in our Company, if any, and any dividends, bonuses, right shares or other distributions that may be made by our Company in respect of such Equity Shares. In addition, members of our Promoter Group may be deemed to be interested in our Company to the extent of their respective shareholding and any business interests or transactions, whether contractual or otherwise, that they may have entered into with our Company. For further information, kindly refer “Capital Structure”, “Our Promoters and Promoter Group” and “Our Management” beginning on pages 104, 367, and 346, respectively.

52. Our Promoters shall continue to retain significant control in our Company after the Offer, which shall allow them to influence the outcome of matters submitted to Shareholders for approval. Such a concentration of ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control.

As on date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, our Promoters collectively hold 23,032,520 Equity Shares of face value of ₹ 10 each, representing 89.87% of the pre-offer, subscribed and paid-up Equity Share Capital of our Company. As a result, our Promoters shall continue to exercise significant control over us, including being able to control the composition of our Board of Directors and determine decisions requiring simple or special majority voting, and our other Shareholders shall be unable to affect the outcome of such voting.

Our Promoters may take or block actions with respect to our business, which may conflict with our interests or the interests of our minority Shareholders, such as actions which delay, defer or cause a change of our control or a change in our capital structure, merger, consolidation, takeover or other business combination involving us, or which discourage or encourage a potential acquirer from making a tender Offer or otherwise attempting to obtain control of us. We cannot assure you that our Promoters shall act to resolve any conflicts of interest in our favour. If our Promoters sell a substantial number of the Equity Shares in the public market, or if there is a perception that such sale or distribution could occur, the market price of the Equity Shares could be adversely affected. No assurance can be given that such Equity Shares that are held by our Promoters shall not be sold any time after the Offer lock-in expires, which could cause the price of the Equity Shares to decline.

Additionally, by holding such a significant portion of our shareholding, the Promoters and Promoter Group continue to maintain a strong vested interest in the growth and long-term success of our Company.

For further details on our Promoters and Promoter Group, kindly refer “Our Management” and “Our Promoters and Promoter Group” beginning on pages 346 and 367, respectively.

53. Significant differences proceeds from the Offer for Sale accounting principles, such as U.S. GAAP and IFRS, which investors may be more familiar with and may consider material to their assessment of our financial condition.

Our Restated Consolidated Financial Information for the period ended December 31, 2025 and for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, have been prepared and presented in conformity with Ind AS. Ind AS differs in certain significant respects from IFRS, U.S. GAAP and other accounting principles with which prospective investors may be familiar in other countries. If our financial statements were to be prepared in accordance with such other accounting principles, our results of operations, cash flows and financial position may be substantially different. Prospective investors should review the accounting policies applied in the preparation of our financial statements and consult their own professional advisers for an understanding of the differences between these accounting principles and those with which they may be more familiar. Any reliance by person not familiar with Indian accounting practices on the financial disclosures presented in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus should be limited accordingly.

54. Our Company will not receive any proceeds from the Offer for Sale by the Selling Shareholders. The Selling Shareholders will receive the Proceeds from the Offer for Sale.

The Offer consists of an Offer for Sale of Equity Shares by the Selling Shareholders. The Selling Shareholders shall be entitled to proceeds from the Offer for Sale, which comprises proceeds from the Offer for Sale less Offer Expenses for the proportionate share of the Offer for Sale. Our Company will not receive any proceeds from the Offer for Sale. For further information, kindly refer “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 128.

55. We may not be able to detect or prevent all instances of fraud, negligence, or misconduct by our employees, vendors, or other third parties, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our operations involve regular interactions with third-party vendors, chauffeurs and employees across multiple cities, including the handling of physical assets, cash transactions, customer data and technology systems. We are therefore exposed to risks of internal fraud, embezzlement, misappropriation of assets, unauthorised activities, negligence, misconduct, or collusion by our employees, chauffeurs, or vendor partners. Such activities may not always be immediately detected or prevented, despite the presence of internal controls and monitoring mechanisms.

While we have implemented checks and balances, including background verifications, no assurance can be given that these systems will be entirely effective in eliminating the risk of such incidents. Misconduct or fraud, particularly in our vendor-operated fleet or chauffeur management system, may result in operational disruptions, financial losses, or reputational damage.

While there have been no material instances in the past indicating failure of internal controls or compliance frameworks except one isolated instance involving employee misconduct where we had to settle fraud-related issues with clients and file complaints against former employees for alleged offences under the Indian Penal Code, 1860, and the Information Technology Act, 2000.

There has been only one such instance of fraud in the past where the primary accused, Mr. Manoj (a driver) is alleged to have stolen and have illegally used the “Drive Track plus pre-paid cards” issued by Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited that resulted in a loss of ₹ 2.91 million to the Company. For further details, kindly refer “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – I. Litigation involving our Company – A. Litigation filed by our Company – Criminal proceedings” on page 516. Following this incident, the Company implemented strengthened internal controls, including enhanced monitoring of fuel card usage, stricter verification procedures, and periodic reconciliation of transactions. The Company has also introduced tighter access controls and oversight mechanisms to prevent unauthorized use of such cards.

Any such future incidents may not only lead to financial loss but could also adversely impact client trust, disrupt ongoing engagements, and expose us to regulatory or legal scrutiny. Additionally, the financial damages resulting from such incidents may exceed the limits of our insurance coverage, if applicable. Continued growth in operations and geographic expansion may also increase our exposure to such risks if internal processes and governance structures are not strengthened correspondingly. Failure to effectively detect, prevent, or respond to fraud, misconduct, or negligence may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and reputation.

56. Our inability to maintain consistent customer service, adapt to evolving consumer expectations, or enforce stringent quality control measures may adversely affect our brand, operations and financial condition.

Our brand reputation and customer retention are strongly driven by our commitment to operational excellence, high-quality service delivery and customer-centric execution. We have implemented quality control protocols, including structured chauffeur recruitment and training, regular vehicle inspections, 24*7 customer support and hygiene and safety standards across our fleet. Despite these efforts, our ability to maintain this consistency across all geographies and as we scale up remains a challenge.

We rely on feedback loops, real-time fleet monitoring and proprietary quality control software to ensure high service standards. However, any failure to effectively execute our protocols, such as failure to uphold vehicle hygiene, chauffeur conduct, punctuality, or documentation compliance, could result in negative customer experiences. Given our lean organizational structure and reliance on technology and trained personnel, lapses at any operational level could significantly impact our brand equity.

Moreover, customer expectations continue to evolve, especially regarding sustainability, digital engagement and personalization. While we proactively monitor service trends and update our offerings, such as discount coupons and service feedback, there is no assurance that these will meet or exceed client expectations. Our failure to continuously adapt to consumer preferences or to operationalize new service improvements at scale may affect our ability to attract and retain clients, especially premium and institutional customers. Any shortfall in meeting our quality benchmarks, customer satisfaction goals, or innovation expectations could harm our reputation and result in loss of business, lower client retention and adverse financial performance. While there have been no material instances in the past where our inability to maintain consistent customer service, adapt to evolving consumer expectations, or enforce stringent quality control measures has had any impact on our earnings, financial condition, or results of operations.

57. Our ability to pay dividends in the future may be affected by any material adverse effect on our future earnings, financial condition or cash flows.

The declaration and payment of dividends, if any, in the future will be recommended by our Board of Directors and will be subject to the discretion of our shareholders. Such declaration will depend on a number of factors, including our earnings, capital requirements, financial condition, cash flows, applicable legal restrictions under the Companies Act, 2013 and other relevant factors that may be considered relevant by our Board of Directors from time to time.

There can be no assurance that we will declare dividends in future periods, or as to the amount of any such future dividends. If we are unable to generate adequate cash flows or profits or if we decide to deploy available cash for business expansion, working capital needs, or debt servicing, our ability to distribute dividends may be constrained. Additionally, any adverse developments in our operations or external business environment may necessitate the conservation of internal resources. For further details in relation to our dividend history and policy, kindly refer “Dividend Policy” beginning on page 372.

External Risk Factors

58. A slowdown in economic growth in India could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The performance and growth of our business are inherently dependent on the health of the Indian economy. Any sustained slowdown or volatility in macroeconomic indicators—such as GDP growth, interest rates, inflation, or employment—could adversely impact consumer and corporate spending, including on transportation and mobility services. In addition, global economic instability, disruptions in trade flows, changes in fiscal or monetary policies, or geopolitical tensions (including conflicts in Europe, West Asia, or Asia-Pacific regions) may have indirect effects on domestic demand. A decline in overall economic activity may result in reduced demand for our services, delays in receivables, or pricing pressures, thereby adversely affecting our revenue, cash flows, and profitability.

59. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of tax laws, in the jurisdictions in which we operate may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

The regulatory and policy environment in which we operate is evolving and subject to change. Such changes, including the instances mentioned below, could adversely affect our business, prospects and results of operations, to the extent that we are unable to suitably respond to and comply with any such changes in applicable law and policy. Further, any future amendments may affect our tax benefits such as exemptions for income earned by way of dividend from investments in other domestic companies and units of mutual funds, exemptions for interest received in respect of tax-free bonds, and long-term capital gains on equity shares. Changes in capital gains tax or tax on capital market transactions or the sale of shares could affect investor returns. As a result, any such changes or interpretations could have an adverse effect on our business and financial performance.

For instance, the Government of India has announced the union budget for the Financial Year 2026 (the “Budget”), pursuant to which the Finance Act, 2025 has amended the Income-tax Act, 1961, including the capital gains tax rates with effect from the date of announcement of the Budget. We have not fully determined the effects of these recent and proposed laws and regulations on our business.

The Government introduced (a) the Code on Wages, 2019 (“Wages Code”); (b) the Code on Social Security, 2020 (“Social Security Code”); (c) the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020; and (d) the Industrial Relations Code, 2020, which consolidate, subsume and replace numerous existing central labor legislations. Except certain portions of the Wages Code, which have come into force pursuant to notification by Ministry of Labor and Employment, the rules for implementation under such codes are yet to be notified.

The Parliament of India has passed the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 and the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023, which have repealed the Indian Penal Code, 1860, the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, respectively, with effect from July 01, 2024. The effect of the provisions of these on us and the litigations involving us cannot be predicted with certainty at this stage.

Unfavorable changes in or interpretations of existing, or the promulgation of new, laws, rules and regulations including foreign investment and stamp duty laws governing our business and operations could result in us being deemed to be in contravention of such laws and may require us to apply for additional approvals. Uncertainty in the applicability, interpretation, or implementation of any amendment to, or change in, governing law, regulation or policy, including by reason of an absence, or a limited body, of administrative or judicial precedent may be time consuming as well as costly for us to resolve and may affect the viability of our current businesses or restrict our ability to grow our businesses in the future.

60. We may be affected by competition laws, the adverse application or interpretation of which could adversely affect our business.

The Competition Act, 2002, as amended (the “Competition Act”) was enacted for the purpose of preventing practices that have or are likely to have an adverse effect on competition (“AAEC”) in certain markets in India and has mandated the Competition Commission of India (the “CCI”) to separate such practices. Under the Competition Act, any arrangement, understanding or action, whether formal or informal, which causes or is likely to cause an AAEC is deemed void and attracts substantial penalties.

Further, any agreement among competitors which directly or indirectly involves determination of purchase or sale prices, limits or controls production, or shares the market by way of geographical area or number of customers in the relevant market is presumed to have an appreciable adverse effect on competition in the relevant market in India and shall be void. Further, the Competition Act prohibits abuse of dominant position by any enterprise. If it is proved that the contravention committed by a company took place with the consent or connivance or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of such company, that person shall be guilty of the contravention and liable to be punished.

The Competition Act aims to, among others, prohibit all agreements and transactions which may have an AAEC in India. Consequently, certain agreements entered into by us could be within the purview of the Competition Act. Further, the CCI has extra-territorial powers and can investigate any agreements, abusive conduct or combination occurring outside India if such agreement, conduct or combination has an AAEC in India. The effects of the provisions of the Competition Act on the agreements entered into by us cannot be predicted with certainty at this stage. However, since we pursue an acquisition driven growth strategy, we may be affected, directly or indirectly, by the application or interpretation of any provision of the Competition Act, any enforcement proceedings initiated by the CCI, any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI, or any prohibition or substantial penalties levied under the Competition Act, which would adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

The Government of India has also passed the Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023, which has proposed several amendments to the Competition Act, such as introduction of deal value thresholds for assessing whether a merger or acquisition qualifies as a “combination”, expedited merger review timelines, codification of the lowest standard of “control” and enhanced penalties for providing false information or a failure to provide material information.

If we pursue acquisitions in the future, we may be affected, directly or indirectly, by the application or interpretation of any provision of the Competition Act, any enforcement proceedings initiated by the CCI, any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI, or any prohibition or substantial penalties levied under the Competition Act, which would adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

61. We are affected by global economic and financial market conditions, including volatility caused by geopolitical tensions, inflationary pressures and trade disruptions.

Our operations and prospects may be indirectly impacted by global financial instability, including volatility in crude oil prices, currency fluctuations, interest rate hikes by major central banks, and capital outflows from emerging markets. Additionally, disruptions arising from the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict, Middle East tensions, or a potential recession in major economies like the U.S. or China, could negatively affect investor sentiment, liquidity in capital markets, or inflation in input costs such as fuel and fleet procurement. A prolonged downturn in global economic conditions may affect our growth trajectory, customer budgets, and overall profitability.

62. Political, economic or other factors that are beyond our control may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Over the past decade, India’s economy has undergone significant changes, with external trade and capital flows becoming increasingly important. Any slowdown or perceived slowdown in the Indian economy, or in specific sectors of the Indian economy, could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition and the price of the Equity Shares. Conditions outside India may also contribute to a slowdown in the Indian economy or changes in India’s economic policies and regulations, which could adversely affect the level of trading activity in the securities market, such as the Russia-Ukraine war, Middle East War, power shortages in Europe, and rising inflation rates globally. Our performance and the growth of our business depend on the overall performance of the Indian economy as well as the economies of the regional markets in which we operate. Further, the following external risks may have an adverse impact on our business and results of operations, should any of them materialize:

- i. increase in interest rates may adversely affect our access to capital and increase our borrowing costs, which may constrain our ability to grow our business and operate profitably;
- ii. downgrade of India’s sovereign debt rating by an independent agency;
- iii. political instability, resulting from a change in governmental or economic and fiscal policies, may adversely affect economic conditions in India. In recent years, India has implemented various economic and political reforms. Reforms in relation to land acquisition policies and trade barriers have led to increased incidents of social unrest in India over which we have no control;
- iv. civil unrest, acts of violence, terrorist attacks, regional conflicts or situations or war; and
- v. India has experienced epidemics, and natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunamis, floods, and drought in recent years.
- vi. contagious diseases such as the COVID-19 pandemic or a similar contagious disease could adversely affect the Indian economy and economic activity in the region.

63. A downgrade in India's sovereign credit rating may adversely affect our access to capital and increase borrowing costs.

Our cost of borrowing and ability to raise additional capital from domestic and international markets may be influenced by India's sovereign credit rating. Any downgrade in the country's rating by global credit agencies may lead to tightening of liquidity, increase in interest rates, or risk aversion by institutional investors, thereby affecting our funding plans or working capital cycle. Additionally, such a downgrade could adversely affect the valuation of Indian securities, including our Equity Shares, and restrict our ability to finance future expansion or strategic initiatives.

64. The occurrence of natural or man-made disasters, pandemics, or large-scale disruptions could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

Our business and operations are susceptible to adverse effects from natural disasters such as cyclones, floods, and earthquakes, as well as man-made disasters, including acts of terrorism, military actions, hostilities, civil unrest, or other acts of violence. Such events may disrupt our operations, cash flows, or financial condition and could also adversely affect the Indian securities markets. Additionally, deteriorating international relations, particularly between India and its neighbouring countries, may raise investor concerns about regional stability, negatively impacting the trading price of our Equity Shares. Social, economic, or political disturbances within India could similarly harm our business and market perception of investment in Indian companies.

In addition, India, along with several other countries, remains vulnerable to outbreaks of infectious diseases, such as influenza strains (H1N1, H5N1, H7N9) and viruses with pandemic potential. The COVID-19 pandemic caused severe disruption to global economic activity and significantly affected our business by reducing demand for transportation services due to nationwide lockdowns, travel restrictions, and the shift of many corporate clients to hybrid or remote work models. The long-term effects of such structural changes in workplace behaviour continue to influence corporate mobility needs, which may adversely affect our revenue visibility and growth prospects.

Future pandemics, epidemics, or other public health crises could similarly lead to large-scale disruptions in economic activity, supply chains, labour availability, and government projects. Such events could result in suspension or restriction of our operations, reduced customer demand, health-related risks to our employees and chauffeurs, and uncertainties in revenue generation. We cannot assure you that there will not be any such incidents in the future, and any of these developments could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

65. We are subject to evolving foreign investment regulations in India, which may impact our ability to raise capital from international investors.

Any transfer of our Equity Shares involving non-resident investors is subject to India's foreign exchange regulations, including pricing norms, sectoral caps, and reporting requirements. While our business currently falls under the automatic route for foreign investment, any change in sectoral policies, or reclassification under Press Note regulations, may require prior approval of regulatory authorities. This may adversely affect our ability to attract foreign investment or raise capital in future offerings. Additionally, delays or non-compliance with FEMA or RBI guidelines could result in penalties and reputational risks.

66. Changes in the automotive industry, improvement in public transportation infrastructure, and evolution of the global travel and car rental landscape may adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business and results of operations are dependent on the overall performance of the automotive sector and car rental industry in India, and to an extent, the global travel and tourism ecosystem. The automotive industry is inherently cyclical and sensitive to various factors such as macroeconomic trends, interest rates, inflation, fuel prices, regulatory changes, availability and cost of credit, evolving customer preferences, technological disruptions including autonomous driving and electric vehicles, and environmental laws. Any tightening in credit conditions or reduced access to financing for new vehicle acquisitions may affect our ability and the ability of our vendors to procure or upgrade fleet vehicles, thereby impacting our operational capacity and revenue generation.

Further, we operate in the chauffeur-driven mobility space and our growth is susceptible to significant shifts in consumer behavior and mobility trends. The emergence of new mobility solutions such as ride-hailing apps, car-sharing platforms, and self-driving vehicle technologies could lead to reduced reliance on traditional corporate car rentals (CCR). Our ability to maintain competitiveness depends on our readiness to adopt and integrate such technologies and innovations into our business model. We currently do not have a customer-facing mobile application, unlike several of our competitors, which places us at a technological disadvantage and may lead to the erosion of our customer base, particularly among digitally-savvy enterprise clients seeking seamless and integrated travel solutions.

Additionally, our operations may be affected by public policy measures or government investments in mass transit systems like metro rail, buses, or other public mobility alternatives that offer cost-effective options to corporate travellers. Any significant improvement in public transport infrastructure could reduce demand for our services, particularly in Tier I cities where such services are being actively expanded.

We also derive a portion of our business from airport transfers and travel-related services. Our revenue is, therefore, indirectly linked to air traffic volumes and the performance of the global travel and tourism industry. Any downturn or disruption in international or domestic travel, including due to geopolitical instability, pandemics, or macroeconomic uncertainty, may adversely affect our business prospects, cash flows, and financial results.

While we have taken steps to modernize our fleet, including introducing EVs and transitioning to Euro VI-compliant vehicles, our ability to manage operating costs amid rising fuel prices, changing emissions norms, and vehicle procurement challenges remains crucial. Our continued success will depend on our adaptability to these dynamic market conditions, our investment in relevant technologies, and our response to the competitive pressures of an evolving transportation landscape.

67. Our business is subject to seasonal variations and is highly dependent on events, corporate activity, and the wedding season, which may result in fluctuations in our results of operations and cash flows.

Our results of operations are subject to seasonal variations due to fluctuations in travel demand and customer activity across different periods of the year. Demand for our chauffeur-driven mobility services tends to increase during corporate events, conferences, festivals, and particularly during the wedding season, when individual and group bookings for premium transport services rise significantly. Similarly, airport and city transfers often see increased volumes during holiday and festive periods, weekends and year-end travel months.

Conversely, certain periods such as the monsoon season or during public restrictions (e.g., examination periods, election seasons, or emergency situations) can lead to reduced demand for our services. In addition, a slowdown in corporate activity, due to macroeconomic conditions or internal budgetary constraints, may lead to a decline in transportation bookings from enterprise clients, which constitute a significant portion of our revenue.

These fluctuations may result in variability in revenue, profitability and cash flows from one quarter to another. Further, to respond to lean periods, we may be required to implement pricing discounts or promotional schemes, which may compress margins. As a result, the financial results of any Financial Year quarter may not be indicative of future performance, and any unexpected shift in seasonal or customer demand patterns could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

68. Changes in tax laws may materially and adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Our business is subject to tax regulations in India and any changes in such regulations or their interpretation could materially affect our financial performance. The Government of India has introduced substantial reforms in the indirect tax regime through the implementation of the Goods and Services Tax (“GST”), replacing multiple indirect taxes. While GST aims to streamline taxation and reduce cascading tax effects, the law is still evolving and subject to periodic amendments and clarifications. These ongoing changes may create uncertainty regarding our tax liabilities and compliance obligations.

In addition, there have been other significant changes to tax legislation, such as the abolition of the Dividend Distribution Tax (“DDT”) regime and the introduction of tax in the hands of shareholders, which impose additional withholding obligations on the Company and may affect investor sentiment. The complexity of complying with new and changing tax rules may lead to inadvertent lapses or delays in compliance, resulting in penalties, litigation, or regulatory scrutiny.

While we strive to maintain robust tax compliance, we cannot assure you that future changes in tax laws or their enforcement will not impact our operations or profitability. Additionally, if we are unable to correctly interpret and implement such amendments, it could affect the viability of our existing business model or our ability to grow and expand into new markets.

69. Non-resident investors are subject to investment restrictions under Indian laws which may limit our ability to attract foreign investors, thereby adversely affecting the market price of our Equity Shares.

Under the current foreign exchange regulations in India, transfer of shares between residents and non-residents is generally permitted, provided it is in compliance with pricing guidelines and reporting requirements prescribed by the Reserve Bank of India (“RBI”). However, certain transactions still require prior regulatory approvals. Additionally, foreign investment is allowed in most sectors without prior approval, but investors must follow specified procedures. While our business presently does not operate in a sector restricted to foreign direct investment, any future change in policy could impose new restrictions.

Moreover, following Press Note No. 3 (2020 Series), dated April 17, 2020, issued by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade, any investment where the beneficial owner is based in or a citizen of a country that shares a land border with India can only be made through the Government approval route. This also applies to transfers of ownership that result in a change in beneficial ownership to such entities. These provisions are also reflected in amendments to the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-debt Instruments) Rules, 2019. Therefore, if any non-resident investor proposes to invest in our Equity Shares and is covered by these restrictions, prior Government approval will be mandatory. We cannot assure you that such approval will be obtained in a timely manner or at all. Any delays or denials may limit our ability to raise foreign capital or adversely impact investor participation and liquidity in our Equity Shares. Consequently, these restrictions may affect our ability to expand foreign ownership, which may in turn have an adverse impact on our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

70. Our ability to raise foreign capital may be constrained by Indian law.

As an Indian Company, we are subject to exchange controls that regulate borrowing in foreign currencies. Such regulatory restrictions limit our financing sources and could constrain our ability to obtain financings on competitive terms and refinance existing indebtedness. In addition, we cannot assure you that any required regulatory approvals for borrowing in foreign currencies will be granted to us without onerous conditions, or at all. Limitations on foreign debt may have an adverse effect on our business growth, financial condition and results of operations.

71. Inflationary pressures may increase our operating costs and impact our profitability.

We operate in a sector where fuel, fleet maintenance, driver compensation, and administrative expenses represent a significant portion of our total costs. As indicated in our business operations, fuel management alone is a tightly controlled and cost-sensitive area, and our fleet expenditures have historically formed a substantial component of our total expenses. Inflationary trends, particularly those affecting fuel prices, vehicle procurement costs, insurance premiums, and wage levels, can materially affect our cost structure.

While we have implemented operational controls such as centralized fuel monitoring systems and strategic vendor engagement to manage expenditures, sharp increases in inflation may outpace our ability to pass on cost hikes to customers. This could result in margin compression, especially where pricing contracts are fixed or negotiated in advance, such as with corporate clients or travel agents. Additionally, inflation-driven interest rate increases may elevate our financing costs and dampen consumer spending, which in turn could reduce demand for premium or discretionary mobility services.

Although we have not experienced material inflation-related disruptions in the past three financial years, any sustained rise in inflation, particularly in India or other regions where we operate, could adversely impact our profitability, cash flows, and overall financial condition.

Risks relating to the Equity Shares and the Offer

72. The Offer Price, market capitalization to total revenue multiple and price to earnings ratio based on the Offer Price of our Company, may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares on listing or thereafter.

The Offer Price of Equity Shares will be determined through a book-building process. Following the Offer, the market price of the Equity Shares, along with the market capitalization to total revenue multiple and price-to-earnings ratio based on the Offer Price, may experience significant fluctuations due to various factors. These factors include changes in our operating results, industry-specific market conditions, developments within India, volatility in securities markets in other jurisdictions, changes in financial indicators, fluctuations in revenue or earnings estimates by research publications, and shifts in economic, legal, and regulatory environments. As a result, the price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, and there is a possibility that you may not be able to resell your Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price, or even at all.

Prior to the Offer, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares, and an active trading market on the Stock Exchanges may not develop or be sustained after the Offer. Listing and quotation do not guarantee that a market for the Equity Shares will develop, or if developed, the liquidity of such market for the Equity Shares. As such, any valuation conducted for the Offer may not be based on a benchmark that reflects our industry peers. The specific financial parameters used to determine the Price Band will be disclosed in the advertisement that will be issued for the publication of the Price Band.

Additionally, the Indian stock markets have recently experienced significant volatility, and the price of our Equity Shares could fluctuate substantially as a result. A decrease in the market price could lead to investors losing part or all of their investment.

73. We may be subject to surveillance measures, such as the Additional Surveillance Measures (ASM) and the Graded Surveillance Measures (GSM) by the Stock Exchanges which may adversely affect trading price of our Equity Shares.

SEBI and Stock Exchanges in order to enhance market integrity and safeguard interest of investors, have been introducing various enhanced pre-emptive surveillance measures. The main objective of these measures is to alert and advice investors to be extra cautious while dealing in these securities and advice market participants to carry out necessary due diligence while dealing in these securities. Accordingly, SEBI and Stock Exchanges have provided for:

- (a) GSM on securities where such trading price of such securities does not commensurate with financial health and fundamentals such as earnings, book value, fixed assets, net-worth, price per equity multiple and market capitalization; and
- (b) ASM on securities with surveillance concerns based on objective parameters such as price and volume variation and volatility.

Upon listing, our Equity Shares may be influenced by general market conditions, which could include significant fluctuations in price and trading volume. The price of our Equity Shares may continue to fluctuate post-Offer due to various factors such as volatility in both Indian and global securities markets, our financial performance, the performance of competitors, changes in performance estimates, or other political or economic events. Any of these factors may trigger the criteria set by SEBI and the Stock Exchanges for placing securities under the GSM (Graded Surveillance Measure) or ASM (Additional Surveillance Measure) framework, including factors like net worth, fixed assets, price variations, client concentration, or price movements between the high and low ranges of trading.

If our Equity Shares are subjected to pre-emptive surveillance measures by any of the Stock Exchanges, trading of our Equity Shares may be impacted by additional restrictions. These restrictions could include limitations on trading frequency, such as permitting trades only once a week or month, or capping price movements on the upper side of trading. Such measures may adversely affect the market price of our Equity Shares and could disrupt the development of an active trading market for our Equity Shares.

74. Any future issuance of Equity Shares by us or sales of Equity Shares by our Promoters could negatively impact the trading price of our Equity Shares. Additionally, the issuance of Equity Shares by our Company may lead to dilution of the shareholding of our then-existing shareholders.

As disclosed in “Capital Structure” beginning on page 104, an aggregate of [●]% of our fully diluted post-offer capital held by our Promoters shall be considered as minimum Promoters’ Contribution and locked in for a period of three (3) years and the balance Equity Shares held by the Promoters following the Offer will be locked-in for one (1) year from the date of Allotment. Except for the customary lock-in on our ability to issue equity or equity-linked securities discussed in “Capital Structure” beginning on page 104, there is no restriction on disposal of Equity Shares by promoters. As such, there can be no assurance that our Company will refrain from issuing additional Equity Shares after the expiration of the lock-in period or that our Promoters will not sell, pledge, or encumber their Equity Shares post-lock-in. Future issuance of Equity Shares or convertible securities, and the subsequent sale of the underlying Equity Shares, could dilute the shareholding of existing Shareholders and negatively impact the trading price of our Equity Shares. Additionally, such securities may be issued at prices lower than the prevailing trading price of our Equity Shares or the Offer Price. Any sale of Equity Shares by the Promoter could further adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

75. You will not be able to immediately sell any of the Equity Shares you purchase in this Offer on the Stock Exchanges.

The Equity Shares will be listed on the Stock Exchange in compliance with applicable Indian laws and practices. Listing permission will only be granted once the Equity Shares offered have been issued, allotted, and all necessary documentation submitted to the Stock Exchanges. Additionally, certain procedural actions must be completed before the listing and trading of Equity Shares can commence. For instance, the credit of Equity Shares to investors' dematerialized ("demat") accounts with their depository participants in India is expected to occur within one (1) Working Day of finalizing the Basis of Allotment with the Designated Stock Exchange. Furthermore, the allotment process and credit of the Equity Shares to applicants' demat accounts may take up to Two (2) Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date. Upon receipt of listing and trading approval from the Stock Exchanges, trading in the Equity Shares is anticipated to begin within three (3) Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval or otherwise commence trading in Equity Shares would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares. We cannot assure you that the Equity Shares will be credited to investors' demat accounts or that trading in the Equity Shares will commence in a timely manner (as specified herein) or at all. We could also be required to pay interest at the applicable rates if the allotment is not made, refund orders are not dispatched or demat credits are not made to investors within the prescribed time periods.

76. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of our Equity Shares.

Under the current Indian Tax Laws and Regulations, Capital Gains arising on the sale of Equity Shares of an Indian Company are generally taxable in India. Any Capital Gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares on a stock exchange held for more than 12 months shall be subject to capital gains tax in India at 12.50% (on the gains in excess of ₹125,000) if Securities Transaction Tax (STT) has been paid on both acquisition and transfer of such shares. STT shall be levied on and collected by a domestic stock exchange on which the equity shares are sold. Any gain realised on the sale of equity shares held for more than 12 months by an Indian resident, which are sold other than on a recognized stock exchange provided no STT has been paid, will be subject to long term capital gain tax in India. However, any capital gain realized on the sale of listed Equity Shares held for a period of 12 months or less shall be subject to short term capital gains tax in India and are taxed at 20%. Provided Further, any gain realised on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less which are sold on other than on a recognised stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid, shall be subject to short term capital gains tax at a relatively higher rate as compared to the transaction where STT has been paid in India.

Taxation of Capital Gains is subject to the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961, as amended from time to time, and changes introduced through successive Finance Acts. Any amendment in the tax regime, including an increase in capital gains tax rates, whether through the Finance Act or other legislative measures, could adversely impact the post-tax returns of investors in our equity shares. Given the evolving fiscal and economic policies, there is a possibility that future amendments may result in higher tax rates or reduced exemptions, thereby affecting the overall attractiveness of equity investments. Investors should consider potential changes in tax laws while making investment decisions.

77. QIBs and Non-Institutional Bidders are not permitted to withdraw or lower their Bids (in terms of quantity of Equity Shares or the Bid Amount) at any stage after submitting a Bid and Retail Individual Investors are not permitted to withdraw their Bids after Bid/Offer Closing Date.

Under the SEBI ICDR Regulations, Qualified Institutional Buyers (QIBs) and Non-Institutional Bidders are not permitted to withdraw or reduce their Bids (in terms of the quantity of Equity Shares or the Bid Amount) after submitting a Bid. Retail Individual Bidders, however, are allowed to revise their Bids during the Bid/Offer Period and withdraw their Bids until the Bid/Offer Closing Date. Although we are required to complete the Allotment, listing, and commencement of trading of Equity Shares within three (3) Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date, unforeseen events may occur during this period. Such events, including adverse changes in international or national monetary policy, financial, political, or economic conditions, or developments in our business, financial condition, results of operations, or cash flows, may affect the Bidders' decision to invest. Notwithstanding these events, we may proceed with the Allotment, listing, and commencement of trading of our Equity Shares. These developments could restrict the Bidders' ability to sell their Equity Shares allotted pursuant to the Offer or result in a decline in the trading price of our Equity Shares upon listing.

Retail Individual Investors are permitted to revise their Bids during the Bid/Offer Period and withdraw their Bids until the Bid/Offer Closing Date. While our Company is obligated to complete all formalities related to the listing and commencement of trading of the Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges where such Equity Shares are proposed to be listed, including the Allotment pursuant to the Offer, within three (3) Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date, certain events may arise during this period. These events, including material adverse changes in international or national monetary policy, financial, political, or economic conditions, or changes in our business, results of operations, or financial condition, may influence the Bidders' decision to invest in the Equity Shares. Our Company may complete the Allotment of the Equity Shares even if such events occur, and such events limit the Bidders' ability to sell the Equity Shares Allotted pursuant to the Offer or cause the trading price of the Equity Shares to decline on listing.

- 78. *The Equity Shares have never been publicly traded, and, after the Offer, the Equity Shares may experience price and volume fluctuations, and an active trading market for the Equity Shares may not develop. Further, the price of the Equity Shares may be volatile, and you may be unable to resell the Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price, or at all.

Prior to the Offer, there has been no public market for the Equity Shares, and there is no guarantee that an active trading market will develop or be maintained on the Stock Exchanges after the Offer. The listing and quotation of the Equity Shares do not ensure the creation of a market, nor do they guarantee liquidity in the market for the shares. The Offer Price will be determined through the book-building process as per SEBI ICDR Regulations and may not reflect the market price at the time trading begins or at any point thereafter. The market price of the Equity Shares could experience significant fluctuations due to various factors, including changes in our operating performance, market conditions specific to our industry, developments in India, volatility in global securities markets, fluctuations in financial indicators, variations in earnings or revenue projections by analysts, and changes in economic, legal, or regulatory conditions.

- 79. *The Offer Price of the Equity Shares may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares after the Offer.

The Offer Price of the Equity Shares will be determined by our Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Manager (BRLM) through the Book Building Process. This price will be influenced by various factors, as detailed under the "Basis for Offer Price" beginning on page 155, and may not necessarily reflect the market price of the Equity Shares post-offer. The market price of the Equity Shares may fluctuate significantly after the Offer and could fall below the offer Price. We cannot assure you that the investor will be able to resell their Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price.

- 80. *There is no guarantee that our Equity Shares will be listed on the BSE and NSE in a timely manner or at all.

In accordance with Indian law, permission for listing and trading of our Equity Shares will not be granted until after certain actions have been completed in relation to this Offer and until allotment of Equity Shares pursuant to this Offer. In accordance with current regulations and circulars issued by SEBI, our Equity Shares are required to be listed on the BSE and NSE within such time as mandated under UPI Circulars, subject to any change in the prescribed timeline in this regard. However, we cannot assure you that the trading in our Equity Shares will commence in a timely manner or at all.

- 81. *Holders of Equity Shares could be restricted in their ability to exercise pre-emptive rights under Indian law and could thereby suffer future dilution of their ownership position.

Under the Companies Act, 2013 a company incorporated in India must offer holders of its Equity Shares pre-emptive rights to subscribe and pay for a proportionate number of Equity Shares to maintain their existing ownership percentages prior to the issuance of any new Equity Shares, unless the pre-emptive rights have been waived by the adoption of a special resolution by holders of three-fourths of the Equity Shares who have voted on such resolution. However, if the law of the jurisdiction that investors are in does not permit the exercise of such pre-emptive rights without us filing an offering document or registration statement with the applicable authority in such jurisdiction, they will be unable to exercise such pre-emptive rights unless we make such a filing. We may elect not to file a registration statement in relation to pre-emptive rights otherwise available by Indian law to investors. To the extent that investors are unable to exercise pre-emptive rights granted in respect of the Equity Shares, they may suffer future dilution of their ownership position and their proportional interests in us would be reduced.

In case of a shortfall in the Net Proceeds or any increase in the actual utilisation of funds earmarked for the Objects, our Company may explore a range of options including utilizing our internal accruals and/or seeking additional debt from existing and/or other lenders, subject to compliance with applicable law. Details of the Objects of the Fresh Issue

Pursuant to the terms of the borrowing arrangements, pre-payment of certain indebtedness may attract pre-payment charges as prescribed by the respective lender. Any payment towards such pre-payment charges, as applicable, along with interest and other related costs, shall be made from the internal accruals of our Company.

Further, given the nature of the borrowings and the terms of pre-payment or repayment, the aggregate outstanding amounts under the borrowings availed by our Company, may vary from time to time, and our Company in accordance with the relevant repayment schedule, may prepay/repay or refinance its existing borrowings from one or more lenders in the ordinary course of business, prior to filing of the Red Herring Prospectus. In addition, our Company is of the view that the improved debt-equity ratio will enable us to raise further resources at competitive rates and additional funds/ capital in the future to fund potential business development opportunities and plans to grow and expand our business in the future. The selection of borrowings proposed to be prepaid or repaid amongst our borrowing arrangements availed will be based on various factors, including (i) cost of the borrowing, including applicable interest rates, (ii) any conditions attached to the borrowings restricting our ability to prepay/ repay the borrowings and time taken to fulfil, or obtain waivers for fulfilment of such conditions, (iii) receipt of consents for pre-payment from the respective lenders, (iv) terms and conditions of such consents and waivers, (v) levy of any pre-payment penalties and the quantum thereof, (vi) provisions of any laws, rules and regulations governing such borrowings, and (vii) other commercial considerations including, among others, the amount of the borrowings outstanding and the remaining tenor of the borrowings. The following overview is not exhaustive or comprehensive and is not intended to be a substitute for professional advice.

SECTION IV – ABOUT THE COMPANY

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

1. Global macroeconomic overview

As per the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the size of global economy is projected to reach USD 126.3 trillion in CY2026 (in nominal terms) and continue to grow to USD 158.4 trillion in CY2031 (in nominal terms) at a CAGR of ~4.6%. According to the IMF's April 2026 World Economic Outlook, global economic momentum, which had shown resilience driven by strong labour markets, steady incomes and robust household consumption in major economies, has moderated amid heightened geopolitical tensions and energy supply disruptions. While disinflation had been progressing and inflation was nearing target levels in many advanced economies, renewed supply-side shocks particularly from elevated energy prices have slowed this trend. As a result, central banks remain cautious, with only limited and gradual shifts toward monetary policy easing, contingent on inflation becoming durably anchored and financial conditions stabilizing.

CY2026 (E)- E is estimated

Note: F-Forecasted; data from CY2027-2031 are forecasted

As per the IMF, World Economic Outlook published in April 2026, the Global growth is anticipated to decrease from an estimated 3.4% in CY2025 to 3.1% in CY2026, subsequently rebounding to 3.2% in CY2027. This outlook is weaker than the projections presented in the World Economic Outlook Update of January 2026, with the IMF lowering global growth for CY2026 to 3.1 per cent, from earlier expectations of about 3.3-3.4 %. The downgrades are broad-based, affecting most advanced and emerging economies, and reflect the abrupt loss of growth momentum following heightened geopolitical tensions and trade disruptions, particularly those linked to energy supply shocks and trade route uncertainty.

The global economy is facing a complex mix of interconnected challenges, including geopolitical tensions, higher interest rates, elevated debt-to-GDP ratios, and limited monetary and fiscal policy flexibility. Together, these pressures are weighing on global GDP growth. Key factors include:

- Inflationary Pressures: Global headline inflation is projected at 4.4% in CY2026. Although inflation has eased from earlier peaks, it remains elevated due to energy shocks linked to the Middle East conflict. Inflation in advanced economies is expected to stay around 3-4%, while emerging markets may face higher price pressures of about 5-6%. Disinflation continues, but it remains vulnerable to renewed spikes in oil and gas prices, financial market disruptions, and worsening geopolitical tensions.
- Monetary & Fiscal Policies: After tightening between 2022 and 2024, central banks are cautiously moving toward more neutral policy settings. However, with inflation still persistent, many are likely to keep policy tight well into 2026. In emerging markets, policy paths are diverging, as some central banks may be able to ease while others may delay due to inflation risks. Fiscal policy also remains constrained, with global public debt projected to approach 100% of GDP by 2028, limiting room for broad stimulus. The IMF therefore continues to emphasize targeted support, particularly for energy-importing emerging markets.
- Financial Market Volatility: Financial market volatility rose sharply in early 2026 as investors repriced assets in response to changing inflation expectations and energy-related disruptions. This led to equity declines, higher bond yields, and wider risk spreads. Although markets have remained orderly so far, the IMF warns that prolonged shocks could create liquidity stress and trigger further volatility.
- Geopolitical Crises: The IMF's April 2026 World Economic Outlook identifies the Middle East conflict, particularly disruptions around the Strait of Hormuz, as a major downside risk to global growth. These developments have contributed to the downgrade in global growth forecasts for CY2026. Rising military spending, trade fragmentation, and social instability in lower-income countries could add to these pressures and slow reform efforts.
- Commodity Price Increases: Disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz and damage to regional energy infrastructure have pushed energy prices significantly higher. Under the base-case scenario, energy commodity prices are expected to rise by about 19% in 2026, contributing to headline inflation of 4.4%. If the conflict persists, inflation could climb above 5-6% and global growth could slow sharply to as low as 2-2.5%.

*India's value in IMF document is given in terms of fiscal year. Eg- CY2020 is FY2021 for India

Global real GDP growth stood at ~3.4% in CY2025 and is expected to moderate to 3.1% in CY2026, before edging up to 3.2% in CY2027. The sharp escalation in trade tensions and exceptionally elevated policy uncertainty is expected to significantly weigh on global economic activity. Thereafter, growth is projected to remain broadly stable at around ~3.1% through CY2031, supported primarily by monetary policy easing and strong private consumption.

• Growth trend in Advanced Economies

- Real GDP growth in advanced economies was about 1.9% in CY2025 and is projected to ease to around 1.8% in CY2026 and 1.7% in CY2027, before gradually moderating to about 1.5% by CY2031. In the United States, growth was about 2.1% in CY2025 and is expected to rise to around 2.3% in CY2026, supported by gradual expansion despite persistent policy and trade-related uncertainty. It is then projected to soften to about 2.1% in CY2027 and stabilize at roughly 1.8% through CY2031.

- Europe recovered from GDP growth of 0.9% in CY2024 to 1.4% in CY2025, but growth is expected to slow to 1.1% in CY2026 before improving slightly to 1.2% in CY2027. Within the Euro area, France, Italy, and Spain recorded growth of 0.9%, 0.5%, and 2.8%, respectively, in CY2025 and are expected to post similar rates in CY2026. Germany grew by 0.2% in CY2025 and is projected to improve to 0.8% in CY2026.
- Among other advanced economies, the United Kingdom recorded real GDP growth of about 1.3% in CY2025. Growth is expected to slow to around 0.8% in CY2026 before returning to about 1.3% in CY2027.

- Growth trend in emerging market and developing economies

- Real GDP growth in emerging market and developing economies was 4.4% in CY2025 and is projected to slow to 3.9% in CY2026 before recovering to 4.2% in CY2027, with notable downgrades for countries most affected by recent trade measures, including China. Growth in emerging and developing Asia is expected to moderate from about 5.5% in CY2025 to around 4.9%. The region, especially ASEAN economies, has been among the hardest hit by the latest tariff changes.
- In Sub-Saharan Africa, GDP growth was a healthy 4.5% in CY2025 and is projected at 4.3% in CY2026. Within the region, South Africa and Nigeria grew by 1.1% and 4.0%, respectively, in CY2025, and are expected to record about 1.0% and 4.1%, respectively, in CY2026.
- By contrast, growth in emerging and developing Europe stood at about 2.0% in CY2025 and is projected to remain broadly stable at around 2.0% in CY2026. In Latin America and the Caribbean, real GDP growth is expected to edge down from about 2.4% in CY2025 to 2.3% in CY2026, before improving to around 2.7% thereafter.

- Growth trend in India

- India remains the fastest-growing major economy. Real GDP growth moved from about 7.2% in CY2023 to 7.1% in CY2024, before rising to 7.6% in CY2025. According to the IMF, growth is projected at around 6.5% in both CY2026 and CY2027, supported by private consumption, particularly in rural areas. This momentum is expected to remain broadly stable through CY2031, with growth holding near 6.5%.

2. Domestic Economic overview

2.1 Trend in GDP growth in India and its Outlook

India's real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is projected to grow by 7.7% in FY2026, according to the Provisional Estimates (PE) released by the National Statistical Office (NSO), Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI), in June 2026. This represents a marginal upward revision from the earlier estimate of 7.6% published in February 2026. With this revision, real GDP is estimated to reach INR 322.12 trillion.

In FY2025, India's real GDP grew by 7.1%, compared with 7.2% in FY2024. This made FY2025 the third consecutive year in which real GDP growth remained at or above 7.0%, underscoring the economy's sustained resilience.

This growth momentum has been supported by several factors:

- Strong domestic demand: Resilient private consumption and sustained public capital expenditure have remained key growth drivers.
- Sectoral strength: Improved data coverage in the revised series points to a stronger contribution from the manufacturing and services sectors.
- Structural reforms: Measures such as digitalisation, GST-led formalisation, and continued emphasis on infrastructure development have reinforced economic activity.
- External and productivity support: India's increasing participation in global value chains, rising foreign investment inflows, and greater focus on innovation and productivity have further strengthened the growth outlook.

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) also expects India to remain the world's fastest-growing major economy, projecting annual growth of 6.5% from FY2028 to FY2031.

The Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), in its policy announcement on 5 June 2026 delivered by Governor Sanjay Malhotra, revised India's real GDP growth forecast for FY2026-27 to 6.6%, down from the 6.9% estimate projected in April 2026.

This downward revision reflects increasing external pressures, including elevated global energy prices, persistent geopolitical tensions in West Asia, disruptions in supply chains, and weather-related uncertainties such as the possibility of a sub-normal monsoon.

The quarterly growth projections were also adjusted downward, with GDP growth now expected at 6.6% in Q1, 6.3% in Q2, 6.5% in Q3, and 6.8% in Q4 of FY2026-27.

Despite these revisions, the RBI emphasized that the domestic economy remains resilient. Strong private consumption, consistent fixed investment, robust services exports, and a gradual improvement in manufacturing activity continue to support overall economic momentum.

Overall, the June 2026 policy assessment presents a more cautious and pragmatic growth outlook, balancing solid domestic fundamentals against rising global and supply-side risks, while indicating a gradual moderation from the elevated growth levels seen in recent years.

Note: FY2025 (FRE) is the First Revised Estimates, FY2026(PE) is the Provisional Estimates, released by the National Statistical Office (NSO)

India's nominal GDP has recorded consistent growth from FY2023 to FY2026 (PE), marking a strong recovery following the pandemic-induced slowdown. Starting at INR 261.2 trillion in FY2023, it is projected to reach INR 346.4 trillion by FY2026, reflecting a robust compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 7.3% over the four-year period.

The estimated year-on-year growth of 8.9% in FY2025-26 underscores strengthening aggregate income levels, supported by broad-based economic activity and rising nominal demand.

2.2 Trend in Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE)

Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE) at constant (2022-23) prices is estimated to have risen consistently from INR 166.99 trillion in FY2025 to INR 179.93 trillion in FY2026, indicating a steady increase in real consumer spending. On a year-on-year (YoY) basis, PFCE growth accelerated to 7.7% in FY2026 over FY2025, reflecting stronger consumption demand and an improvement in overall economic momentum.

This growth in private consumption is driven by a combination of structural and cyclical factors, including the expansion of the middle-class population, rising disposable incomes that enhance spending capacity, and improved access to credit and financing options, which support both consumption and asset creation. Government initiatives such as the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana and Ayushman Bharat Yojana have also contributed to sustaining consumption levels.

Additionally, advancements in technology, along with the increasing penetration of digital payments and financial innovations, have streamlined consumption patterns and improved spending efficiency.

Private consumption remains a key contributor to India's GDP, and its continued expansion plays a crucial role in driving economic growth. The rising YoY growth trend highlights the resilience of domestic demand and points to a positive outlook for the broader economy.

2.3 Trend in Per capita Net National Income (NNI)

As per the latest estimates from the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI), India's per capita Net National Income (NNI) at constant (2022-23) prices rose to INR 0.19 million in FY2026 (PE) from INR 0.18 million in FY2025, reflecting a year-on-year growth of 6.8%.

The increase in per capita income is expected to have a transformative impact on the country's economic trajectory. Growth is likely to be driven by a combination of expanding external trade, strengthening household consumption, and rising investment activity. As income levels improve, the middle-class base is expected to expand significantly, creating new opportunities across various sectors. This, in turn, will enhance living standards, boost savings, and support higher capital formation, thereby reinforcing the pace as well as the sustainability of overall economic growth.

2.4 Review of inflation in India

Chart: CPI trend over the past years, FY2016-FY2025 (Base Year 2011-12)

Source: RBI, MOSPI, ICRA Analytics

Note: F-Forecasted

Retail inflation in India, as measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI), which reflects the cost of everyday goods and services, has exhibited a steady downward trend over the past three financial years. Inflation moderated from 6.7% in FY2023 to 5.4% in FY2024, and further to 4.6% in FY2025. This sustained decline underscores the combined impact of the Reserve Bank of India's calibrated monetary policy and the Government of India's targeted measures to address supply-side constraints and stabilise essential commodity prices. The easing inflation trajectory has helped reduce cost-of-living pressures and contributed to a more stable macroeconomic environment.

In its policy announcement on 5 June 2026, the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the RBI retained the repo rate at 5.25%, maintaining a neutral stance, while revising its inflation projections for FY2026-27 and the near-term quarters:

- FY2026-27 CPI projection: raised to 5.1% from the earlier 4.6%
- Q1 FY27: revised to 4.2% (from 4.0%)
- Q2 FY27: updated to 5.1% (from 4.4%)
- Q3 FY27: now projected at 5.9% (from ~5.2%)
- Q4 FY27: increased to 5.4% (from ~4.7%)

On the supply side, the MPC reiterated that core inflation (excluding precious metals) remains well-contained. This stability is supported by favourable food dynamics, including robust kharif output, adequate buffer stocks, strong rabi sowing, and healthy reservoir levels.

Overall, the revised policy stance and inflation outlook suggest that, while current inflationary pressures remain moderate, the trajectory for FY2027 has shifted upward. There is no clear easing bias, and the RBI has indicated a data-dependent, meeting-by-meeting approach, with readiness to respond proactively to persistent inflationary pressures and evolving external risks.

2.5 Review of Foreign Direct Investments (FDI) in India

India has emerged as a key global destination for foreign direct investment over the past decade, supported by economic reforms, a large consumer market, and improving ease of doing business. Between FY2017 and FY2022, FDI inflows witnessed steady growth from around USD 60.2 billion in FY2017 to a peak of ~USD 84.8 billion in FY2022, driven by strong investments in services, digital platforms and manufacturing.

However, in the subsequent period, inflows showed some moderation due to global uncertainties and normalization after pandemic-related spikes. FDI declined to about USD 71-72 billion in FY2023 and FY2024, reflecting weaker global investment conditions.

The trend reversed in FY2025, with inflows rising significantly to USD 80.6 billion, marking a 13.1% year-on-year increase and indicating renewed investor confidence. Further, FY2026 (latest estimates) indicate a continued strong trajectory, with gross FDI inflows reaching a record ~USD 94-95 billion, highlighting India's resilience despite global headwinds.

2.6 Key Demographic Indicators Overview in India

2.6.1 Demographic overview of India

India, the world's seventh-largest country by land area, has a population of about 1.46 billion as of CY2025 (IMF WEO, April 2026), making it the most populous country and accounting for roughly 18.1% of the global population of 8.05 billion. According to the World Population Review, India has a relatively young demographic profile, with a median age of 28 years, compared to 38 years in China and the United States, and 48 years in Japan. With its large and growing population, along with increasing emphasis on skill development, literacy and education, India holds strong potential to emerge as a major economic powerhouse.

Chart: India's population trend and forecast (persons in billions) with y-o-y growth (in %)

Source: IMF, Worldometer, ICRA Analytics

Note: F: Forecasted

In CY2026, India's population is projected to rise further to approximately 1.48 billion (IMF WEO, April 2026), sustaining its position as the world's most populous country after overtaking China in CY2024. Over the past decade, India's population growth rate has steadily moderated, influenced by factors such as increasing urbanization, higher levels of education, and gradual poverty reduction. Looking ahead, population growth is expected to stabilise at a slower pace, with growth estimated at 1.1% in CY2026, easing to 0.9% in CY2027.

In the long term, this trend of gradual deceleration is expected to continue, with the growth rate projected to decline to 0.7% by CY2035 and further to 0.6% by CY2040, indicating a sustained but moderating expansion of India's demographic base.

Chart: Indian population by age group (both genders)

Note: P: Projected

Source: UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs, World Population Prospects 2024, ICRA Analytics

The population aged below 25 years is projected to account for approximately 38.6% of India's total population by CY2030, creating a substantial pool of potential consumers, particularly for sectors such as travel and tourism. Additionally, the share of the population in the 25-49 age group stood at around 37% in CY2023 and is expected to increase to ~38% by CY2030, reflecting strong prospects for higher earning capacity and disposable income.

The expanding proportion of working-age individuals, combined with overall economic growth, is likely to broaden the consumer base for industries such as entertainment, cruising, and lifestyle products, thereby supporting increased spending in consumer-driven sectors. Rising disposable incomes are also expected to drive higher expenditure on luxury and leisure, as consumers focus on enhancing their quality of life and lifestyle experiences.

Chart: Urban V/s Rural Indian Population (both genders)

Source: Worldometer, ICRA Analytics

Note: E-Estimated, F: Forecast

India's urban population has been steadily rising and is expected to maintain this trajectory alongside economic growth. According to Worldometer data, the share of people living in cities is projected to increase from about 34.9% in CY2020 to nearly 40% by CY2030. This growth is driven by migration from rural areas, as individuals and families relocate to cities in search of improved employment opportunities, education and living standards. Migration may involve entire households or specific members, such as working individuals or students.

This demographic shift expands the addressable market for businesses targeting urban consumers, especially in sectors such as retail, luxury goods and services. At the same time, the narrowing gap between rural and urban consumption expenditure indicates rising purchasing power in rural areas. As a result, demand for products and services such as entertainment, fast-moving consumer durables (FMCD), and fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) which were traditionally associated with urban markets, is also growing in rural India.\

2.6.2 Growth Trends in India's Transportation and Mobility Services Sector

Note: FE: Final estimates, FRE: Final revised estimates

The transport, storage, communication and services related to broadcasting sector contributed between 5.6% and 6.5% to India's total GVA during FY2019-FY2024, indicating a relatively stable share over time. The sector witnessed a temporary decline to 5.6% in FY2021 from 6.5% in FY2020, reflecting the disruption caused by the pandemic, but recovered to 6.2% in FY2022 and remained broadly steady thereafter.

Within the sector, road transport accounted for the largest share, although it moderated from 3.3% in FY2019 to 2.9% in FY2024. In contrast, communication and broadcasting-related services increased from 1.5% to 1.8% over the same period, highlighting the rising importance of digital and communication-led activities. Other segments such as railways and services incidental to transport remained stable, while water transport, air transport and storage continued to contribute only marginally.

2.7 Key Union Budget 2026-27 Announcements Relevant to the Transport and Tourism Sector

- Strengthening Transport Infrastructure and Connectivity

Transport infrastructure continues to be a pivotal enabler of tourism-led economic growth under the Union Budget 2026-27 framework. Strategic investments are focused on enhancing accessibility, sustainability, and seamless multimodal mobility across key tourist corridors.

- Rail and regional connectivity expansion: Accelerated development of high-speed rail corridors, semi-high-speed networks (e.g., Vande Bharat expansion), and enhanced last-mile rail connectivity to remote, aspirational, and emerging tourist destinations, including hill stations, heritage sites, and coastal regions.
- Electric bus deployment and green mobility: Scaled deployment of electric buses and EV-based public transport systems in major tourism hubs, pilgrimage circuits, and eco-sensitive zones to promote low-emission, sustainable travel experiences.
- Integrated transport planning: Greater convergence between transport infrastructure planning and tourism development through coordinated efforts across ministries to ensure seamless multimodal connectivity (rail, road, air, inland waterways) and improved first- and last-mile access.

- Road infrastructure and tourism corridors: Continued expansion of national highways, expressways, and border roads under flagship programs to improve access to high-potential tourism regions, including heritage circuits, wildlife reserves, and spiritual destinations.
- Regional air connectivity (UDAN expansion): The UDAN scheme has significantly improved regional air connectivity by making air travel affordable and accessible to a wider population. Under its revamped framework, it aims to connect 120 additional destinations and serve nearly four crore passengers over the next decade. The initiative focuses on developing airports, helipads, and landing infrastructure in remote areas particularly in hilly regions, aspirational districts and the Northeast to bridge connectivity gaps, boost tourism, and support inclusive economic growth.
- Multimodal transport hubs: Development of integrated transport hubs combining railway stations, bus terminals, and airports to enable seamless transfers and improve overall traveller convenience and experience.
- Digital and smart mobility solutions: Deployment of intelligent transport systems (ITS), unified ticketing platforms, and real-time passenger information systems to enhance efficiency, transparency, and ease of travel for tourists.
- Urban mobility improvements in tourism cities: Investment in metro rail expansion, ropeways in hilly terrain, and pedestrian-friendly infrastructure in key tourist cities to improve intra-city mobility and visitor experience.
- Tax Slab Revisions and Demand Stimulus

The increase in the personal income tax exemption threshold to INR 12 lakh is expected to boost disposable incomes for middle-income households, driving higher consumption and discretionary spending. As the middle class is a key contributor to domestic tourism demand, this measure is likely to stimulate increased spending on travel and experiential tourism segments.

- Strengthening tourism-led employment and economic growth through a focus on sustainability, heritage development, and improved connectivity in Budget 2026-27
 - The tourism sector in India, recognized for its rich heritage, cultural diversity and strong multiplier effect, receives a significant strategic boost under the Union Budget 2026-27.
 - Acknowledged as a key driver of employment generation, foreign exchange earnings, and balanced regional development, tourism contributes 5.22% to India's GDP (total impact), with a direct share of 2.72%, and supports 13.34% of total employment. This underscores its vital role in fostering inclusive growth, as highlighted in the India Tourism Data Compendium 2025 by the Ministry of Tourism.
 - The Budget positions tourism as a high-impact sector by prioritizing destination development, sustainability, skill enhancement, and connectivity, with targeted measures aimed at enhancing service quality and global competitiveness.
 - Initiatives such as the development of Buddhist tourism circuits in the North-East, eco-tourism trails, and upgrades to heritage destinations are expected to transform India into a more immersive, experience-driven tourism hub.

- Measures to Facilitate Employment Led Growth

The government's focus on employment-led growth includes strengthening hospitality education through upgraded institutions, along with large-scale skill development initiatives such as training 10,000 tourist guides and continuing CBSP and IITF programmes. These measures aim to enhance workforce capabilities, improve service quality, and generate employment opportunities across tourism-dependent regions.

2.8 Overview of India's Road Infrastructure and National Highway Network

2.8.1 Contribution of the Road Transport Sector to India's Gross Value Added

The road transport sector's contribution to India's Gross Value Added (GVA) has remained relatively stable over the years, albeit with some fluctuations driven by macroeconomic conditions. Its share stood at 2.54% in FY2023, compared to 3.07% in FY2022 and a pandemic-induced low of 2.51% in FY2021. Over the broader period from FY2019 to FY2025 (First Revised Estimates), the sector's share has ranged between 2.41% and 3.28%, indicating moderate but consistent participation in the overall economy.

In absolute terms, road transport GVA at constant prices has shown a strong recovery and growth trajectory post-pandemic, increasing from INR 3,179.0 billion in FY2021 to INR 6,047.2 billion in FY2023, and further to INR 6,593.4 billion in FY2025 (FRE). This upward trend reflects rising demand for passenger and freight movement, supported by improvements in road infrastructure and economic activity across sectors.

Table: Contribution of the Road Transport Sector to India's Gross Value Added (% change)

GVA (at constant prices)	FY2019	FY2020	FY2021	FY2022	FY2023	FY2024	FY2025 (FRE)
Road transport share in GVA (%)	3.28%	3.27%	2.51%	3.07%	2.54%	2.49%	2.41%

2.8.2 Road Infrastructure Landscape in India

India has developed one of the world's largest road networks, spanning approximately 63.74 lakh kilometres. The network comprises National Highways, Expressways, State Highways, Major District Roads, Other District Roads, and Village Roads, providing critical connectivity for passenger mobility, freight transportation, tourism, and economic development across the country.

Table: Classification of India's Road Network and Connectivity Coverage

Road Category	Network Length ('000 km)	Key Connectivity Served
National Highways	146.57 (FY2026)	National capital, state capitals, major ports, border trade routes, and strategic economic corridors
State Highways	178.75 (FY2020)*	Major commercial and administrative centers within states and links to National Highways
Other Roads	6,048.26 (FY2020)*	District roads, rural roads, agricultural production centers, markets, railway stations, and local connectivity networks

- NHAI Awarding Activity in FY26

Awarding activity has exhibited considerable variability over the past decade, peaking at 17,055 km in FY2018 and 15,948 km in FY2017, before declining to 5,493 km in FY2019. It subsequently recovered to 12,731 km in FY2022 and 12,376 km in FY2023. However, the pace has moderated in recent years, with awards decreasing to 8,581 km in FY2024 and further to 7,538 km in FY2025, with only 1,951 km awarded as of November FY2026.

This slowdown reflects underlying challenges, including cost overruns in key programmes such as Bharatmala Pariyojana Phase I, driven by elevated land acquisition costs and inflationary pressures. As a result, overall project costs have risen significantly above initial estimates, necessitating revised approvals and additional funding support.

Chart: Trend in National Highway Length Awarded by NHAI

Source: PIB, ICRA Analytics

- NHAI has demonstrated consistent execution progress over the years

NHAI's execution has demonstrated strong momentum over the years, supported by a sustained focus on faster project delivery and improved operational efficiency. Highway construction activity increased significantly from 8,231 km in FY2017 to a peak of 13,327 km in FY2021, reflecting the accelerated pace of infrastructure development across the country.

While execution levels moderated in the subsequent years, construction activity remained robust, with 10,331 km completed in FY2023 and further improving to 12,349 km in FY2024, translating to an execution pace of nearly 33.8 km per day. This growth was driven by better project preparedness, timely achievement of appointed dates, and policy measures aimed at expediting land acquisition, streamlining approvals, and providing liquidity support to EPC contractors under initiatives such as Atmanirbhar Bharat.

However, execution momentum softened to 10,660 km in FY2025 (approximately 29.2 km per day) and further declined to 4,612 km as of November FY2026 (around 17.1 km per day), indicating a near-term moderation in pace. This slowdown was primarily attributable to relatively lower project awards in earlier periods, along with execution-related challenges arising from cost inflation and increasing project complexity.

Despite this recent moderation, the sector continues to benefit from a strong project pipeline and healthy order books. Over the medium term, improved awarding activity, greater private sector participation, and continued government focus on infrastructure development are expected to support stabilization and a gradual recovery in execution momentum.

3. Overview of the Indian Cab and Coach Rental Market with Focus on Luxury Transportation Services

The cab and coach rental industry in India forms an important component of the country's broader transportation and mobility services sector, providing temporary access to passenger vehicles for a diverse customer base including individual travellers, corporate organizations, educational institutions, government agencies, travel operators, and event management companies. The industry caters to a wide range of mobility requirements, spanning short-distance urban travel, intercity transportation, airport transfers, employee transportation, tourism-related travel, event mobility, and organized group transportation.

Over the years, the industry has evolved beyond traditional vehicle hiring and now encompasses a comprehensive range of mobility solutions including chauffeur-driven transportation, self-drive rentals, corporate travel services, conference and exhibition transportation, wedding mobility, VIP transfers, and customized travel arrangements. Service providers maintain fleets across multiple vehicle categories, enabling them to cater to varying customer requirements in terms of budget, group size, travel purpose, and comfort preferences. Customers typically access these services through online booking platforms, mobile applications, travel agencies, corporate contracts, and direct fleet operator relationships, with digitalization significantly enhancing booking convenience, fleet visibility, and service management capabilities.

The coach rental segment primarily serves larger passenger groups and includes vehicles such as vans, tempo travellers, minibuses, executive coaches, and luxury buses. These services are widely utilized for corporate outings, educational tours, destination weddings, religious pilgrimages, sightseeing tours, conferences, exhibitions, sporting events, and long-distance group travel. Operators generally offer a range of seating capacities and service levels, from standard transportation solutions to premium luxury coaches equipped with enhanced comfort, connectivity, and entertainment amenities.

Within the broader industry, the luxury cab and coach rental segment has emerged as one of the fastest-growing categories, supported by rising disposable incomes, increasing business travel, expanding tourism activity, growth in destination weddings and premium events, and evolving consumer preferences toward experience-led travel. Luxury mobility providers offer high-end vehicles including Mercedes-Benz, BMW, Audi, Lexus, Toyota Vellfire, luxury SUVs, and premium executive coaches equipped with advanced comfort, safety, connectivity, and entertainment features. These services are increasingly utilized for corporate travel, diplomatic visits, celebrity movement, government delegations, weddings, luxury tourism, airport transfers, and VIP transportation requirements.

In addition to conventional luxury sedans and SUVs, premium fleet offerings have expanded to include luxury people movers and executive group transportation vehicles such as the Toyota Hiace, Mercedes-Benz V-Class, Mercedes Sprinter, Toyota Coaster, and Toyota Vellfire. These vehicles are particularly suited for executive delegations, high-profile events, luxury tourism groups, family travel, and corporate team movements. Customers in the luxury segment place significant emphasis on comfort, exclusivity, reliability, professional chauffeur services, privacy, safety, and personalized travel experiences, prompting operators to continuously upgrade fleet quality, invest in technology-enabled fleet management systems, and enhance service standards. As a result, the luxury cab and coach rental market is increasingly positioning itself as a premium mobility and experience-driven segment within India's evolving transportation landscape.

Role and Significance of the Cab and Coach Rental Industry in India's Transportation Ecosystem

The cab and coach rental industry represents a critical component of India's transportation and mobility ecosystem, providing flexible, accessible, and scalable travel solutions for individuals, corporates, institutions, government bodies, and tourism stakeholders. The industry enables customers to access transportation services without the financial burden associated with vehicle ownership, maintenance, insurance, and driver management, making it an increasingly preferred mobility model in an environment characterized by rapid urbanization, evolving travel patterns, and growing demand for convenience.

The industry serves a broad spectrum of mobility requirements, ranging from daily commuting and airport transfers to long-distance intercity travel, employee transportation, tourism, conferences, exhibitions, sporting events, weddings, and large-scale social gatherings. By offering a diverse range of vehicles and service formats, the sector addresses the transportation needs of both individual travellers and organized groups across multiple end-use segments.

The cab and coach rental industry also plays an important enabling role for several key sectors of the economy, including tourism, hospitality, corporate services, education, healthcare, government administration, and event management. Reliable transportation services improve accessibility to tourist destinations, facilitate efficient employee mobility for businesses, support educational and institutional travel requirements, and enable seamless transportation management for conferences, exhibitions, conventions, weddings, sporting events, and cultural programs.

The increasing integration of rental mobility services with airports, railways, hotels, travel operators, online travel agencies, and digital mobility platforms has further strengthened the industry's position within the broader travel and tourism value chain. Consumers increasingly seek end-to-end travel experiences that combine transportation, accommodation, and itinerary management through integrated digital platforms, creating significant growth opportunities for organized rental operators.

In addition to improving transportation accessibility, the industry contributes substantially to employment generation through opportunities for drivers, fleet operators, maintenance personnel, dispatch teams, customer service professionals, tour coordinators, technology service providers, and ancillary support functions. The sector also supports a wider ecosystem comprising vehicle manufacturers, fuel suppliers, insurance companies, financial institutions, technology vendors, and infrastructure providers, thereby creating a meaningful economic multiplier effect.

The growing adoption of professionally managed transportation services also contributes to improved passenger safety, service reliability, and operational efficiency. Well-maintained fleets, trained chauffeurs, standardized operating procedures, and technology-enabled fleet management systems help enhance overall service quality while supporting better utilization of transportation assets.

Furthermore, the expansion of airports, expressways, tourism circuits, convention CENTERs, smart cities, and urban infrastructure projects under various government initiatives is expected to continue stimulating demand for organized cab and coach rental services across both urban and intercity transportation networks.

Growing Importance of Luxury Mobility within the Industry

The luxury cab and coach rental segment has emerged as one of the fastest-growing and most attractive segments within India's broader mobility market. Rising disposable incomes, increasing wealth creation, expansion of the high-net-worth individual (HNI) population, growing corporate travel expenditure, premium tourism, destination weddings, and rising demand for personalized experiences have significantly accelerated the adoption of luxury mobility services.

Luxury transportation is increasingly being viewed not merely as a mode of travel but as an extension of the overall customer experience. As consumers become more experience-oriented, demand has shifted toward premium transportation solutions that emphasize comfort, exclusivity, privacy, safety, convenience, and superior service quality.

Luxury mobility services are now widely utilized across multiple high-value use cases, including:

- Corporate travel and executive transportation
- Airport transfers for business travellers and VIP guests
- Destination weddings and luxury celebrations
- Government delegations and diplomatic visits
- Conferences, exhibitions, and international events
- Celebrity and entertainment industry transportation
- Luxury tourism and curated travel experiences
- Sporting events and tournament logistics
- High-profile family occasions and private events

Luxury cab operators typically maintain fleets comprising premium sedans, luxury SUVs, executive MPVs, and luxury vehicles such as Mercedes-Benz, BMW, Audi, Lexus, Toyota Vellfire, Range Rover, and similar high-end models. These vehicles are supported by professionally trained chauffeurs, advanced safety systems, personalized onboard amenities, and customized service offerings designed to meet the expectations of affluent customers.

Beyond traditional luxury sedans and SUVs, the premium fleet category has expanded significantly to include luxury people movers and executive group transportation solutions. Vehicles such as the Toyota Hiace, Mercedes-Benz V-Class, Mercedes-Benz Sprinter, Toyota Coaster, Force Urbania, and luxury-configured coaches are increasingly being utilized for executive delegations, corporate group transfers, international visitors, family travel, destination weddings, and premium tourism experiences.

The luxury coach segment has also witnessed increasing adoption among corporate groups, government delegations, event organizers, tourism operators, and destination wedding planners. Premium coaches are equipped with reclining seats, enhanced legroom, Wi-Fi connectivity, onboard entertainment systems, climate control, charging ports, advanced safety features, and customized hospitality services that significantly improve passenger experience during long-distance travel.

Demand for luxury mobility services has been particularly strong across major metropolitan regions, business hubs, tourism destinations, convention CENTERs, wedding destinations, and emerging affluent markets. The growing number of luxury hotels, premium resorts, convention facilities, integrated townships, and destination event venues is expected to further support long-term growth in this segment.

An important structural shift supporting the luxury rental market is the increasing preference for access-based consumption over ownership. Many consumers and corporates now prefer accessing premium vehicles on demand rather than investing in vehicle ownership, maintenance, depreciation, and fleet management. This trend has created significant opportunities for organized luxury mobility operators offering professionally managed fleets, flexible rental models, subscription-based mobility solutions, and chauffeur-driven premium transportation services.

As customer expectations continue to evolve toward experience-led consumption, luxury mobility is expected to become an increasingly important component of India's transportation ecosystem, contributing to higher service standards, greater technology adoption, and the continued formalization of the cab and coach rental industry.

The industry has undergone significant transformation over the past decade, driven by rising urbanization, increased disposable income, expansion of tourism, and rapid digital adoption.

The sector provides a wide range of services including chauffeur-driven rentals, self-drive options, corporate transportation solutions, airport transfers, intercity travel, and group mobility services. Service providers operate diversified fleets ranging from economy vehicles to premium luxury cars and large passenger coaches, allowing them to serve multiple customer segments with varying budget levels and service expectations.

3.1.1 Industry Structure and Service Delivery Models

The Indian cab services industry offers a wide range of transportation solutions designed to meet the varying mobility requirements of individuals, businesses, tourists, and institutions. Service offerings are generally classified according to the manner in which transportation is delivered and the nature of customer demand. The principal service categories include chauffeur-driven rentals, self-drive services, corporate transportation arrangements, airport transfer services, intercity travel solutions, and event-based mobility services.

The choice of service model depends on several factors, including travel purpose, trip duration, convenience requirements, budget considerations, and customer preferences. The increasing demand for flexible transportation solutions has encouraged operators to diversify their service portfolios and cater to multiple customer segments.

Self-Drive Rentals

Self-drive rental services allow customers to rent vehicles without drivers, enabling greater flexibility and independence during travel. This model has gained popularity among younger consumers, business travellers, and tourists seeking privacy and control over their travel schedules.

The segment has experienced growth in major metropolitan cities and tourism destinations where customers increasingly prefer temporary access to vehicles without the long-term commitment of ownership. Digital booking platforms and simplified rental processes have further supported the expansion of self-drive services.

Chauffeur-Driven Rentals

Chauffeur-driven services remain one of the most widely utilized categories within the Indian cab market. Under this model, customers hire vehicles together with professional drivers for a specified duration or route. These services are extensively used for corporate travel, executive transportation, tourism activities, airport transfers, and premium personal mobility requirements.

The primary advantage of this model lies in the convenience it offers, allowing passengers to focus on their activities without the responsibility of driving or navigating unfamiliar routes. Service providers typically emphasize driver training, punctuality, customer service, and vehicle quality to enhance customer satisfaction.

Event-Based Transportation Services

Event transportation solutions are designed to facilitate organized mobility during weddings, exhibitions, conferences, trade fairs, political gatherings, entertainment events, and sporting tournaments. Demand in this category is typically linked to specific occasions and often involves transportation of large groups within a limited timeframe.

Service providers frequently manage vehicle deployment, route planning, guest movement, and shuttle operations to ensure efficient transportation logistics. The segment experiences seasonal demand fluctuations based on event calendars and tourism activity.

Corporate Transportation and Long-Term Leasing

Corporate transportation services involve dedicated mobility arrangements for organizations requiring employee transportation, executive travel, or long-term vehicle access. Such arrangements are typically governed by contractual agreements extending over several months or years.

Fleet operators generally provide vehicle maintenance, driver management, replacement vehicles, and operational support, enabling businesses to access organized transportation services without investing in fleet ownership. This model has become particularly important for large enterprises, multinational corporations, and business process outsourcing companies.

Airport Transfer Services

Airport transfer services provide dedicated transportation between airports and destinations such as hotels, offices, residences, and commercial districts. These services are particularly important for business travellers, tourists, and corporate executives who require dependable and time-sensitive transportation.

Advance scheduling, flight tracking, and punctual service delivery are critical success factors within this category. Airport transfer services are often offered through online booking platforms, travel agencies, hotels, and specialized transportation providers.

3.1.3 Operational Models

The Indian cab industry operates through various business models, each characterized by different ownership structures, investment requirements, and operating frameworks.

Driver-Partner Model

Under this arrangement, individual drivers own or lease vehicles and operate through mobility platforms or transportation networks. Revenue is shared between the platform and participating drivers. The model enables rapid expansion with lower capital investment requirements.

Company-Owned Fleet Model

In this model, transportation companies directly own and manage vehicle fleets. This approach provides greater control over fleet quality, maintenance standards, driver behaviour, and customer experience.

Company-owned operators often focus on corporate clients, airport transfers, luxury transportation, and premium mobility services where service consistency is a critical competitive factor.

Aggregator-Based Model

Under the aggregator model, technology platforms act as intermediaries between customers and vehicle owners or drivers. These platforms generally do not own vehicles directly but facilitate bookings, payments, route allocation, and customer support through digital applications.

This model has gained widespread adoption due to its scalability, convenience, and ability to connect large customer bases with transportation providers.

Franchise-Based Model

Franchise arrangements allow operators to expand geographically through partnerships with regional transportation providers operating under a common brand identity. Standardized operating procedures, branding guidelines, and quality requirements help maintain consistency across locations.

3.1.5 Indian Cab Services Market: Industry Overview

The Indian cab services industry has recorded strong growth over the past few years, driven by increasing urban transportation needs, rising domestic travel, improving road connectivity, and greater adoption of app-based mobility platforms. What was once viewed primarily as a mode of transportation has gradually become an integral part of the broader travel and mobility ecosystem. Today, cab operators cater to diverse customer segments across metropolitan areas, suburban markets, commercial districts, airports, and tourist destinations, providing convenient and flexible mobility solutions for both individual and corporate users.

The industry faced a significant setback during the Covid-19 pandemic, with market size declining sharply from approximately Rs. 1,151 billion in FY2020 to Rs. 303 billion in FY2021 as lockdowns and travel restrictions severely impacted mobility demand. Following the easing of restrictions, however, the sector witnessed a robust recovery, reaching nearly Rs. 1,340 billion in FY2023 and expanding further to around Rs. 1,742 billion in FY2025. The market is estimated to have grown to approximately Rs. 1,935 billion in FY2026, representing a CAGR of about 9.0% over FY2020-FY2026. This growth has been supported by rising disposable incomes among middle-income households, increasing daily commuting requirements, a revival in tourism activity, advancements in digital booking technologies, and the growing availability of affordable transportation options through organized operators and mobility aggregators.

Looking ahead, the Indian cab services market is expected to maintain its growth momentum and reach approximately Rs 2,750-2,850 billion by FY2030, reflecting a projected CAGR of nearly 9.8% during FY2026-FY2030. Key growth drivers are likely to include continued urbanization, increasing business and leisure travel, rising demand for airport and intercity transportation, and the ongoing expansion of organized mobility platforms across the country.

Within the broader market, the luxury cab segment is anticipated to grow at a comparatively faster pace. Demand is expected to be supported by the expanding population of HNIs and UHNIs, increasing consumer preference for premium experiences, stronger demand from corporate and MICE travel, and sustained activity in luxury tourism, weddings, and large-scale events. In response, luxury mobility providers are strengthening their offerings through upgraded fleets comprising premium sedans, SUVs, and chauffeur-driven luxury vehicles, aimed at meeting customer expectations for superior comfort, exclusivity, and personalized travel experiences.

3.1.6 Overview of the Organized and Unorganized Cab Services Market

The Indian cab services market is characterized by the coexistence of organized and unorganized operators, both of which play an important role in meeting the country's transportation requirements. While organized operators have expanded rapidly through technology adoption and standardized service offerings, the unorganized sector continues to maintain a significant presence, particularly in smaller cities and rural markets.

The relative importance of each segment varies across regions, customer categories, and travel requirements. Organized operators generally focus on scale, service consistency, and technology integration, whereas unorganized operators often compete through local market knowledge, flexibility, and competitive pricing.

Organized Sector

The organized segment comprises structured transportation providers operating under established brands with standardized operating procedures. This segment includes app-based mobility aggregators, corporate transportation providers, fleet management companies, and organized rental service operators.

Operators in this category typically utilize digital booking platforms, GPS-enabled fleet tracking systems, cashless payment infrastructure, and centralized customer support functions. Standardized pricing mechanisms, professionally managed fleets, and compliance with regulatory requirements contribute to higher service consistency and customer confidence.

The organized sector has witnessed significant growth due to increasing smartphone penetration, digital payment adoption, and rising customer preference for reliable and transparent transportation services. Corporate clients, business travellers, tourists, and premium mobility users constitute a substantial portion of the customer base served by organized operators.

In addition, organized companies often possess stronger financial resources, enabling investments in technology, fleet modernization, customer experience enhancement, and geographic expansion.

Unorganized Sector

The unorganized segment consists primarily of independent taxi operators, owner-driver vehicles, local travel agencies, and small fleet owners operating within specific geographic markets.

Unlike organized operators, businesses in this segment typically rely on direct customer relationships, referrals, taxi stands, local networks, and telephone-based bookings to generate demand. Pricing structures are often negotiated directly between service providers and customers.

The unorganized sector remains particularly important in Tier II, Tier III, and rural markets where digital penetration may be lower and customer relationships play a greater role in service selection. These operators often possess strong local market knowledge and provide customized services tailored to regional requirements.

However, the segment faces challenges related to limited scalability, inconsistent service quality, lower technology adoption, and varying levels of regulatory compliance.

Organized vs. Unorganized Cab Sector in India

Criteria	Organized Sector	Unorganized Sector
Ownership Model	Fleet vehicles are typically owned directly by operators or procured through leasing arrangements. Operations are managed through centralized systems that enable fleet monitoring, vehicle allocation, maintenance scheduling, and driver management.	Vehicles are generally owned by individual operators or small fleet owners managing a limited number of vehicles. Operations are largely dependent on personal supervision with limited adoption of structured fleet management practices.
Technology Adoption	Operators extensively utilize digital infrastructure including mobile booking applications, fleet management software, GPS-enabled tracking systems, automated dispatch platforms, digital payment solutions, and customer relationship management tools to improve operational efficiency and customer experience.	Technology adoption remains relatively limited. Bookings are commonly generated through direct calls, local agents, or referrals. While UPI payments are increasingly accepted, the use of GPS tracking, digital fleet management systems, and automated booking platforms remains inconsistent.
Pricing Structure	Pricing is generally standardized and technology-driven, with fares determined based on factors such as travel distance, duration, vehicle category, route, and prevailing demand conditions. Customers typically receive transparent fare estimates, digital invoices, and electronic payment options.	Pricing is often negotiated directly with customers and may vary depending on travel requirements, seasonality, local market conditions, customer relationships, and vehicle availability. Formal billing mechanisms may be limited.

Criteria	Organized Sector	Unorganized Sector
Fleet Maintenance and Compliance	Vehicles are maintained through scheduled servicing programs and periodic inspections in accordance with manufacturer recommendations. Regulatory requirements relating to permits, insurance, fitness certificates, and pollution norms are generally monitored and renewed systematically.	Maintenance practices are often driven by operational necessity and cost considerations. Servicing schedules may be irregular, and compliance documentation such as permits, insurance, and fitness certifications may not always be managed through formal processes.
Geographic Presence	Organized operators are primarily concentrated in metropolitan cities, airports, business hubs, tourism CENTERS, and major Tier I and Tier II cities where demand visibility and customer volumes are relatively higher.	Operations are largely concentrated in Tier III cities, smaller towns, pilgrimage destinations, rural regions, and local markets where organized operators have relatively lower penetration.
Target Customer Base	The sector primarily caters to corporate clients, business travellers, airport passengers, tourists, event organizers, government institutions, and customers seeking reliability, service consistency, and technology-enabled booking experiences.	The customer base largely comprises local travellers, budget-conscious consumers, wedding and event customers, regional tourists, and individuals preferring traditional operator relationships and offline booking channels.
Revenue Sources	Revenue is generated through corporate contracts, airport transfers, employee transportation services, tourism packages, app-based bookings, subscription programs, event transportation, and strategic B2B partnerships. Structured invoicing and contract-based billing are common.	Revenue is predominantly derived from local customer networks, seasonal tourism demand, weddings, pilgrimage travel, repeat customers, referrals, and short-term transportation assignments. Business generation is often relationship driven.
Customer Service and Support	Organized operators generally offer structured customer support through dedicated helplines, mobile applications, feedback systems, service-level protocols, complaint resolution mechanisms, and digital communication channels.	Customer service is primarily relationship-based and managed through direct interaction with vehicle owners or local operators. Formal grievance redressal mechanisms and structured support systems are generally limited.

The cab services industry operates through a multi-stage value chain involving vehicle manufacturers, financiers, fleet operators, technology providers, drivers, and end customers. Each participant contributes to service delivery and overall market efficiency.

Vehicle Procurement

The value chain begins with vehicle manufacturers and dealerships supplying vehicles to fleet operators, leasing companies, and individual drivers. Financing institutions often play a crucial role by providing loans and leasing solutions that support fleet acquisition.

Fleet Operations

Fleet operators manage vehicle deployment, maintenance schedules, insurance compliance, permits, driver allocation, and customer service operations. Efficient fleet management directly influences profitability and service quality.

Technology Platforms

Technology providers facilitate booking management, route optimization, GPS tracking, payment processing, customer relationship management, and operational analytics. Digital platforms have become increasingly important in improving efficiency and enhancing customer convenience.

Driver Services

Drivers represent a critical component of service delivery. Their responsibilities include safe vehicle operation, customer interaction, route management, and adherence to service standards.

Customer Interface

The final stage involves transportation service delivery to end users. Customer satisfaction depends on factors such as punctuality, safety, vehicle quality, driver behaviour, pricing transparency, and ease of booking.

A well-integrated value chain contributes to improved operational efficiency, enhanced customer experiences, and sustainable industry growth.

3.1.9 Technology and Digital Transformation

Technology has emerged as one of the most significant drivers of change within the Indian cab services industry. Digital innovation has transformed traditional transportation services into integrated mobility solutions capable of serving millions of users daily.

Mobile Applications and Online Booking

Mobile applications have simplified the booking process by allowing customers to reserve vehicles instantly, track rides in real time, and make digital payments. This has significantly improved convenience and service accessibility.

GPS and Fleet Tracking Systems

GPS-enabled tracking systems help operators monitor vehicle locations, optimize routes, reduce idle time, and improve operational efficiency. Customers also benefit from enhanced transparency regarding vehicle arrival times and journey progress.

Dynamic Pricing Algorithms

Advanced pricing systems utilize demand patterns, traffic conditions, weather factors, and vehicle availability to determine fares dynamically. Such systems enable operators to balance supply and demand more effectively.

Digital Payment Infrastructure

The adoption of digital payment solutions including UPI, mobile wallets, debit cards, and credit cards has accelerated across the industry. Cashless transactions improve convenience, transparency, and operational efficiency.

Data Analytics and Artificial Intelligence

Increasingly, operators are utilizing data analytics and artificial intelligence to forecast demand, optimize fleet deployment, improve driver productivity, and personalize customer experiences.

As technology adoption continues to increase, digital capabilities are expected to become a major differentiator within the competitive landscape.

3.1.10 Regulatory Environment

The Indian cab services industry operates within a regulatory framework established by both central and state governments. Regulations are intended to ensure passenger safety, fair competition, operational transparency, and compliance with transportation standards.

Vehicle Registration and Permits

Commercial passenger vehicles are required to obtain appropriate permits and registrations before commencing operations. Permit requirements may vary across states and service categories.

Driver Licensing Requirements

Drivers operating commercial vehicles must possess valid licenses and satisfy applicable eligibility criteria. Certain operators additionally conduct background verification and training programs to improve service quality and safety.

Insurance Compliance

Commercial vehicles are required to maintain valid insurance coverage in accordance with prevailing regulations. Insurance provides protection for passengers, drivers, and vehicle owners in the event of accidents or unforeseen incidents.

Safety and Consumer Protection

Regulators increasingly emphasize passenger safety through measures such as GPS tracking, emergency response features, driver verification systems, and grievance redressal mechanisms.

Aggregator Guidelines

The rapid growth of app-based transportation services has resulted in the introduction of aggregator-specific regulations governing pricing practices, driver onboarding, operational standards, and data management.

Going forward, regulatory developments are expected to focus on passenger safety, digital governance, environmental sustainability, and the integration of emerging mobility technologies within the transportation ecosystem.

3.1.11 Electric Vehicle Adoption and Emerging Industry Trends

The Indian cab services industry is gradually undergoing a transition toward cleaner, technology-enabled, and more sustainable mobility solutions. Growing environmental concerns, rising fuel costs, supportive government policies, and advancements in vehicle technology are encouraging operators to explore alternative business models and fleet compositions. Among these developments, the adoption of electric vehicles (EVs) represents one of the most significant structural changes expected to influence the industry's long-term evolution.

Adoption of Electric Vehicles in Cab Services

Electric vehicles are increasingly being incorporated into commercial passenger transportation fleets, particularly in metropolitan cities where vehicle utilization levels are high and charging infrastructure is expanding. Fleet operators view EVs as an opportunity to reduce operating expenses, improve environmental performance, and align with evolving regulatory expectations.

Compared to conventional internal combustion engine vehicles, electric vehicles generally offer lower running costs due to reduced fuel expenditure and fewer moving components requiring maintenance. These cost advantages become more significant in commercial operations where vehicles accumulate substantial daily mileage.

Several fleet operators have initiated pilot programs and fleet electrification initiatives, particularly for airport transfers, corporate transportation, and urban mobility services. Adoption has been most prominent in cities with supportive charging infrastructure and government incentives.

Government Support and Policy Initiatives

The Government of India and various state governments have introduced multiple initiatives aimed at accelerating EV adoption. These measures include financial incentives, tax benefits, charging infrastructure development programs, and manufacturing support schemes.

Such initiatives are expected to improve the economic viability of electric mobility solutions and encourage greater participation from fleet operators over the coming years.

Challenges to EV Adoption

Despite positive momentum, several challenges continue to influence the pace of adoption:

Charging Infrastructure Constraints

The availability of charging stations remains uneven across regions, particularly outside major urban centers. Limited charging infrastructure can impact fleet utilization and route planning efficiency.

Higher Initial Acquisition Costs

Although operating costs are generally lower, electric vehicles often require higher upfront investment compared to conventional vehicles, creating financing challenges for smaller operators.

Range and Operational Considerations

Vehicle range limitations, charging times, and battery performance remain important operational considerations, particularly for long-distance transportation services.

Emerging Industry Trends

Beyond electrification, several broader trends are reshaping the cab services landscape.

Subscription-Based Mobility

Consumers are increasingly exploring subscription-based transportation models that provide vehicle access without ownership responsibilities. These arrangements offer flexibility and predictable monthly costs.

Data-Driven Fleet Management

Operators are increasingly leveraging analytics platforms to optimize fleet deployment, improve route planning, reduce idle time, and enhance operational efficiency.

Artificial Intelligence and Automation

Artificial intelligence is being utilized for demand forecasting, dynamic pricing, customer support automation, and driver allocation. Such technologies are expected to improve resource utilization and customer experience.

Integrated Mobility Ecosystems

Transportation providers are increasingly collaborating with airports, hotels, travel agencies, tourism operators, and public transportation systems to offer seamless end-to-end mobility solutions.

Sustainability Initiatives

Environmental sustainability is becoming an important strategic priority. In addition to EV adoption, operators are exploring fuel-efficient vehicles, carbon reduction initiatives, and environmentally responsible operating practices.

Overall, technological innovation and sustainability considerations are expected to play an increasingly important role in shaping the future direction of the Indian cab services industry.

3.1.12 Competitive Landscape

The Indian cab services industry is characterized by intense competition, with participants ranging from large technology-driven mobility platforms to regional transportation providers and independent fleet operators. The competitive environment continues to evolve as companies seek to differentiate themselves through pricing, service quality, technology adoption, fleet diversification, and customer experience.

Market Participants

The industry comprises several categories of participants:

App-Based Mobility Platforms

Technology-enabled mobility platforms have transformed the industry by introducing real-time booking capabilities, digital payment systems, GPS-based tracking, and standardized customer experiences. 3.2 Coach Rental Services Industry in India: Market Overview

Coach Rental Services Market Expected to Witness Steady Growth Over the Medium Term

India's coach rental industry has demonstrated strong resilience and steady expansion following the pandemic, supported by growing demand for organized group transportation across multiple end-use segments, including weddings, religious tourism, corporate travel, educational excursions, leisure tours, and large-scale events. As mobility requirements become increasingly organized and experience-driven, coach rental services have emerged as an important component of the broader travel and tourism ecosystem.

Demand for coach rentals has been particularly strong during wedding seasons, religious congregations, pilgrimage circuits, and tourism activities, where large groups prefer cost-effective, coordinated, and comfortable transportation options. Major events such as the Maha Kumbh, regional festivals, destination weddings, sporting tournaments, and cultural gatherings have further contributed to market growth by generating substantial requirements for group mobility solutions.

The industry experienced a sharp contraction during the Covid-19 pandemic, with market size declining from approximately Rs. 198 billion in FY2020 to nearly Rs. 53 billion in FY2021 as travel restrictions and lockdowns severely impacted passenger movement. Following the reopening of economic activity and revival of domestic travel, the sector recovered significantly, reaching around Rs. 218 billion in FY2023 and expanding further to approximately Rs. 254 billion in FY2025. The market is estimated to have reached nearly Rs. 272 billion in FY2026, reflecting a CAGR of about 5.4% during FY2020-FY2026.

Several structural factors continue to support industry growth. These include rising disposable incomes, increasing preference for organized group travel, expansion of highway and expressway infrastructure, growth in domestic tourism, and greater demand for comfortable long-distance transportation. The Indian wedding industry remains one of the largest demand generators, with destination weddings and large family gatherings creating substantial transportation requirements. Religious tourism has also emerged as a key growth driver, supported by increasing pilgrimage travel undertaken by families, community organizations, and spiritual groups.

Corporate demand has strengthened in recent years as businesses increasingly utilize coach services for employee transportation, conferences, exhibitions, offsite programs, training activities, and business events. Furthermore, the rising popularity of concerts, music festivals, sports tournaments, entertainment events, and cultural programs has generated additional demand for organized transportation for attendees, performers, support staff, and event organizers.

Technology adoption is also gradually transforming the sector, with operators increasingly utilizing GPS-enabled fleet tracking, digital booking systems, route optimization tools, and centralized fleet management platforms to improve operational efficiency and customer experience. Growing demand from Tier-II and Tier-III cities, along with increasing focus on safety, vehicle quality, and passenger comfort, is further supporting market expansion.

Going forward, the Indian coach rental market is projected to reach approximately Rs 335-350 billion by FY2030, registering a CAGR of around 6.1% during FY2026-FY2030. Future growth is expected to be driven by continued expansion in domestic tourism, rising demand for premium and luxury travel experiences, increasing organized travel activities, growth in religious and experiential tourism, and wider adoption of technology-enabled transportation services across urban and intercity routes.

growth in recent years, supported by rising corporate mobility requirements, employee transportation needs, business conferences, incentive travel programs, destination weddings, religious pilgrimages, educational excursions, leisure tourism, sporting events, and curated travel experiences. Unlike conventional coach rental services that primarily focus on transportation, luxury coach operators emphasize passenger comfort, journey experience, operational excellence, and end-to-end travel management. These services are widely utilized for long-distance journeys, corporate events, tourism circuits, wedding guest transportation, institutional travel, and specialized group movements where service quality and travel experience play an important role in customer decision-making.

Demand is generated from a diverse customer base comprising corporations, travel agencies, tour operators, destination management companies, event management firms, educational institutions, hospitality operators, government organizations, and families organizing special occasions or group vacations. Corporate clients increasingly utilize luxury coaches for employee transportation, leadership retreats, conferences, exhibitions, dealer meets, and business events, while the tourism sector leverages premium coaches for sightseeing tours, heritage circuits, religious tourism, and customized travel itineraries. The growing popularity of destination weddings, luxury tourism packages, and experiential travel has further strengthened demand for organized and premium group transportation solutions across India.

To cater to varying customer requirements, operators typically segment their offerings based on passenger capacity, vehicle configuration, route structure, travel duration, and customer profile. This enables the provision of customized services such as dedicated route planning, advance scheduling, itinerary management, branded corporate transportation, onboard hospitality services, event-specific transportation arrangements, and specialized travel coordination support. The ability to provide tailored mobility solutions has become an important differentiating factor for operators serving premium customer segments.

The luxury coach segment is also undergoing significant transformation in vehicle design, fleet quality, and onboard passenger amenities. Fleet operators are increasingly deploying premium coaches equipped with reclining seats, enhanced legroom, climate-controlled cabins, onboard washrooms, spacious luggage compartments, Wi-Fi connectivity, USB charging ports, ambient lighting, advanced suspension systems, and infotainment facilities to improve passenger comfort during long-haul journeys. Premium upholstery, noise-insulated cabins, panoramic windows, and customized interior configurations are becoming increasingly common as operators seek to differentiate their offerings and enhance the overall travel experience. These developments reflect the growing focus on elevating service standards and meeting the evolving expectations of corporate and leisure travellers.

Technology adoption is emerging as a key competitive differentiator within the luxury coach rental industry. Operators are increasingly investing in telematics platforms, GPS-enabled fleet tracking systems, route optimization software, centralized fleet management solutions, digital booking interfaces, and automated dispatch systems to improve operational efficiency and service reliability. Real-time vehicle monitoring enables operators to optimize route planning, improve fleet utilization, enhance fuel efficiency, and provide greater transparency to customers throughout the travel journey. The integration of digital technologies has also improved scheduling accuracy, customer communication, and overall service responsiveness.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is gradually gaining prominence across fleet operations, particularly in the areas of safety management, driver monitoring, and predictive maintenance. AI-enabled driver monitoring systems can assess driver behaviour in real time and identify instances of distracted driving, speeding, harsh braking, fatigue, or drowsiness. Such technologies help operators improve passenger safety, reduce accident risks, strengthen regulatory compliance, and enhance operational control. In addition, AI-powered predictive maintenance solutions analyze vehicle performance data to identify potential mechanical issues before breakdowns occur, thereby reducing downtime, lowering maintenance costs, and improving fleet availability. As customers increasingly prioritize safety, reliability, and service consistency, adoption of AI-driven fleet management technologies is expected to increase across the organized luxury coach rental market.

Safety has become an increasingly important area of focus within the luxury coach segment. Operators are investing in advanced braking systems, vehicle health monitoring tools, driver assistance technologies, telematics-based safety analytics, and real-time tracking capabilities to improve passenger security and operational performance. The growing emphasis on safety standards reflects increasing customer expectations, regulatory requirements, and the need to maintain service reliability in a competitive operating environment.

The industry is also witnessing a gradual shift toward sustainability and environmentally responsible transportation solutions. Several operators are evaluating cleaner fuel technologies, low-emission vehicles, and electric mobility solutions, particularly for airport transfers, urban transportation requirements, and short-distance premium travel. Growing environmental awareness, evolving regulatory standards, and corporate sustainability commitments are expected to support the adoption of greener mobility solutions over the medium to long term.

Supported by rising corporate travel, growing tourism activity, increasing preference for organized group transportation, expansion of destination weddings and large-scale events, continuous fleet modernization, and rapid technology adoption, the luxury coach rental segment is expected to remain one of the key growth areas within India's premium mobility ecosystem. Such events often require large fleets, coordinated logistics management, route planning, and timely execution of transportation schedules for political leaders, party workers, media representatives, and attendees. Demand within this category generally increases during election cycles and large-scale political campaigns.

3.4 Tourism-Driven Demand in India's Cab and Coach Rental Industry

India's cab and coach rental industry has increasingly become an integral part of the country's tourism and hospitality value chain, particularly following the strong recovery in travel and tourism activity after the COVID-19 pandemic. The sector plays a critical role in supporting inbound international tourism as well as domestic leisure travel across metropolitan cities, heritage destinations, pilgrimage circuits, wellness CENTERS, coastal tourism hubs, and emerging leisure destinations. International visitors, including leisure travellers, business delegates, premium Free Independent Travellers (FITs), medical tourists, spiritual travellers, and wellness seekers, rely extensively on organized ground transportation services to ensure convenience, safety, and reliability throughout their journeys. Consequently, demand for airport transfers, chauffeur-driven transportation, intercity mobility, city sightseeing tours, and customized travel itineraries remains strong across major tourism destinations in India.

The continued expansion of India's transportation infrastructure is further supporting tourism-driven demand for rental mobility services. Investments in expressways, economic corridors, highway modernization projects, airport expansion programs, and regional connectivity initiatives are improving accessibility between key tourism destinations and reducing travel times. Improved road connectivity is encouraging greater adoption of economy, premium, and luxury cab and coach services for road-based tourism while simultaneously supporting the development of hotels, resorts, convention CENTERS, and hospitality facilities along major travel corridors. These developments are creating new demand CENTERS for vehicle rentals and organized transportation services across both established and emerging tourism routes.

The increasing preference for premium and experience-driven travel has significantly enhanced demand for luxury mobility solutions. High-end vehicles such as the Toyota Vellfire, Mercedes-Benz V-Class, luxury SUVs, executive vans, and premium coaches are witnessing growing adoption among international tourists, corporate travellers, and affluent domestic travellers. The growing popularity of heritage tourism, wellness tourism, adventure tourism, culinary tourism, luxury vacations, and curated cultural experiences has strengthened the need for transportation providers capable of delivering personalized, reliable, and professionally managed travel services. Operators offering multilingual chauffeur services, premium fleets, customized itineraries, digital booking capabilities, and high service reliability are increasingly well-positioned to capture this growing segment.

The demand outlook for tourism-related transportation services is further supported by several structural growth drivers, including the expansion of international air connectivity, increasing tourist arrivals, rising disposable incomes, and government initiatives aimed at promoting tourism across the country. Programs such as Dekho Apna Desh, Bharat Parv, development of thematic tourism circuits, destination promotion initiatives, and visa facilitation measures are contributing to increased visitor flows across heritage, spiritual, cultural, wellness, and adventure tourism destinations. Simultaneously, growing investments in tourism infrastructure and destination development are creating additional opportunities for organized transportation operators.

Modern international travellers increasingly seek transportation solutions that combine convenience, personalization, safety, and technology. This evolving demand profile is being shaped by several factors:

- Continued growth in airport infrastructure, regional aviation connectivity, and highway development projects supporting multi-city travel experiences.

Environmental sustainability is also emerging as an important consideration among global travellers and tourism stakeholders. Growing emphasis on Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) considerations is encouraging transportation operators to modernize fleets through the adoption of electric vehicles (EVs), compressed natural gas (CNG) vehicles, hybrid technologies, and fuel-efficient transportation solutions. Several operators are also investing in chauffeur training programs focused on hospitality standards, passenger safety, multilingual communication, and customer service excellence to align service delivery with global tourism expectations.

Technology adoption is further transforming the sector. Increasing deployment of GPS-enabled fleet monitoring systems, mobile booking applications, digital payment platforms, route optimization tools, telematics solutions, and integrated travel management systems is improving service quality, operational transparency, and customer convenience. The emergence of AI-enabled customer support, predictive fleet maintenance, and intelligent route planning solutions is further enhancing operational efficiency and customer experience. Operators capable of delivering technology enabled services, professional chauffeur support, personalized customer experiences, and consistent operational standards are expected to benefit from the continued growth of inbound tourism and premium travel segments in India.

3.4.2 Role of Chauffeur-Driven Mobility in Inbound Tourism

Chauffeur driven urban mobility has emerged as an important component of the inbound tourism transportation ecosystem, particularly among international travellers seeking convenience, flexibility, comfort, and personalized travel experiences. Unlike conventional transportation services that primarily focus on point to point movement, chauffeur driven mobility solutions offer a more comprehensive travel experience by combining transportation with local assistance, destination knowledge, itinerary flexibility, and enhanced customer service.

International visitors often face challenges related to unfamiliar road networks, language barriers, navigation complexities, local transportation systems, and time management. Chauffeur driven services help address these concerns by providing professionally trained drivers capable of ensuring seamless movement across cities while allowing travellers to focus on sightseeing, business engagements, cultural exploration, shopping, or leisure activities.

Demand for chauffeur driven mobility is particularly strong among business executives, luxury travellers, family groups, senior citizens, medical tourists, diplomats, and high spending international visitors who prioritize comfort, privacy, safety, and reliability. The segment has witnessed increasing adoption in major tourism and business destinations such as Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Chennai, Hyderabad, Jaipur, Udaipur, Goa, Kochi, and Kolkata, where travellers often require flexible transportation throughout their stay.

As travel preferences evolve, chauffeur driven services are increasingly becoming an extension of the hospitality experience. Travellers now expect transportation providers to deliver not only mobility but also local insights, personalized recommendations, destination guidance, and responsive customer support. This shift has encouraged operators to focus on service quality, chauffeur training, multilingual communication capabilities, and technology enabled customer engagement.

Several transportation providers have expanded their offerings beyond traditional vehicle rentals by integrating concierge style services, customized travel assistance, route planning support, and itinerary coordination. These enhancements are particularly valued by international tourists undertaking multi day city visits, cultural tours, business travel programs, or premium leisure experiences.

insights, language support, and recommendations regarding attractions, restaurants, shopping locations, and entertainment options.

For international visitors unfamiliar with local customs and travel conditions, knowledgeable chauffeurs can significantly enhance the overall travel experience by providing practical assistance and facilitating smoother interactions throughout the journey. This trend is particularly evident within premium tourism segments where travellers increasingly value personalized service and local expertise.

Consequently, transportation operators are investing in customer service training, hospitality development programs, language skills, grooming standards, and destination awareness initiatives to strengthen service differentiation and improve customer satisfaction levels.

As inbound tourism continues to diversify and become increasingly experience driven, chauffeur driven urban mobility is expected to play a progressively important role in supporting premium travel experiences, enhancing visitor satisfaction, and contributing to the overall growth of India's tourism and hospitality ecosystem.

- Carbon footprint reduction initiatives.
- Environmentally responsible operational practices.

The growing focus on sustainable tourism and environmental stewardship is expected to further strengthen demand for green mobility solutions within the tourism transportation sector.

Cultural and Heritage Tourists

Cultural and heritage travellers represent an important segment within India's inbound tourism market. These visitors are typically interested in exploring historical monuments, museums, architectural landmarks, religious sites, traditional arts, cultural festivals, and heritage destinations.

Transportation requirements for this segment often involve:

- Full day and multi day sightseeing programs.
- Flexible travel schedules.
- Knowledgeable chauffeurs familiar with local attractions.
- Customized routes covering multiple destinations.
- Comfortable vehicles suitable for extended travel durations.

Popular destinations frequently visited by this traveller category include Delhi, Agra, Jaipur, Varanasi, Khajuraho, Hampi, Mysuru, Udaipur, and several UNESCO World Heritage sites across the country.

Luxury Leisure Travellers

Luxury travellers typically prioritize exclusivity, privacy, personalized service, and superior comfort throughout their journeys. This segment often includes high net worth individuals, affluent families, corporate leaders, celebrities, diplomats, and premium international tourists.

Common expectations include:

- Luxury sedans, premium SUVs, executive vans, and chauffeur driven luxury vehicles.
- Personalized itinerary planning and travel coordination.
- Airport concierge assistance and VIP transfers.
- Highly trained chauffeurs with strong hospitality skills.

- Seamless coordination with luxury hotels, resorts, and travel planners.

Growth in luxury tourism, destination weddings, wellness retreats, and premium hospitality experiences continues to support expansion of this segment.

Family and Group Travellers

Families and organized travel groups often require transportation solutions that prioritize convenience, space, coordination, and operational efficiency. Such travellers frequently undertake city sightseeing activities, pilgrimage tours, leisure vacations, educational excursions, and multi destination itineraries.

Key transportation requirements generally include:

- Spacious multipurpose vehicles, vans, minibuses, and luxury coaches.
- Adequate luggage storage capacity.
- Child friendly and senior friendly travel arrangements.
- Coordinated pickup and drop schedules.
- Cost effective transportation solutions for larger groups.
- Professional itinerary management and route planning support.

As family travel and group tourism continue to grow, demand for organized transportation solutions is expected to remain strong across both leisure and cultural tourism segments.

Medical and Wellness Tourists

India has emerged as a preferred destination for medical treatment, healthcare services, wellness retreats, yoga programs, and holistic therapies. Consequently, medical and wellness tourists represent a growing customer segment for chauffeur driven transportation providers.

These travellers typically require:

- Reliable airport transfers.
- Transportation between hospitals, hotels, wellness centers, and treatment facilities.
- Comfortable vehicles suitable for patients and accompanying family members.
- Flexible scheduling to accommodate medical appointments.
- Professional drivers trained in customer care and passenger assistance.

The continued expansion of India's medical tourism and wellness tourism sectors is expected to generate additional opportunities for organized transportation providers.

Business Delegates and MICE Travellers

Business travellers attending meetings, conferences, exhibitions, trade fairs, and corporate events constitute another significant user segment. These travellers generally prioritize punctuality, professionalism, efficiency, and service consistency.

Common requirements include:

- Executive transportation services.
- Airport transfers and hotel connectivity.
- Transportation for corporate events and business meetings.
- Dedicated vehicles for senior management and international delegates.
- Centralized scheduling and real time travel coordination.

The growth of India's MICE (Meetings, Incentives, Conferences, and Exhibitions) industry, coupled with increasing international business travel, is expected to further strengthen demand for premium chauffeur driven mobility services.

Evolving Expectations Across Traveller Segments

While transportation remains the core service offering, travellers increasingly expect chauffeurs and transportation providers to contribute to the overall visitor experience. Local destination knowledge, cultural awareness, communication skills, personalized assistance, and hospitality oriented service delivery are becoming important differentiators in the market.

As inbound tourism becomes more diverse and experience focused, transportation operators capable of tailoring services to different traveller profiles while maintaining high standards of safety, reliability, comfort, and customer engagement are expected to be better positioned for long term growth.

3.4.4 City Sightseeing & Leisure Tours

City sightseeing and leisure tours constitute a significant source of demand for cab and coach rental operators serving inbound international tourists. As travellers increasingly seek immersive and experience driven journeys, organized transportation services play a vital role in enabling convenient access to cultural landmarks, historical attractions, architectural sites, shopping districts, culinary destinations, entertainment venues, and local experiences.

Unlike airport transfers or point to point transportation, sightseeing services typically involve multiple destinations within a city or region, requiring flexible scheduling, route optimization, local expertise, and personalized travel coordination. Consequently, professionally managed transportation providers have become important partners in delivering seamless and memorable tourism experiences.

International tourists frequently prefer chauffeur driven vehicles and organized tour transportation as they offer greater convenience, safety, comfort, and flexibility while eliminating challenges associated with navigation, language barriers, parking availability, and local transportation systems. The ability to customize travel schedules and incorporate spontaneous visits to attractions further enhances the appeal of organized sightseeing services.

The segment has witnessed growing demand due to increasing popularity of experiential tourism, heritage tourism, culinary tourism, photography tours, wellness travel, shopping focused itineraries, and cultural immersion experiences. Travellers increasingly seek personalized journeys that allow them to explore destinations at their preferred pace while benefiting from local insights and destination expertise.

Transportation providers supporting sightseeing activities typically collaborate with hotels, travel agencies, destination management companies, tour operators, and hospitality providers to create integrated tourism experiences. Such partnerships help improve itinerary planning, customer convenience, and service coordination.

Emerging Trends in Sightseeing and Leisure Transportation

Growth of Experiential Tourism

Travellers increasingly seek authentic local experiences rather than traditional sightseeing alone. Culinary tours, artisan workshops, photography excursions, village visits, cultural interactions, and nature based activities are generating additional transportation requirements beyond conventional tourist circuits.

Rise of Customized Travel Programs

International tourists increasingly prefer personalized itineraries that reflect individual interests, travel pace, and destination preferences. Transportation operators capable of offering flexible schedules and customized route planning are witnessing stronger demand.

Increased Demand for Premium Mobility Solutions

Growing luxury tourism activity is driving demand for premium transportation services that combine comfort, privacy, exclusivity, and personalized attention. Luxury sedans, executive SUVs, premium multipurpose vehicles, and chauffeur driven transportation continue to gain popularity among affluent travellers.

Integration of Technology into Tourism Mobility

Digital booking platforms, GPS enabled navigation systems, real time itinerary management, mobile applications, and customer communication tools are improving operational efficiency and enhancing visitor convenience throughout sightseeing journeys.

Expansion of Culinary and Lifestyle Tourism

Food tourism, local market exploration, wine and beverage experiences, wellness programs, and lifestyle focused travel activities are creating additional opportunities for transportation providers to support diversified tourism experiences.

Role of Organized Transportation in Enhancing Visitor Experience

As international travellers increasingly prioritize convenience, flexibility, and personalized service, organized transportation has become an important facilitator of destination experiences rather than merely a means of travel. Transportation providers that combine operational reliability with local expertise, customer service excellence, and flexible itinerary management are well positioned to benefit from the continued growth of inbound leisure tourism and experiential travel in India.

3.4.5 Key Demand Drivers Shaping Inbound Leisure Tourism Transportation

The mobility requirements of inbound leisure tourists are evolving rapidly as travel preferences shift toward personalized experiences, convenience, sustainability, and technology enabled services. Transportation providers are increasingly required to deliver solutions that go beyond traditional point to point travel and contribute meaningfully to the overall visitor experience. Several emerging trends are reshaping demand patterns within the cab and coach rental industry and influencing how operators design and deliver their services.

Purpose Driven and Experience Focused Travel

International travellers are increasingly selecting destinations based on specific interests, experiences, and lifestyle preferences rather than conventional sightseeing alone. Wellness retreats, cultural immersion programs, culinary tourism, heritage exploration, adventure tourism, wildlife experiences, photography tours, and spiritual journeys have become important components of modern travel itineraries.

As a result, transportation providers are witnessing growing demand for customized mobility solutions that support specialized travel experiences. Travellers increasingly seek flexible transportation arrangements capable of accommodating unique schedules, multiple stopovers, and personalized sightseeing requirements.

Growing Preference for Personalized Mobility Solutions

Modern tourists increasingly value flexibility and customization throughout their journeys. Fixed itineraries are gradually giving way to more adaptable travel programs that allow visitors to modify schedules, add destinations, extend stays, and incorporate local experiences based on individual preferences.

This trend has increased demand for chauffeur driven transportation, dedicated vehicles, and customized travel arrangements that provide greater control over travel schedules and destination selection. Transportation providers capable of offering tailored mobility solutions are gaining a competitive advantage within the inbound tourism segment.

Sustainable Tourism and Environmentally Responsible Mobility

Environmental sustainability has become an increasingly important consideration for international travellers, particularly visitors from Europe, North America, Australia, and other environmentally conscious markets. Many tourists actively seek service providers that demonstrate commitment toward responsible tourism and sustainable operational practices.

This shift is encouraging transportation operators to invest in:

- Electric vehicle fleets.
- Hybrid and alternative fuel vehicles.
- Fuel efficient fleet management practices.
- Carbon footprint reduction initiatives.
- Sustainable route planning and operational optimization.

The growing emphasis on environmental responsibility is expected to influence transportation procurement decisions across both leisure and corporate tourism segments in the coming years.

Technology Enabled Travel Experiences

Technology continues to transform the tourism mobility ecosystem. International travellers increasingly expect transportation services that offer convenience, transparency, and real time information throughout the travel journey.

Key technology driven developments include:

- Mobile based reservation platforms.
- Real time vehicle tracking.
- Digital payment systems.
- Automated booking confirmations and travel updates.
- GPS enabled route optimization.
- Customer support through digital communication channels.
- Integration with airline, hotel, and travel management platforms.

Operators investing in digital capabilities are better positioned to improve customer experience, operational efficiency, and service reliability.

Concierge Enabled Transportation Services

Transportation services are increasingly evolving beyond mobility and becoming an extension of the hospitality experience. Modern travellers value chauffeurs and transportation coordinators who can provide destination guidance, local recommendations, cultural insights, and travel assistance throughout the journey.

Drivers with strong communication skills, professional presentation, local destination knowledge, and multilingual capabilities are increasingly viewed as valuable contributors to overall visitor satisfaction. Consequently, transportation providers are investing in hospitality training, customer service development, and destination awareness programs to strengthen service differentiation.

Customized Modular Itineraries

Inbound leisure travellers increasingly prefer travel programs that can be tailored according to personal interests, available time, budget considerations, and destination preferences. Rather than following rigid travel schedules, tourists seek flexibility in selecting attractions, modifying routes, and incorporating spontaneous experiences.

Transportation providers capable of offering modular itineraries supported by dynamic route planning, real time coordination, and personalized scheduling are experiencing growing demand. This trend is particularly evident among luxury travellers, family groups, long stay visitors, and free independent travellers seeking unique experiences.

Growth of Wellness, Medical, and Spiritual Tourism

India continues to strengthen its position as a global destination for wellness programs, yoga retreats, Ayurveda therapies, alternative healing practices, and medical treatments. This has generated increasing demand for transportation services connecting airports, hospitals, wellness centers, resorts, rehabilitation facilities, and spiritual destinations.

Visitors within these segments often require dependable transportation, enhanced comfort, flexible scheduling, and personalized assistance, creating additional opportunities for organized transportation providers.

Expansion of Luxury and Premium Tourism

The continued growth of luxury tourism, destination weddings, premium hospitality experiences, and high end leisure travel is supporting demand for executive transportation services, luxury coaches, premium SUVs, chauffeur driven vehicles, and customized travel experiences.

Affluent travellers increasingly prioritize privacy, exclusivity, comfort, and personalized attention, encouraging operators to upgrade fleets and enhance service offerings to cater to premium customer segments.

Increasing Importance of Safety and Service Standardization

Safety, reliability, and service consistency have become important considerations for international travellers when selecting transportation providers. Verified chauffeurs, standardized operating procedures, emergency response systems, transparent pricing structures, and customer support mechanisms are increasingly influencing traveller preferences.

Transportation operators that maintain high service standards and strong safety credentials are likely to benefit from growing demand among both leisure and business travellers.

Emerging Role of Integrated Travel Ecosystems

The tourism industry is witnessing increasing collaboration among transportation providers, hotels, airlines, travel agencies, destination management companies, hospitals, and event organizers. Such partnerships facilitate seamless travel experiences by integrating transportation with accommodation, sightseeing, healthcare, and event related services.

Operators capable of participating in these broader travel ecosystems are expected to strengthen customer acquisition, improve operational efficiency, and generate higher value opportunities within the tourism sector.

Impact of Noida International Airport (NIA) on the Market

The commencement of commercial operations at Noida International Airport (NIA) in Jewar represents a significant growth opportunity for the cab rental services industry in North India. Located approximately 65 km from central Noida and East Delhi, the airport is expected to generate substantial demand for airport transfers, intercity travel, corporate mobility, employee transportation, and premium chauffeur-driven services. During the initial phase of operations, road-based transportation will be the primary mode of airport access, as metro connectivity is yet to be developed and mass transit infrastructure remains limited.

The absence of direct rail connectivity places cab aggregators and rental operators at the center of the airport's mobility ecosystem. NIA has partnered with major mobility platforms such as Uber, Ola, Rapido, and Mahindra Mobility to facilitate passenger transportation from launch. Given the airport's distance from major residential and commercial centers across NCR, app-based cabs, airport taxis, and rental vehicles are expected to account for a significant share of passenger movement during the initial years of operation.

While the Noida Authority and UPSRTC are rolling out a fleet of 100 air-conditioned electric buses to improve connectivity between the airport and key parts of the city, these services are still in the early stages of deployment. Consequently, last-mile connectivity is expected to remain heavily dependent on the cab ecosystem in the near term. With approximately 20,000 registered cab drivers operating across Noida and surrounding regions, cab aggregators are likely to play a critical role in supporting airport passenger traffic until larger public transportation networks, including metro connectivity, become operational.

Beyond passenger transportation, the airport is expected to create significant opportunities for organized coach rental operators. Airlines, airport operators, hotels, corporate offices, travel companies, and event organizers will require shuttle services connecting the airport with business districts, hospitality hubs, and major urban centers across NCR. The resulting increase in airport-linked mobility demand is expected to strengthen both the cab rental and coach rental segments.

Additionally, NIA is expected to accelerate the formalization of the regional transportation market. Airport-linked operations require strict adherence to vehicle permits, driver verification, insurance coverage, GPS tracking, safety standards, and service quality requirements. As a result, organized operators with technology-enabled fleet management systems and strong compliance capabilities are expected to gain market share over smaller unorganized players. Over the long term, the airport's planned expansion and rising passenger throughput are likely to make it a major demand driver for India's cab and coach rental services industry.

3.5 Corporate Transportation as a Key Demand Driver for the Cab and Coach Rental Services Industry

The corporate travel segment represents one of the most stable and recurring revenue streams within the cab and coach rental industry, supported by long term business relationships, structured mobility programs, and consistent transportation requirements. Unlike leisure travel, which is often influenced by seasonality and discretionary spending patterns, corporate mobility demand is largely driven by business operations, workforce movement, client engagements, meetings, conferences, and organisational travel requirements. As a result, corporate travel has evolved into a highly structured and service oriented segment for transportation providers.

Over the past decade, India's growing services sector, increasing corporate employment, expansion of multinational operations, and rising participation in business events have contributed significantly to the growth of organised corporate mobility services. Companies increasingly recognise transportation not merely as a logistical necessity but as an important contributor to employee productivity, operational efficiency, brand perception, and duty of care obligations.

Modern organisations place considerable emphasis on employee convenience, safety standards, regulatory compliance, sustainability objectives, and service reliability while selecting transportation partners. Consequently, corporate clients increasingly prefer professionally managed operators capable of delivering technology enabled, scalable, and customised mobility solutions aligned with internal travel policies and governance frameworks.

The growing adoption of hybrid work models and geographically distributed workforces has further transformed corporate mobility requirements. Organisations now require transportation support for office visits, leadership meetings, training programs, employee engagement activities, offsites, conferences, and large scale corporate events. This has expanded the scope of mobility providers beyond routine transportation and positioned them as strategic partners supporting workforce mobility and business continuity.

Increasing international exposure has also elevated expectations regarding chauffeur professionalism, vehicle presentation, passenger safety, data security, and service responsiveness. Businesses increasingly expect transportation providers to maintain high service standards, offer real time issue resolution, and deliver seamless travel experiences that reflect organisational values and professional standards.

Technology is playing an increasingly important role in shaping the corporate mobility ecosystem. Corporate clients now expect integrated transportation platforms that provide live vehicle tracking, automated scheduling, digital approvals, route optimisation, travel analytics, expense management capabilities, and management reporting dashboards. These capabilities enhance travel visibility, improve operational efficiency, strengthen compliance monitoring, and support data driven decision making.

Environmental, social, and governance (ESG) considerations are also becoming increasingly important within transportation procurement decisions. Many organisations are encouraging mobility partners to adopt electric vehicles, alternative fuel technologies, route optimisation practices, and sustainability reporting mechanisms to align transportation operations with broader corporate sustainability objectives.

As workforce mobility continues to support business productivity, employee engagement, and organisational effectiveness, enterprises are increasingly partnering with transportation providers capable of delivering reliable, scalable, technology integrated, and customer focused mobility solutions. This trend is expected to further strengthen the role of organised cab and coach rental operators within India's evolving corporate travel landscape.

Chauffeur-Driven Services: A Core Pillar of Corporate Mobility

Chauffeur driven mobility services have emerged as a fundamental component of corporate transportation, evolving from simple point to point travel arrangements into comprehensive mobility solutions that support employee productivity, business continuity, executive travel, and corporate image management. Across industries such as information technology, consulting, banking and financial services, pharmaceuticals, manufacturing, telecommunications, and professional services, organisations increasingly depend on structured transportation programs to facilitate efficient workforce movement and business operations.

As businesses become more geographically dispersed and employee mobility requirements grow in complexity, transportation providers are expected to deliver services that extend beyond vehicle availability. Corporate clients increasingly prioritise punctuality, professionalism, confidentiality, safety, operational reliability, and regulatory compliance when selecting mobility partners. These requirements span daily employee travel, executive transportation, airport transfers, client meetings, site visits, and intercity business travel.

In today's corporate environment, chauffeur driven services play a critical role in supporting time sensitive schedules and ensuring seamless movement across multiple locations. Businesses increasingly require transportation partners capable of managing dynamic travel requirements, multi stop itineraries, and last minute scheduling changes while maintaining service consistency and operational efficiency.

The quality and professionalism of chauffeurs have become important differentiators within the corporate mobility segment. Modern corporate travel programs emphasise trained and verified chauffeurs who possess strong driving skills, professional etiquette, communication capabilities, and familiarity with corporate protocols. Chauffeurs are increasingly expected to function as service representatives who contribute positively to employee experience and organisational brand perception.

Corporate transportation providers are therefore investing significantly in chauffeur development programs covering:

- Corporate etiquette and professional conduct.
- Customer service and communication skills.
- Navigation and route planning capabilities.
- Emergency response and passenger safety procedures.
- Data privacy and confidentiality requirements.
- Vehicle inspection and operational compliance standards.
- Executive protocol management and VIP handling.

Technology integration has further enhanced the effectiveness of chauffeur driven mobility solutions. Modern fleets increasingly utilise GPS enabled tracking systems, digital dispatch platforms, route optimisation tools, electronic trip management systems, and real time communication channels. These capabilities improve service visibility, reduce travel disruptions, and enable organisations to monitor transportation performance more effectively.

The increasing focus on Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) objectives is also influencing corporate mobility practices. Organisations increasingly prefer transportation providers that adopt fuel efficient operations, electric vehicle fleets, route optimisation practices, and structured safety management frameworks. Consequently, mobility providers are integrating sustainability initiatives alongside operational excellence to remain aligned with evolving corporate expectations.

During meetings, incentives, conferences and exhibitions (MICE), organisations require transportation providers capable of managing coordinated fleet operations, strict timelines, delegate movement, VIP transfers, and complex event logistics. In such scenarios, experienced chauffeurs familiar with event venues, security protocols, and high pressure operating environments become particularly valuable.

In major business CENTERS and international gateway cities, multilingual chauffeur capabilities are becoming increasingly important. International executives and foreign delegates often prefer transportation providers capable of facilitating effective communication, cultural sensitivity, and enhanced service quality throughout their journeys.

As corporate travel continues to evolve, chauffeur driven services are expected to remain a core pillar of the mobility ecosystem, supporting operational efficiency, employee wellbeing, executive convenience, and business productivity across a wide range of industries.

Importance of chauffeur-driven services in corporate travel

Key Business Need	Chauffeur Driven Service Solution
Reliable and Safe Employee Mobility	Organisations require dependable transportation solutions that support workforce movement while maintaining high standards of safety, punctuality, and operational consistency. Chauffeur driven services provide structured transportation supported by verified drivers, standard operating procedures, and reliable service delivery, helping improve employee experience and travel dependability.
Business Continuity and Operational Reliability	Organisations increasingly depend on transportation partners capable of maintaining uninterrupted mobility support during peak travel periods, business events, operational disruptions, and changing travel requirements. Reliable chauffeur driven services contribute to smoother business operations and improved workforce mobility.
Executive Mobility and Leadership Travel	Senior executives frequently operate under time sensitive schedules requiring efficient transportation between offices, client locations, airports, hotels, and business meetings. Chauffeur driven services provide a professional and controlled travel environment that enables executives to maximise productivity while ensuring confidentiality and schedule adherence.
Multi Location Business Travel	Corporate travel often involves multiple meetings, site visits, inspections, and stakeholder engagements across different locations. Chauffeur driven mobility solutions support flexible routing, efficient scheduling, and seamless movement between destinations, allowing business travellers to optimise their time and focus on core activities.
Client Hospitality and Relationship Management	Transportation services frequently form part of the overall experience for clients, investors, partners, and business guests. Professionally managed chauffeur services help organisations create a positive impression by delivering comfort, convenience, and consistent service quality during business interactions.

Chauffeur driven transportation has evolved beyond a convenience-based service and is increasingly regarded as an important operational enabler that supports employee productivity, executive effectiveness, stakeholder engagement, and overall business efficiency. As corporate travel requirements become more complex and service expectations continue to rise, professionally managed chauffeur driven mobility solutions are expected to remain a key component of the corporate transportation ecosystem.

3.5.1 Corporate Travel Requirements: Offsites, Retreats and Team Engagement Programs

Corporate offsites, leadership retreats, and team engagement programmes have become increasingly important components of organisational culture, employee development, and workforce engagement strategies. While offsites are typically organised to facilitate strategic planning, business reviews, leadership discussions, and departmental alignment, retreats are generally designed to promote team bonding, employee wellbeing, collaboration, and informal interaction outside the traditional workplace environment. Team engagement programmes further support organisational objectives by strengthening communication, enhancing teamwork, and improving employee morale.

The growing emphasis on employee experience, workplace culture, and talent retention has contributed to a steady increase in corporate spending on offsite events and engagement initiatives. Organisations across sectors such as information technology, consulting, banking and financial services, pharmaceuticals, manufacturing, and professional services are increasingly organising annual meetings, leadership summits, training workshops, sales conferences, and team building programmes at destinations outside their primary office locations.

As these programmes continue to expand in scale and frequency, transportation has evolved into a critical component of event planning and execution. Organisations increasingly view mobility services not merely as a logistical requirement but as an integral part of the overall employee experience. Efficient transportation ensures seamless movement of participants while contributing to event satisfaction, operational coordination, and programme effectiveness.

Corporate offsite travel often involves transportation between offices, airports, railway stations, hotels, conference venues, resorts, and activity locations. Depending on the scale of the event, mobility requirements may range from small group transfers to large scale movement of hundreds of participants across multiple locations. This creates significant demand for organised cab and coach rental services capable of managing complex transportation requirements while maintaining punctuality and service consistency.

Importance of Cab and Coach Services in Corporate Offsites and Retreats

Transportation as the First Touchpoint of the Employee Experience

Transportation often represents the first physical interaction employees have with an offsite programme or retreat. Consequently, the quality of transportation services can significantly influence participants' perception of the event. Comfortable vehicles, timely departures, organised coordination, and a smooth travel experience help establish a positive atmosphere from the outset and contribute to overall programme success.

Growing Corporate Demand Supporting Industry Expansion

The frequency of offsites, annual business reviews, sales meetings, leadership workshops, and employee engagement initiatives has increased considerably in recent years. Organisations are increasingly investing in face to face interactions to strengthen collaboration, reinforce organisational culture, and improve team cohesion. This trend continues to support demand for organised cab and coach rental services capable of accommodating diverse group sizes and travel requirements.

Operational Complexity Creating Opportunities for Specialised Operators

Corporate offsite transportation frequently involves multiple pickup points, staggered departures, varying participant schedules, and coordination across several venues. Managing these requirements efficiently demands detailed planning, strong operational capabilities, and effective communication. As a result, organisations increasingly prefer experienced transportation providers capable of delivering end to end mobility management rather than relying on fragmented travel arrangements.

Group Travel Efficiency and Cost Optimisation

Coach and group transportation solutions provide organisations with an efficient and cost effective alternative to individual travel reimbursements and uncoordinated transportation arrangements. Consolidated transportation improves scheduling efficiency, reduces administrative complexity, and facilitates better management of participant movement throughout the programme.

Enhanced Safety and Duty of Care Responsibilities

Employee safety remains a key consideration during offsite travel. Organisations increasingly prefer transportation providers that maintain high vehicle maintenance standards, employ verified drivers, and follow established safety procedures. Structured transportation arrangements also enable companies to maintain better visibility and accountability throughout the travel programme.

Add On Services Enhancing Corporate Travel Experience

As organisations increasingly seek differentiated employee experiences, demand for value added transportation services continues to grow. Common requirements include:

- Customised vehicle branding aligned with corporate identity and event themes.
- Dedicated event transportation coordinators for large group movements.
- Priority vehicle allocation for leadership teams and key stakeholders.
- Onboard refreshments for long distance travel programmes.
- Welcome kits and event related communication materials.
- Special transportation arrangements for outdoor activities and team building sessions.
- Flexible scheduling to accommodate programme modifications and activity extensions.

Transportation as a Contributor to Employee Engagement

A well managed travel experience can positively influence employee satisfaction and engagement during corporate programmes. Group travel often encourages informal interaction, relationship building, and collaboration among participants before formal activities commence. Comfortable and organised transportation also reduces travel related fatigue, allowing employees to participate more actively in programme activities and discussions.

As organisations continue to prioritise employee engagement, leadership development, and workplace culture, corporate offsites and retreats are expected to remain an important source of demand for organised cab and coach rental services. Transportation providers capable of delivering reliable group mobility solutions, operational coordination, and high quality travel experiences are likely to benefit from the continued growth of this segment.

Travel Experience Enhancing Employee Engagement and Retention

Transportation plays a significant role in shaping employee perception during corporate events. A well-managed travel experience enhances employee satisfaction, reinforces a sense of value, enables informal interaction among colleagues, and reduces travel fatigue. This becomes particularly important for outstation events where travel comfort directly impacts participation and engagement levels.

Regulatory Landscape Governing Corporate Employee Transportation in India

Corporate employee transportation in India is governed by a combination of transport regulations, labour laws, workplace safety requirements, and employee protection guidelines. As transportation is increasingly viewed as an extension of the workplace, compliance has become essential for ensuring employee safety, minimizing legal risks, and maintaining business continuity.

Motor Vehicles Act and Transport Regulations: All vehicles used for employee transportation must comply with the Motor Vehicles Act, including valid registration, commercial permits, fitness certificates, insurance coverage, and Pollution Under Control (PUC) certifications. Regular inspections and adherence to safety standards are mandatory to ensure roadworthiness and passenger safety.

Labour Laws and Employer Responsibility: Employers have a duty to provide a safe working environment, which increasingly extends to employee commuting arrangements. Organizations operating night shifts are expected to implement transportation systems that prioritize employee welfare and mitigate safety risks during transit.

Women Employee Safety and POSH Compliance: Various state guidelines require organizations to implement enhanced safety measures for women employees working late hours. These typically include driver verification, GPS-enabled vehicles, trip monitoring, emergency response mechanisms, and secure pick-up and drop-off procedures. Since company-arranged transportation is often considered an extension of the workplace, incidents occurring during transit may also fall under workplace safety and POSH-related obligations.

Driver and Vehicle Compliance Standards: Corporate transportation providers are expected to maintain comprehensive driver verification records, including licence validation, background checks, and regular training on safe driving practices. Vehicles must undergo periodic maintenance, safety inspections, and documentation reviews to ensure compliance and operational reliability.

Technology and Data Security Requirements: Many organizations now mandate GPS tracking, real-time trip monitoring, panic alert systems, and digital trip records to improve employee safety and compliance visibility. Transportation providers must also ensure the secure handling of employee information, including addresses, contact details, and travel schedules.

Vendor Accountability and Compliance Audits: Even when transportation services are outsourced, organizations remain responsible for ensuring vendor compliance. As a result, companies increasingly conduct audits covering vehicle documentation, driver credentials, insurance coverage, safety protocols, and incident management procedures. Service agreements often include strict compliance clauses and performance standards.

Compliance Driving the Shift Toward Organized Operators: The growing complexity of labour, safety, and transportation regulations is driving corporate clients away from unorganized vendors and toward structured fleet operators. Organized transportation providers are better equipped to meet regulatory requirements through standardized processes, technology-enabled monitoring, documented compliance frameworks, and audit-ready records, making them the preferred choice for large enterprises seeking to reduce operational and legal risks.

Trade Shows, Industry Exhibitions, and Product Launches

As India's economy continues to expand and businesses increasingly focus on brand visibility, customer engagement, and market expansion, trade shows, industry exhibitions, product launches, dealer meets, corporate showcases, and industry conferences have become important drivers of business activity. Participation in such events has increased across sectors including technology, automotive, healthcare, pharmaceuticals, manufacturing, financial services, consumer goods, telecommunications, and industrial products, thereby generating significant demand for organized mobility solutions.

The operationalization of world-class convention and exhibition infrastructure such as Bharat Mandapam in New Delhi, Yashobhoomi Convention CENTER in Dwarka, Jio World Convention CENTER, and the Nita Mukesh Ambani Cultural CENTER in Mumbai has significantly enhanced India's capability to host large-scale domestic and international exhibitions, government forums, industry summits, trade fairs, and business conferences. These venues regularly attract thousands of delegates, exhibitors, corporate executives, government officials, investors, media personnel, and international participants, creating substantial demand for coordinated transportation services.

Unlike routine corporate travel, event-related mobility requirements involve concentrated demand over a short period, strict scheduling requirements, movement of multiple stakeholder groups, and extensive coordination across airports, hotels, exhibition venues, convention CENTERS, networking events, and partner locations. The successful execution of such events depends heavily on reliable transportation services capable of ensuring seamless participant movement while maintaining high service standards and operational efficiency.

Corporate organizations increasingly rely on organized chauffeur-driven cab and coach operators to manage transportation requirements for senior management, exhibitors, event planners, marketing teams, technical personnel, support staff, clients, distributors, channel partners, and invited guests. Large-scale events often require the simultaneous deployment of multiple vehicle categories, ranging from luxury sedans and executive SUVs for VIP delegates to premium coaches and minibuses for employee groups, exhibitors, and conference attendees.

The growing scale and sophistication of trade events have increased demand for technology-enabled transportation solutions that offer centralized trip management, real-time fleet tracking, route optimization, vehicle scheduling, and on-ground coordination capabilities. Organizers increasingly prefer service providers capable of delivering integrated mobility solutions that ensure punctuality, flexibility, operational visibility, and a consistent customer experience throughout the event lifecycle.

Key transportation requirements associated with trade shows, exhibitions, and product launches include:

- Branded fleet deployment aligned with corporate identity and event positioning during high-visibility events.
- Coordinated airport transfers and multi-point pick-up and drop-off services across hotels, convention CENTERS, exhibition venues, and networking locations.
- Dedicated fleet marshals, centralized control rooms, and real-time operational dashboards to manage large-scale participant movement.

- Flexible vehicle deployment and standby fleet availability to accommodate schedule changes, unscheduled movements, and event extensions.
- Premium chauffeur-driven transportation for senior executives, keynote speakers, government dignitaries, international delegates, and VIP guests.
- Coach and shuttle services for exhibitors, conference participants, employee groups, and event attendees requiring high-volume transportation.

As India continues to position itself as a destination for global business events, international exhibitions, government summits, and large-scale corporate gatherings, demand for organized cab and coach rental services is expected to increase further. The growing MICE (Meetings, Incentives, Conferences, and Exhibitions) ecosystem, combined with investments in convention infrastructure and rising corporate event activity, is likely to remain a significant growth driver for the organized mobility industry.

Efficient mobility arrangements help improve attendee satisfaction, reduce delays, and enhance event participation, particularly for senior executives, international delegates, and key clients.

Growth in Multi City Product Launches

Companies increasingly conduct product launches and promotional campaigns across multiple cities to maximise market reach. Such initiatives require transportation partners capable of supporting consistent service delivery, route planning, and coordinated fleet deployment across different locations.

Expansion of Industry Specific Events

- Higher utilisation of shuttle services to manage large participant volumes efficiently.
- Greater focus on operational reliability and schedule adherence during high visibility corporate events.

As business events continue to expand in scale, complexity, and strategic importance, transportation providers are expected to play an increasingly critical role in ensuring seamless participant movement and supporting successful event execution. Organised cab and coach rental operators with strong fleet capabilities and event management expertise are likely to benefit from growing demand across trade shows, exhibitions, conferences, and product launch activities.

3.5.2 Cab and Coach Rental Services for Exhibitions, Conferences, and Product Launches

Efficient ground transportation plays a critical role in the successful execution of trade shows, industry exhibitions, product launches, dealer conferences, and corporate showcase events. In an environment where every stakeholder interaction contributes to brand perception and operational effectiveness, mobility services have evolved beyond a logistical support function to become an important component of the overall event experience.

For organisers and participating companies, transportation directly influences punctuality, attendee convenience, event coordination, and stakeholder satisfaction. Whether transporting senior executives, clients, delegates, exhibitors, media representatives, or support teams, well managed mobility solutions help ensure seamless event execution while reinforcing a professional corporate image.

As business events become larger and more complex, organisations increasingly require transportation providers capable of delivering structured fleet operations, coordinated scheduling, and consistent service quality across multiple locations and participant groups.

Transportation as an Extension of Brand Experience

Corporate events often represent high visibility opportunities where organisations interact with prospective customers, investors, channel partners, industry stakeholders, and media representatives. As a result, transportation services frequently serve as one of the first physical touchpoints between attendees and the event.

Professionally managed vehicles, organised arrival experiences, courteous chauffeurs, and efficient movement between venues contribute positively to participant perception and enhance the overall event experience. For premium product launches, investor events, and executive gatherings, mobility arrangements often reflect the quality, professionalism, and brand positioning of the host organisation.

Supporting Seamless Delegate and Participant Movement

Large exhibitions and conferences frequently involve the movement of attendees between airports, hotels, convention CENTERS, exhibition halls, networking venues, and offsite event locations. Coordinating these movements efficiently is essential to maintaining event schedules and ensuring a positive attendee experience.

Cab and coach operators support event organisers through:

- Airport pickup and drop services for delegates and speakers.
- Hotel shuttle operations connecting accommodation facilities and event venues.
- Scheduled transportation for networking sessions and evening functions.
- Dedicated mobility arrangements for exhibitors and event management teams.
- Transportation support for technical staff, logistics personnel, and support crews.

VIP and Executive Mobility Management

Senior executives, keynote speakers, investors, board members, and distinguished guests often require specialised transportation arrangements that prioritise comfort, privacy, punctuality, and reliability. Consequently, event organisers frequently deploy premium sedans, luxury SUVs, and dedicated chauffeur driven vehicles to support executive mobility requirements.

These services help ensure smooth movement between airports, hotels, business meetings, media interactions, and event venues while maintaining a high standard of service appropriate for senior stakeholders.

Shuttle Operations for Large Scale Events

For major exhibitions, trade fairs, and conferences, shuttle transportation plays an important role in managing large attendee volumes efficiently. Scheduled shuttle services help reduce congestion, improve participant convenience, and facilitate predictable movement across event locations.

Coach and minibus services are particularly valuable for:

- Delegate transportation between hotels and venues.
- Movement between multiple exhibition halls.
- Transportation to networking events and gala functions.
- Group transfers for corporate delegations and industry associations.
- Movement of event volunteers and operational teams.

Facilitating Multi Venue and Multi City Events

Many corporate roadshows, product launches, and promotional campaigns are conducted across multiple cities and venues within a limited timeframe. Such programmes require transportation providers capable of maintaining service consistency across different locations while supporting changing schedules and varying participant requirements.

The ability to coordinate vehicles, drivers, and participant movement across multiple destinations has become an important capability for transportation operators serving the corporate events segment.

Importance of Operational Coordination

Corporate events typically involve numerous stakeholders, including event organisers, venue operators, exhibitors, sponsors, hospitality partners, and transportation providers. Effective coordination among these stakeholders is essential for ensuring smooth event execution.

Transportation providers increasingly support event operations through:

- Centralised transportation planning.

- Contingency planning for schedule changes and operational disruptions.

Key Corporate Mobility Priorities During Events

- Reliable transportation schedules aligned with event programmes.
- Dedicated transportation support for speakers, sponsors, and executives.
- Efficient shuttle operations for large participant groups.
- Flexible vehicle deployment to accommodate changing event requirements.
- Consistent service standards across multiple venues and stakeholder groups.

Strategic Importance for Transportation Providers

The corporate events segment offers significant opportunities for cab and coach rental operators due to its recurring nature, large group travel requirements, and potential for long term client relationships. Successful execution of exhibitions, conferences, product launches, and corporate events often leads to repeat engagements across future business activities.

As India's corporate events industry continues to expand, transportation providers capable of delivering organised fleet management, reliable operations, premium service standards, and seamless participant mobility are expected to strengthen their position within this growing market segment.

Key Business Needs Requiring Cab and Coach Services for Corporate Events

Corporate events involve diverse stakeholder groups, varying travel schedules, and multiple transportation requirements that extend beyond conventional business travel. Event organisers increasingly depend on structured cab and coach services to facilitate efficient movement of employees, delegates, clients, partners, exhibitors, and operational teams throughout the event lifecycle.

The scale and complexity of transportation requirements often vary depending on event size, venue configuration, participant demographics, and programme schedules. Consequently, transportation providers must offer flexible fleet solutions capable of supporting both individual and group mobility needs.

Mobility Requirements Across Corporate Events

Key Business Need	Transportation Requirement
Employee and Staff Transportation	Corporate events frequently require movement of employees from offices, hotels, airports, and designated pickup locations to event venues. Efficient transportation planning helps ensure timely arrivals, smooth programme execution, and better coordination among participating teams.
Client and Partner Mobility	Business partners, investors, distributors, dealers, and strategic clients often require dedicated transportation arrangements that prioritise convenience, comfort, and punctuality. Premium transportation services help organisations deliver a professional and welcoming experience to key stakeholders.

Reliable mobility arrangements help ensure timely participation in meetings, presentations, and event activities.

Coordinated transportation services help minimise delays and improve overall event efficiency.
Event Operations and Support Mobility	Event planners, technical teams, production crews, registration personnel, and support staff frequently require transportation throughout the event duration. Flexible vehicle deployment helps ensure uninterrupted operational support and effective event management.
Airport Transfer Management	Participants arriving from different cities and countries often require organised airport transfers to hotels and event venues. Structured arrival and departure planning contributes to a seamless attendee experience and reduces logistical challenges.

Evolving Expectations from Corporate Clients

As corporate events become increasingly experience focused, organisations expect transportation providers to contribute beyond basic mobility support. Key expectations now include:

- Seamless coordination across multiple stakeholder groups.
- Consistent service quality throughout the event duration.
- Flexibility to accommodate schedule modifications and programme changes.
- Capacity to manage both individual and large group transportation requirements.
- Professional representation of the organisation during high visibility events.
- Reliable support during peak arrival and departure periods.

Increasing Importance of Integrated Event Mobility

Transportation is increasingly being integrated into broader event planning processes rather than being managed as an independent logistical activity. Event organisers now seek mobility partners capable of supporting participant experience, operational efficiency, and programme execution through coordinated transportation solutions.

As the scale of conferences, exhibitions, product launches, and corporate gatherings continues to expand, demand for organised cab and coach services is expected to grow steadily, creating opportunities for transportation providers with strong fleet management and event mobility capabilities.

Key Mobility Requirements for Corporate Events

Corporate events involve participants with varying transportation requirements depending on their role, seniority, group size, travel distance, and programme schedule. As a result, organisations typically deploy a combination of vehicle categories to ensure efficient mobility management while balancing comfort, operational efficiency, and cost considerations.

The choice of vehicle is influenced by factors such as participant volume, travel duration, event visibility, stakeholder importance, luggage requirements, and destination accessibility. Transportation providers are therefore expected to maintain diversified fleets capable of supporting both individual executive travel and large scale delegate movement.

Vehicle Categories Commonly Deployed for Corporate Events

Vehicle Type	Capacity	Typical Application
Hatchbacks	3 to 4 passengers	Support staff movement, short distance transfers, local travel requirements, and cost efficient transportation for operational teams.
Sedans	3 to 4 passengers	Airport transfers, executive travel, client meetings, speaker transportation, and business travel requiring a professional and comfortable travel experience.

Luxury Coaches	35 to 50 passengers	Large scale delegate transportation, exhibitions, corporate conventions, annual meetings, and employee engagement events involving significant participant volumes.

Factors Influencing Vehicle Selection

Group Size and Participant Volume

The number of attendees remains one of the primary determinants of fleet deployment. While executive mobility typically requires sedans or premium SUVs, larger conferences and exhibitions often depend on minibuses and coaches to facilitate efficient participant movement.

Nature of Participants

Different stakeholder groups have varying transportation expectations. Senior executives, investors, keynote speakers, and international delegates generally require premium mobility solutions, whereas operational teams and event staff may utilise standard fleet categories depending on programme requirements.

Distance and Duration of Travel

Long distance journeys and intercity travel generally necessitate vehicles offering enhanced passenger comfort, luggage capacity, and seating ergonomics. Group transportation for extended travel programmes often relies on coaches and premium buses equipped with additional passenger amenities.

Event Scale and Visibility

High profile events, product launches, investor meetings, and corporate showcases often require premium fleet deployment to align transportation standards with the organisation's brand image and stakeholder expectations.

Operational Flexibility

Corporate events frequently experience changes in schedules, participant arrivals, and venue requirements. Transportation providers must therefore maintain sufficient fleet flexibility to accommodate evolving mobility needs without disrupting programme execution.

Emerging Fleet Preferences in Corporate Mobility

Several trends are influencing fleet deployment decisions within the corporate events segment:

- Growing preference for premium vehicles for executive and client facing transportation.
- Increased utilisation of coaches and shuttle services to improve operational efficiency during large events.
- Rising demand for spacious vehicles capable of supporting luggage intensive travel programmes.
- Greater emphasis on passenger comfort during long distance and multi day events.
- Increasing adoption of environmentally conscious fleet options by organisations pursuing sustainability objectives.

3.6 Luxury Mobility Demand from Weddings and Social Celebrations

The demand for luxury cab and coach rental services in India has expanded beyond traditional corporate mobility requirements and is increasingly driven by personal celebrations, social gatherings, and milestone events. Weddings, anniversaries, birthdays, engagement ceremonies, baby showers, bachelor and bachelorette parties, and other special occasions have emerged as important demand generators for premium transportation services across the country.

As consumer preferences continue to evolve, transportation is no longer viewed solely as a logistical requirement but as an integral component of the overall event experience. The growing emphasis on experiential celebrations, personalized hospitality, and premium guest experiences has elevated the role of luxury mobility providers within the broader events ecosystem.

This trend is particularly evident in destination weddings and large-scale multi-day celebrations, where guest movement across airports, hotels, resorts, banquet venues, and event locations requires structured transportation planning and execution. In such settings, luxury vehicles serve not only a functional purpose but also contribute to the aesthetic appeal, exclusivity, and overall experience associated with the event.

The increasing popularity of destination weddings across heritage cities, beach destinations, luxury resorts, and cultural tourism hubs has further strengthened demand for premium mobility solutions. Luxury sedans, executive sport utility vehicles, vintage automobiles, premium multi-purpose vehicles, chauffeur-driven limousines, and high-end coaches are increasingly being deployed to support guest transportation, ceremonial entries, family movements, and hospitality requirements.

The segment is also benefiting from rising disposable incomes, increasing participation of high-net-worth and non-resident Indian families, growing influence of social media-driven celebrations, and the emergence of professional wedding planners and event management companies. These factors have collectively transformed luxury mobility from a supporting service into an important contributor to the overall guest experience.

As celebrations become larger, more customized, and experience-oriented, demand for professionally managed luxury transportation services is expected to witness sustained growth, creating significant opportunities for organized cab and coach rental operators capable of delivering premium vehicles, trained chauffeurs, personalized services, and seamless event execution.

3.6.1 Factors Driving Demand for Luxury Transportation in Weddings and Social Events

Rising Aspirational Consumption and Social Visibility

The growing influence of social media platforms has significantly altered the way celebrations are planned and experienced. Weddings and milestone events are increasingly designed to create visually compelling experiences that can be shared across digital platforms. Luxury vehicles often serve as focal elements during ceremonies, processions, guest arrivals, and content creation activities. As a result, demand for premium sedans, luxury SUVs, vintage automobiles, and uniquely styled vehicles has increased among consumers seeking enhanced visual appeal and aspirational value.

Experience-Oriented Celebrations

Consumer preferences are increasingly shifting towards experience-led spending, particularly in the events and celebrations segment. Families and individuals are allocating a larger share of event budgets towards creating memorable and differentiated experiences rather than focusing solely on traditional expenditure categories. In this environment, luxury transportation has evolved into an experiential element of the celebration itself, contributing to guest engagement, visual appeal, and overall event positioning. Premium vehicle entries, curated travel experiences, and themed transportation arrangements have become important components of modern celebrations.

Growing Preference for Personalization

Customization has become a defining characteristic of the modern celebrations market. Consumers increasingly seek transportation solutions that align with specific event themes, cultural traditions, and personal preferences. Mobility providers are responding by offering customized vehicle décor, personalized branding, curated music playlists, themed interiors, floral arrangements, welcome amenities, and bespoke guest experiences. Such personalization enhances exclusivity while allowing transportation services to integrate seamlessly into the broader event design.

Enhanced Focus on Premium Guest Hospitality

Guest experience has emerged as a key consideration in event planning, particularly within luxury weddings and high-value social gatherings. Organizers increasingly view transportation as an extension of hospitality rather than a standalone logistical function. Premium airport transfers, chauffeur-driven executive vehicles, dedicated guest assistance, and personalized arrival experiences are being adopted to ensure comfort, convenience, and a positive first impression for attendees.

Growth of Destination and Multi-Venue Events

The increasing popularity of destination weddings and large-scale celebrations has significantly expanded mobility requirements. Events are frequently conducted across multiple venues, including hotels, resorts, banquet facilities, heritage properties, and religious locations, creating a need for coordinated transportation planning. This has driven demand for structured fleet management, luxury coaches, premium minibuses, and dedicated guest transportation services capable of supporting seamless movement throughout the event lifecycle.

Professionalization of the Events Ecosystem

The growing presence of professional wedding planners, event management companies, luxury concierge operators, and hospitality specialists has contributed to the formalization of transportation requirements. Mobility services are increasingly incorporated into comprehensive event planning frameworks, leading to higher expectations regarding service quality, punctuality, fleet presentation, chauffeur professionalism, and operational coordination.

Rising Participation of High-Net-Worth and Global Guests

Luxury celebrations increasingly attract participation from non-resident Indians, high-net-worth individuals, corporate leaders, and international guests. This demographic typically expects globally benchmarked service standards, premium hospitality, and seamless transportation arrangements. Consequently, demand for executive vehicles, luxury airport transfers, premium coaches, and personalized chauffeur services continues to increase across high-value events.

Increasing Demand for Thematic Fleet Experiences

Transportation is increasingly being utilized as a visual and experiential extension of event themes. Wedding convoys, vintage vehicle collections, luxury car processions, and coordinated guest fleets are becoming more common across premium celebrations. These arrangements not only facilitate transportation but also contribute to event storytelling, brand positioning, and overall guest engagement, thereby strengthening demand for specialized luxury mobility services.

3.6.2 Segment-wise Demand Analysis of Luxury Vehicle Rentals for Personal Celebrations

The luxury mobility market caters to a diverse range of personal and social occasions, each characterized by distinct transportation requirements, customer expectations, and service preferences. While weddings remain the largest contributor to premium event transportation demand, other celebrations such as birthdays, anniversaries, bachelor and bachelorette parties, baby showers, and private social gatherings are increasingly generating demand for customized mobility solutions.

The choice of vehicle typically depends on the nature of the occasion, guest profile, group size, duration of travel, and desired experience. As consumers increasingly prioritize personalization and convenience, mobility providers are expanding their offerings beyond conventional transportation services to include curated onboard experiences, customized décor, entertainment features, and event-specific enhancements.

The increasing diversification of personal celebrations, combined with rising consumer spending on experiences, is expected to support sustained demand for premium transportation services across multiple event categories. Consequently, organized luxury mobility providers are increasingly positioning themselves as experience partners rather than traditional transportation operators, offering integrated solutions that combine mobility, hospitality, and personalization.

3.6.3 Luxury and Destination Weddings as a Key Driver of Premium Mobility Demand

India's wedding industry has evolved significantly over the past decade, transforming from traditional ceremonial gatherings into large-scale experiential events that combine cultural traditions, luxury hospitality, entertainment, tourism, and personalized guest experiences. This transformation has positioned luxury and destination weddings as one of the fastest-growing segments within the broader events, hospitality, and travel ecosystem.

Modern weddings are increasingly characterized by multi-day celebrations, elaborate themes, premium venue selection, curated guest experiences, and professionally managed event execution. Rather than being limited to a single ceremony, weddings today often encompass a series of functions including welcome events, engagement ceremonies, cocktail evenings, Mehendi, Haldi, Sangeet, wedding rituals, receptions, and post-wedding gatherings, each requiring dedicated planning and logistical coordination.

Destination weddings have emerged as a particularly prominent growth segment, driven by increasing consumer preference for exclusive venues, immersive experiences, and intimate celebrations in unique locations. Heritage cities, beach destinations, luxury resorts, hill stations, and cultural tourism hubs have become preferred wedding destinations due to their ability to combine hospitality, tourism, and event experiences within a single offering.

Popular domestic wedding destinations such as Udaipur, Jaipur, Goa, Jodhpur, Mussoorie, Rishikesh, Kerala, and other premium hospitality markets continue to attract significant demand from affluent families seeking customized and experience-driven celebrations. In addition, select international destinations are increasingly being considered by Indian families seeking globally benchmarked wedding experiences.

The growing participation of non-resident Indians (NRIs), high-net-worth individuals (HNIs), entrepreneurs, business families, and global guests has further elevated expectations regarding service quality, personalization, and hospitality standards. As a result, wedding planning increasingly incorporates elements such as luxury accommodation, destination management, premium transportation, curated entertainment, wellness experiences, and bespoke guest engagement programmes.

The expansion of organized wedding planning companies, event management firms, hospitality providers, and luxury service specialists has also contributed to the professionalization of the sector. These stakeholders play an important role in coordinating large-scale celebrations involving multiple venues, hundreds of guests, and complex logistical requirements while maintaining consistency in guest experience and service delivery.

As wedding celebrations continue to become more experiential and hospitality-oriented, transportation and mobility services are increasingly being integrated into the broader event ecosystem. Luxury cab and coach rental operators now play an important role in facilitating guest movement, enhancing hospitality standards, and ensuring seamless execution across multi-day wedding programmes.

The continued growth of destination weddings, rising consumer spending on celebrations, increasing influence of social media, and growing demand for personalized experiences are expected to support long-term expansion of the luxury wedding ecosystem, creating significant opportunities for organized mobility service providers catering to this segment.

Key Growth Drivers Supporting Luxury and Destination Weddings in India

The sustained growth of India's luxury and destination wedding market is being supported by a combination of demographic, economic, social, and lifestyle factors. 3.6.4 Luxury Mobility Planning for Multi-Day Wedding Functions

Luxury and destination weddings are increasingly structured as multi-day celebrations comprising several ceremonies, entertainment programmes, guest engagement activities, and hospitality events. As a result, transportation planning has evolved into a specialized function requiring coordination across venues, guest categories, event schedules, and hospitality requirements.

Rather than serving solely as a mode of transportation, luxury mobility solutions are increasingly designed to complement the theme, ambience, and guest experience associated with each function. Vehicle selection, fleet deployment, chauffeur allocation, and customization requirements are often tailored according to the nature of the ceremony and the profile of attendees.

Wedding planners, hospitality providers, and mobility operators increasingly collaborate to ensure that transportation arrangements align with the overall event concept while maintaining operational efficiency, safety, and guest convenience.

The growing participation of celebrities, business leaders, political personalities, international guests, social influencers, and high-net-worth individuals in luxury weddings has created demand for highly specialized transportation solutions focused on privacy, security, comfort, and protocol management.

Unlike conventional guest transportation, VVIP mobility requires detailed planning, route coordination, confidentiality, and enhanced service standards. Event organizers increasingly engage premium transportation providers capable of delivering seamless end-to-end mobility solutions for distinguished guests throughout the event duration.

Luxury vehicles deployed for this segment typically include premium sedans, executive SUVs and luxury MPVs offering enhanced comfort, privacy, and security features.

Bride and groom arrivals have evolved into one of the most anticipated and visually significant moments of modern weddings. These entries are increasingly designed as experiential showcases that reflect personal preferences, family traditions, event themes, and broader wedding narratives.

Consequently, transportation providers are increasingly required to deliver customized, camera-ready mobility experiences rather than standard transportation services. Vehicle selection, décor execution, route planning, convoy management, and arrival sequencing are carefully coordinated to maximize visual impact and guest engagement.

Luxury vehicles used for ceremonial entries range from vintage automobiles and premium convertibles to luxury sedans, sports cars, heritage vehicles, and customized thematic convoys.

India's expanding role as a host nation for international conferences, diplomatic engagements, and multilateral forums is expected to create a recurring source of demand for organized cab and coach rental services. Key demand drivers include:

BRICS Summit 2026 (India): India will host the 18th BRICS Summit in September 2026 as part of its rotating chairmanship of the BRICS bloc. The summit is expected to bring together heads of state, ministers, diplomats, business leaders, media delegations, security personnel, and support teams from BRICS member countries and partner nations. Preparations are already underway under India's 2026 BRICS Presidency. The event is expected to generate substantial demand for protocol-compliant transportation services, including luxury sedans, SUVs, executive vans, staff transport vehicles, airport transfers, and dedicated coach fleets for delegates and support personnel.

India-Africa Forum Summit (IAFS-IV): India was scheduled to host the Fourth India-Africa Forum Summit (IAFS-IV) in New Delhi from 28-31 May 2026, bringing together leaders from African nations, the African Union Commission, ministers, diplomats, trade representatives, and business delegations. The summit was subsequently postponed, with revised dates expected to be announced following consultations between India and the African Union. Whenever held, the summit is expected to create significant transportation demand through airport transfers, delegate shuttles, diplomatic convoy movements, hotel-to-venue transportation, and standby fleets for official engagements.

International Big Cat Alliance (IBCA) Meetings and Global Conservation Forums: India is leading the International Big Cat Alliance (IBCA), a global initiative involving 95 big-cat range countries. The first International IBCA Summit was initially scheduled to be held in New Delhi on 1 June 2026 (and subsequently postponed), with participation expected from conservation ministers, policymakers, scientists, international organizations, and government representatives from multiple countries. Beyond the flagship summit, ongoing alliance meetings, technical working groups, conservation conferences, and ministerial discussions are expected to generate recurring demand for organized transportation services, particularly in Delhi and other host cities.

Ongoing FTA Negotiations, Bilateral Summits, and Diplomatic Engagements: India continues to engage in a growing number of Free Trade Agreement (FTA) negotiations, tariff discussions, strategic dialogues, ministerial consultations, and bilateral summits with countries across Europe, the Middle East, Africa, ASEAN, and the Indo-Pacific region. These engagements occur throughout the year and require continuous deployment of protocol-compliant transportation services for visiting foreign delegations, trade negotiators, diplomats, government officials, business representatives, and security teams. The recurring nature of these engagements creates a stable source of demand for premium chauffeur-driven vehicles, executive transport services, luxury coaches, airport transfer fleets, and dedicated event transportation operators, particularly in Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, and other major diplomatic and business hubs.

3.6.7.9 Key Factors Driving Premium Mobility Demand Across Sporting Events

Increasing Scale and Complexity of Sports Events

The growing scale, frequency, and professionalization of sports events in India have emerged as important demand drivers for luxury cab and coach rental services. Major sporting leagues such as the Indian Premier League (IPL), Indian Super League (ISL), Pro Kabaddi League (PKL), Premier Badminton League, international cricket tournaments, golf championships, hockey events, and other global sporting competitions generate substantial transportation requirements across host cities. These events involve the coordinated movement of players, coaching staff, officials, sponsors, broadcasters, media personnel, support teams, and VIP guests between airports, hotels, training facilities, stadiums, and event venues.

Modern sports tournaments often function as large-scale logistical ecosystems requiring seamless transportation management. With hundreds of personnel associated with each event location, organizers increasingly rely on organized mobility providers capable of delivering reliable, punctual, and professionally managed transportation services. The requirement for airport transfers, dedicated team vehicles, shuttle services, and event-specific transportation planning has made luxury mobility an integral component of successful event execution.

Rising Commercialization and Premiumization of Sports

The increasing commercialization of sports in India has significantly elevated service expectations across all aspects of event management, including transportation. Sports franchises, sponsors, broadcasters, and event organizers increasingly seek premium mobility solutions that reflect the stature and branding of their respective organizations. Luxury transportation is no longer viewed solely as a logistical requirement but also as an extension of the overall event experience and brand image.

High-profile stakeholders including international athletes, franchise owners, corporate sponsors, broadcasters, celebrities, influencers, and government dignitaries often require executive transportation arrangements featuring premium sedans, luxury SUVs, executive vans, and chauffeur-driven vehicles. Consequently, operators offering superior service quality, professionally trained chauffeurs, premium vehicle fleets, and customized mobility solutions are witnessing increasing demand from the sports ecosystem.

Growing Focus on Athlete Comfort and Experience

Professional sports organizations are increasingly prioritizing athlete well-being, comfort, privacy, and recovery, thereby driving demand for premium transportation solutions. Luxury vehicles equipped with enhanced seating comfort, climate-controlled interiors, superior suspension systems, and customized amenities help minimize travel fatigue and improve overall athlete experience during tournaments involving frequent travel schedules.

As sporting leagues continue to attract international athletes and coaching staff, transportation standards are increasingly expected to align with global best practices, creating additional opportunities for organized luxury mobility providers.

Enhanced Security and Protocol Requirements

Security considerations have become increasingly important in major sporting events involving international participants, celebrity athletes, government representatives, and high-profile guests. Transportation providers are often required to comply with strict security protocols, including driver verification procedures, GPS-enabled vehicle monitoring, route coordination, convoy management, and controlled access arrangements.

Luxury fleet operators capable of providing secure transportation solutions, professionally trained chauffeurs, and real-time vehicle tracking systems are better positioned to cater to events where safety, privacy, and protocol compliance are critical operational requirements.

Expansion of Sporting Events into Tier-II and Tier-III Cities

The expansion of professional sports leagues into Tier-II and Tier-III cities has created new opportunities for luxury transportation providers. Sporting events are increasingly being hosted in cities such as Bhubaneswar, Ranchi, Kochi, Indore, Guwahati, Surat, Lucknow, and Visakhapatnam, resulting in growing demand for premium mobility services beyond traditional metropolitan markets.

Many emerging host cities continue to have limited availability of organized luxury transportation infrastructure, creating opportunities for established fleet operators to deploy premium vehicles, executive coaches, and customized event transportation solutions. This geographic expansion is contributing to broader market penetration for luxury cab and coach rental companies.

Growing Demand for Luxury Coaches and Group Transportation

Large sporting events frequently require the coordinated movement of teams, officials, media personnel, sponsors, and support staff in groups. This has increased demand for luxury coaches and executive transportation vehicles capable of handling high passenger volumes while maintaining comfort and operational efficiency.

Luxury coaches equipped with reclining seats, climate-controlled cabins, onboard entertainment systems, Wi-Fi connectivity, and enhanced luggage capacity are increasingly being utilized for team transportation, sponsor movements, media transfers, and event shuttle operations. The growing adoption of premium group transportation solutions reflects the increasing emphasis on participant experience and operational professionalism within India's sports ecosystem.

Technology-Enabled Mobility Management

Technology is playing an increasingly important role in sports-event transportation management. Event organizers and fleet operators are leveraging GPS-enabled fleet tracking, telematics systems, digital dispatch platforms, route optimization tools, and real-time scheduling solutions to manage complex transportation requirements efficiently.

The adoption of AI-enabled fleet monitoring, predictive maintenance systems, and intelligent route planning solutions is further enhancing operational reliability, reducing delays, and improving service quality. As sporting events continue to grow in scale and complexity, technology-enabled mobility solutions are expected to become increasingly important in ensuring seamless event execution.

Major Global Sporting Events Creating Long-Term Demand Opportunities for Cab and Coach Rental Operators

India's ambition to establish itself as a global sporting destination is expected to create significant long-term opportunities for the cab and coach rental services industry. Large-scale international sporting events require extensive transportation infrastructure to facilitate the movement of athletes, officials, media personnel, sponsors, spectators, volunteers, and support staff, generating substantial demand for organized mobility services. Furthermore, such events typically require strict service standards, real-time fleet monitoring, multilingual support, protocol-compliant transportation, and large-scale fleet coordination, positioning organized fleet operators as key beneficiaries.

Commonwealth Games 2030: Ahmedabad has been formally ratified as the host city for the Centenary Commonwealth Games in 2030. The event is expected to attract thousands of athletes, team officials, media representatives, sponsors, volunteers, and international visitors from across the Commonwealth. The Games will generate significant demand for airport transfers, athlete transportation, VIP chauffeur services, event shuttle operations, and large-scale coach deployment connecting hotels, competition venues, airports, and fan zones.

Olympic Games 2036: India is actively pursuing its bid to host the 2036 Summer Olympic Games, with Ahmedabad proposed as the host city. The Indian Olympic Association (IOA) has formally submitted a Letter of Intent to the International Olympic Committee (IOC), and the bid is currently in the "Continuous Dialogue" phase with the IOC's Future Host Commission. If successful, preparations would begin several years in advance, creating substantial demand for organized transportation services across event planning, infrastructure development, test events, and eventual Olympic operations.

Asian Games 2038: India has expressed its intention to bid for the 2038 Asian Games, with Ahmedabad again emerging as the proposed host city. The Indian Olympic Association has reportedly submitted an Expression of Interest to the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA). If awarded, the event would further strengthen long-term transportation demand by requiring extensive mobility solutions for athletes, officials, spectators, media personnel, and sponsors from across Asia.

World Championships and International Sporting Tournaments: India continues to attract and bid for major international events across sports such as badminton, archery, athletics, hockey, cricket, wrestling, shooting, and other Olympic disciplines. These tournaments create recurring demand for chauffeur-driven vehicles, team transportation, airport transfers, event shuttles, premium coaches, and logistics support for athletes, officials, sponsors, broadcasters, and spectators.

Infrastructure-Led Demand Creation: Preparations for hosting global sporting events typically involve large-scale investments in stadiums, airports, highways, metro systems, hotels, convention centers, and tourism infrastructure. These developments not only generate transportation demand during the event period but also create sustained opportunities for cab and coach rental operators in the years leading up to and following the events through increased tourism, business travel, and urban mobility requirements

3.7 Major Demand Drivers Supporting the Luxury Mobility Market in India

3.7.1 Growing Affluent Consumer Base and Rising HNI/UHNI Population in India

India's rapidly expanding affluent population is emerging as one of the most significant demand drivers for luxury mobility services. The increasing number of High-Net-Worth Individuals (HNIs) coupled with rising disposable incomes and changing consumption patterns, is creating a larger customer base for premium chauffeur driven transportation solutions.

India currently ranks among the world's fastest-growing wealth creation markets and continues to witness substantial expansion in its affluent consumer segment. As of 2024, India is estimated to have approximately 850,000 HNIs and nearly 13,600 UHNWIs, placing the country amongst the largest wealth markets globally. A notable characteristic of India's affluent population is its relatively young profile, with nearly one-fifth of HNIs being below 40 years of age. This demographic typically demonstrates higher spending on experiences, convenience, personalization, and premium lifestyle services compared to previous generations.

Wealth creation across sectors such as technology, financial services, manufacturing, real estate, private equity, and startup ecosystems has further accelerated the expansion of this consumer segment. Rising participation in capital markets, entrepreneurial activity, and asset appreciation have collectively strengthened purchasing power among affluent households.

Tax filing trends further highlight this shift. The number of individuals reporting annual taxable income exceeding INR 1 crore has increased substantially in recent years, while taxpayers declaring income above INR 10 crore continue to grow steadily. The increase in high-income earners has significantly outpaced overall growth in tax filers, indicating increasing concentration of wealth among upper-income groups.

This evolving demographic increasingly prioritizes convenience, privacy, exclusivity, and premium service standards. As a result, demand for chauffeur driven luxury sedans, executive SUVs, premium airport transfers, intercity luxury travel, and personalized mobility solutions is expected to witness sustained growth.

Furthermore, many affluent consumers increasingly prefer access over ownership for specific travel occasions, creating additional opportunities for organized luxury mobility providers. Consequently, the expanding HNI and UHNWI population is expected to remain a key structural growth driver for India's luxury cab and coach rental industry over the medium to long term.

3.7.2 Rising Luxury Vehicle Adoption Reflecting Growing Premium Mobility Preferences

The strong growth witnessed in India's luxury automobile market reflects the broader premiumization trend across consumer spending categories and serves as an important indicator of future demand for luxury transportation services.

Luxury vehicle sales in India increased from approximately 28,329 units in FY2022 to nearly 52,954 units in FY2026, representing a CAGR of around 16.9% during the period. Sales growth remained consistent throughout the period, supported by improving economic conditions, increasing household wealth, stronger corporate profitability, and rising aspirational consumption.

The market expanded from approximately 36,508 units in FY2023 to 45,311 units in FY2024 and further to nearly 48,849 units in FY2025 before reaching record levels in FY2026.

Growth has been particularly strong in premium SUVs, luxury electric vehicles, and chauffeur-driven vehicle categories. Luxury automotive manufacturers have actively expanded their product portfolios, introduced electrified models, and strengthened customer engagement strategies to attract younger buyers and first-time luxury consumers.

Beyond ownership, increasing visibility of luxury vehicles through premium tourism, executive transportation, luxury hotels, destination weddings, and chauffeur driven services has enhanced consumer familiarity and acceptance of premium mobility solutions.

The expansion of luxury vehicle financing, leasing programmes, subscription models, and improved dealership penetration across Tier II cities has further widened the addressable market for premium transportation services.

As luxury vehicle ownership continues to rise, customer expectations regarding comfort, service quality, vehicle standards, and personalized travel experiences are also increasing. This trend is expected to support long-term demand growth for organized luxury cab and coach operators capable of delivering premium mobility solutions.

3.7.3 Expansion of the Wedding and Events Market in India

India's wedding and events industry has evolved into one of the largest contributors to premium transportation demand. The increasing scale, sophistication, and experiential nature of celebrations have elevated transportation from a functional requirement to an integral component of the overall guest experience.

India hosts an estimated 10 million weddings annually, making it one of the largest wedding markets globally. Rising disposable incomes, increasing participation of affluent families, and growing popularity of destination weddings have significantly increased demand for luxury mobility services across wedding-related events.

Luxury vehicles are increasingly deployed for airport transfers, bridal and groom entries, VIP guest movements, family transportation, and multi venue event coordination. Premium coaches, luxury vans, executive SUVs, and chauffeur driven sedans are now routinely integrated into wedding planning budgets.

Beyond weddings, India's expanding live entertainment industry is generating substantial transportation demand. Large-scale concerts, music festivals, sporting events, exhibitions, stand-up comedy tours, cultural festivals, and international entertainment shows continue to attract significant audiences across major cities.

Events featuring international and domestic performers such as Coldplay, Ed Sheeran, Dua Lipa, Diljit Dosanjh, Arijit Singh, and other marquee artists have accelerated demand for premium transportation solutions catering to artists, production teams, sponsors, VIP attendees, and event organizers.

The increasing professionalization of event management, combined with growing consumer preference for seamless and experience-driven celebrations, is expected to support continued expansion of luxury cab and coach rental services within the events ecosystem.

3.7.4 Increasing Adoption of Premium Vehicles in Cab and Coach Fleets

India's mobility sector is witnessing a gradual transition from conventional transportation services towards experience-led premium mobility solutions. Customer expectations are increasingly centered around convenience, personalization, comfort, safety, and service excellence rather than transportation alone.

Corporates, affluent consumers, international tourists, wedding planners, diplomatic delegations, and event organizers increasingly prefer professionally managed mobility providers capable of delivering consistent service quality and premium travel experiences.

Key factors supporting fleet premiumization include:

Enhanced Onboard Experience

Modern luxury fleets increasingly offer value-added amenities such as Wi-Fi connectivity, charging stations, ambient lighting, premium seating configurations, infotainment systems, refreshments, and personalized travel experiences.

Strategic Ecosystem Partnerships

Collaborations with luxury hotels, travel companies, destination management firms, wedding planners, event organizers, and corporate travel agencies are enabling operators to expand customer reach and strengthen occupancy levels.

Looking ahead, increasing adoption of premium electric vehicles, AI-enabled fleet management systems, subscription-based mobility models, and personalized transportation offerings is expected to further accelerate premiumization across India's luxury cab and coach rental industry.

3.9 Major Risks and Industry Challenges Affecting Cab and Coach Rental Operators

Challenges	Description
Dependence on Skilled Chauffeurs and Service Personnel	Service quality in the luxury mobility segment is heavily dependent on chauffeur professionalism, customer handling capabilities, and adherence to safety protocols. Recruiting, training, and retaining experienced chauffeurs remains a challenge due to increasing competition for skilled personnel and rising wage expectations.
Seasonality and Demand Volatility	Demand is often linked to weddings, tourism seasons, corporate events, government summits, and festive periods. Off-season periods can result in lower fleet utilization levels, affecting revenue generation while fixed costs such as financing obligations, insurance, and maintenance continue to be incurred.

Regulatory and Compliance Requirements	Operators are required to comply with various central and state-level regulations relating to permits, taxation, vehicle fitness, driver licensing, passenger safety, and environmental standards. Evolving emission norms and increasing focus on sustainable mobility may necessitate fleet modernization and additional capital expenditure.
Capital Intensive Business Model	The luxury cab and coach rental industry requires substantial upfront investment in premium vehicles, fleet expansion, permits, insurance, technology platforms, and maintenance infrastructure. Luxury vehicles typically involve higher acquisition costs and depreciation expenses, making profitability highly dependent on fleet utilization levels, pricing discipline, and demand consistency.
High Operating and Maintenance Costs	Premium fleets require regular servicing, preventive maintenance, specialized repairs, and periodic refurbishment to maintain service quality standards. Rising fuel prices, insurance premiums, spare part costs, and employee expenses can exert pressure on operating margins, particularly during periods of lower utilization.
Industry Fragmentation and Limited Standardization	The Indian cab and coach rental market remains highly fragmented with the presence of numerous regional and unorganized operators. Variations in service standards, fleet quality, pricing structures, and operational practices create challenges for organized players seeking to maintain premium positioning and consistent customer experiences.

Delays in procurement, logistics disruptions, or foreign exchange fluctuations can extend vehicle downtime, increase maintenance costs, and affect fleet availability during peak demand periods.
Urban Congestion and Infrastructure Constraints	Traffic congestion, parking shortages, restricted access zones, and movement limitations for large vehicles in urban areas can affect operational efficiency. These challenges may result in longer travel times, higher operating costs, and reduced fleet productivity.
Technology and Cybersecurity Risks	Increasing reliance on digital booking platforms, GPS tracking systems, fleet management software, and customer databases exposes operators to technology failures, cybersecurity threats, and data privacy risks. Service disruptions may adversely impact customer experience and brand reputation.
Macroeconomic and Tourism-Related Risks	Economic slowdowns, geopolitical uncertainties, public health events, or disruptions in tourism activity can adversely affect discretionary spending on luxury transportation services. Corporate travel budgets and event-related expenditures may also be impacted during periods of economic uncertainty.

- Strong demand from destination weddings, luxury celebrations, corporate events, government summits, diplomatic delegations, international conferences, sporting tournaments, and MICE activities creates multiple recurring revenue streams.
- Availability of a diversified fleet portfolio comprising luxury sedans, premium SUVs, executive vans, luxury MPVs, minibuses, and premium coaches enables operators to cater to a broad spectrum of customer requirements.
- Long-standing relationships with luxury hotels, travel management companies, event organizers, airlines, corporate clients, and government institutions support recurring business generation and improve fleet utilization.
- Advancements in fleet management technology, GPS-enabled tracking, digital booking platforms, CRM systems, and real-time operational monitoring enhance service quality, transparency, and customer experience.
- Growth in domestic tourism, premium leisure travel, experiential tourism, wellness tourism, and luxury hospitality continues to expand demand for premium transportation services.
- Government initiatives such as the Swadesh Darshan Scheme, PRASAD Scheme, National Digital Tourism Mission, airport modernization programs, and highway infrastructure development indirectly support the expansion of luxury mobility services across emerging tourism circuits.

3.10.2 Weaknesses

- The industry remains highly capital intensive due to substantial investments required for fleet acquisition, vehicle financing, maintenance, insurance, permits, and technology infrastructure.
- Luxury vehicles experience relatively high depreciation and require periodic upgrades to maintain premium positioning, resulting in elevated lifecycle costs.
- Dependence on skilled chauffeurs and hospitality-trained personnel creates challenges relating to recruitment, training, retention, and service standardization.
- Scaling operations across multiple geographies requires significant investments in fleet expansion, service infrastructure, local partnerships, and compliance management.
- Demand remains concentrated around weddings, tourism seasons, corporate events, and festive periods, resulting in fluctuating fleet utilization and uneven revenue generation.
- Many emerging tourism destinations continue to face limitations relating to road infrastructure, charging infrastructure, premium hospitality facilities, vehicle servicing networks, and spare-part availability.
- Availability of imported spare parts and specialized maintenance support for premium vehicles remains limited in certain regions, potentially leading to increased downtime and higher operating costs.
- The market remains fragmented, with the presence of numerous regional and unorganized operators offering inconsistent pricing and service quality, making brand differentiation challenging for organized players.

3.10.3 Opportunities

- Rising inbound tourism, increasing international visitor arrivals, and growing demand for premium travel experiences create opportunities for luxury airport transfers, chauffeur-driven tours, and customized travel solutions.
- Expansion of destination weddings, luxury celebrations, private events, and multi-day social gatherings is generating recurring demand for premium transportation services.
- Growing adoption of organized mobility solutions by corporates for executive transportation, employee mobility, conferences, exhibitions, and event logistics supports long-term market growth.
- Increasing affluence, improved infrastructure, and rising aspirational spending in Tier II and Tier III cities provide opportunities for operators to expand beyond traditional metropolitan markets.
- Growing preference for access-based consumption models is encouraging customers to rent luxury vehicles rather than purchase them, supporting demand for premium rental services.
- Adoption of electric luxury vehicles, hybrid fleets, and ESG-aligned transportation solutions can create differentiation and attract environmentally conscious corporate and leisure customers.

- Technology-driven innovations such as AI-enabled fleet optimization, predictive maintenance, telematics, dynamic pricing, and integrated customer engagement platforms offer opportunities to improve operational efficiency and profitability.
- Increasing frequency of international conferences, government summits, diplomatic engagements, sporting events, entertainment shows, and cultural festivals provides additional high-value mobility opportunities.
- Strategic partnerships with luxury hotels, airlines, travel operators, destination management companies, and hospitality platforms can strengthen customer acquisition and service integration.

3.10.4 Threats

- Economic slowdowns, inflationary pressures, and fluctuations in discretionary spending may temporarily affect demand for luxury transportation and premium travel services.
- Rising fuel prices, insurance costs, financing expenses, vehicle acquisition costs, and maintenance expenditure can impact operating margins if increases cannot be passed on to customers.
- Intensifying competition from organized fleet operators, luxury mobility platforms, ride-hailing companies, self-drive rental operators, and emerging premium transportation models may create pricing pressure.
- The emergence of luxury vehicle subscription services, peer-to-peer luxury vehicle rentals, premium EV leasing platforms, and alternative mobility formats could fragment customer demand.
- Regulatory changes relating to emissions standards, vehicle permits, EV transition requirements, taxation policies, and operating licenses may increase compliance costs.
- Regional transport regulations and inter-state permit requirements can create operational complexities and restrict seamless scalability across geographies.
- Traffic congestion, parking constraints, route restrictions, and urban mobility regulations may adversely affect service efficiency and customer experience.
- Environmental restrictions, tourism caps, vehicle quotas, and access limitations in ecologically sensitive destinations such as Ladakh, Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand, and protected tourism zones may limit operational flexibility.
- Cybersecurity risks, digital platform disruptions, and data privacy concerns could impact customer trust and operational continuity in an increasingly technology-driven business environment.
- Dependence on imported luxury vehicles and spare parts exposes operators to currency fluctuations, supply-chain disruptions, and longer maintenance turnaround times.

4. Government Policies and Regulatory Landscape

4.1 Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines 2020

The Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines, 2020, issued by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways, were introduced in accordance with the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 2019 to establish a formal regulatory framework for app-based transport aggregators in India. By incorporating the definition of “aggregator” into the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, the guidelines address the earlier absence of clear regulation in this sector.

Since 2020, India’s shared mobility ecosystem has undergone rapid and significant change. The rise in demand for diverse and flexible mobility solutions including bike-sharing, introduction of electric vehicles (EVs), and auto-rickshaw rides, has widened the consumer base. As the travel preferences evolve, aggregators have expanded their services to meet these new demands through innovative models. They aim to promote shared mobility, reduce traffic congestion and vehicular pollution, and simultaneously enhance ease of doing business, customer safety, and driver welfare. The framework also recognizes aggregator services as an important public utility contributing to employment generation and affordable, efficient transportation.

4.1.1 Key Features of Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines, 2020

- Eligibility and Entry Requirements: The guidelines specify that only legally recognized entities are eligible to operate as aggregators, namely companies registered under the Companies Act, 2013 or co-operative societies under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912. Such entities are also required to maintain a registered office within India to ensure effective regulatory oversight and accountability.

- Licensing Framework and Regulatory Control: Aggregators must obtain a licence from the Competent Authority, which is valid for a period of five years and subject to renewal upon compliance with prescribed conditions. The authority has the power to cancel licences in cases of non-compliance and is responsible for ensuring transparency by maintaining and publishing an updated list of licensed aggregators on the State Transport Authority portal.
- Driver and Vehicle Compliance Standards: The guidelines impose detailed compliance requirements for both drivers and vehicles. Drivers must meet prescribed standards such as verification of driving competence, knowledge of relevant laws, and gender sensitisation, along with possessing valid documentation and undergoing police verification. Vehicles, on the other hand, must have valid registration, permits, fitness certificates, insurance coverage, adherence to fuel norms, payment of applicable taxes, and necessary safety features.
- Fare Regulation and Revenue Sharing Mechanism: The fare structure is linked to city taxi rates indexed to the Wholesale Price Index, ensuring consistency with prevailing economic conditions. Aggregators are permitted to offer fares up to 50 percent below the base fare and apply surge pricing up to 1.5 times the base fare. The guidelines also ensure fair compensation for drivers by mandating that they receive at least 80 percent of the fare charged for each ride.

4.1.2 Major Provisions of the Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines, 2020

- Licensing: The guidelines mandate that all aggregators must obtain a valid license from the respective State Government as a precondition for commencing and continuing business operations. This ensures that only authorized entities are permitted to operate within the shared mobility ecosystem, thereby formalizing the sector.
- Regulatory Framework: The Central Government provides overarching guidelines, which State Governments may adopt to regulate aggregators within their jurisdictions. The framework, supported by Section 93 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, empowers states to enforce compliance through penalties and supervisory mechanisms, ensuring accountability and responsible conduct of aggregators.
- Compliance Areas: Aggregators are required to adhere to prescribed standards concerning vehicles, drivers, and digital platforms such as mobile applications and websites. The guidelines also emphasize fare regulation, passenger safety, driver welfare, and service quality, while accommodating emerging mobility practices like ride-sharing and carpooling.
- EV Exemption: In alignment with environmental and sustainability goals, electric vehicles and those operating on alternative fuels such as ethanol or methanol have been exempted from certain permit requirements. State Governments are encouraged to facilitate and promote the adoption of such vehicles to reduce fuel consumption, lower emissions, and support cleaner mobility solutions.

4.2 Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines 2025

The Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines (MVAG) 2025, issued by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH), establish a “light-touch” regulatory approach aimed at modernizing India’s app-based shared mobility ecosystem. Replacing the 2020 framework, the new guidelines permit commercial bike taxis, require the gradual adoption of electric vehicles (EVs), introduce a centralized single-window licensing system, and seek to balance market efficiency with driver welfare and passenger safety.

To streamline processes and reduce administrative friction, the 2025 guidelines do away with fragmented, city-specific applications and implement a unified licensing portal with a clearly defined 90-day approval timeline.

Further, by revising dynamic surge pricing with a cap of up to 2.0x, introducing ownership-based revenue-sharing models, and enforcing robust, inclusive passenger safety measures such as mandatory psychological assessments for drivers and specialized sensitization training for assisting persons with disabilities (Divyangjan) the MVAG 2025 lays out a comprehensive and forward-looking framework for managing India's expansive urban mobility sector.

- Licensing and Regulatory Framework: The 2025 guidelines refine the licensing system by reducing the suspension period from six months to three months, ensuring faster enforcement of compliance. They also introduce stricter provisions for cancellation of licences in cases of repeated violations over three financial years. Additionally, State Governments are given flexibility to allow aggregation of non-transport motorcycles, expanding mobility options.
- Driver Welfare and Safety Measures: Aggregators are required to follow more robust onboarding and welfare practices, including psychological and medical checks for drivers. A minimum of 40 hours of induction training is mandated, with a focus on safety, customer service, and sensitivity towards gender and persons with disabilities. The guidelines also ensure improved insurance coverage for drivers with periodic increases, along with a minimum INR5 lakh insurance cover for passengers.
- Fare Regulation and Pricing Flexibility: The framework continues to base fares on rates notified by State Governments but allows aggregators greater flexibility. They may charge fares as low as 50% of the base rate during low demand, while dynamic pricing during peak periods can go up to twice the base fare, increasing from the earlier cap of 1.5x times.
- Fleet Standards and Sustainability Goals: The guidelines require aggregators to maintain better fleet quality by restricting vehicles older than eight years. They also promote sustainability and inclusivity by empowering State Governments to mandate a gradual increase in electric or alternative fuel vehicles and the inclusion of specially designed vehicles for persons with disabilities.

The 2025 guidelines expand the regulatory scope to include bike taxis, electric two-wheelers (e-2W), electric three-wheelers (including auto-rickshaws), and electric four-wheelers. Notably, this is the first time bike taxis have been formally permitted under a state-licensed aggregator framework.

The inclusion of bike taxis, along with clear mandates for electric vehicle (EV) adoption, represents a significant shift from the Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines 2020 to the 2025 version. While the 2020 framework largely focused on traditional internal combustion engine (ICE) cabs and auto-rickshaws, the 2025 guidelines update the regulatory landscape to accommodate micro-mobility solutions and promote environmentally sustainable transport.

- State Government Perspectives on MVAG 2025

- Maharashtra

- Surge Pricing Suppression: While the central MVAG 2025 guidelines allow aggregators to scale surge pricing up to 2x (twice) the base fare during peak hours, Maharashtra explicitly capped maximum surge pricing at 1.5 times the base fare to protect Mumbai and Pune consumers from price gouging.
 - Floor Price Adjustments: The central framework allows a lower-end discount floor of up to 50% below base fare. Maharashtra limited this, stating fares cannot drop below 25% of the base fare fixed by local Regional Transport Authorities (RTAs) to prevent predatory pricing from wiping out local taxi/auto drivers.

- Delhi (NCR Area)

- Aggressive Green Fleet Mandate: Delhi leveraged the 2025 guidelines to aggressively enforce air quality targets. It created a hard transition timeline requiring aggregators to switch 100% of their new onboarded three-wheelers and four-wheelers to pure electric vehicles (EVs) much faster than standard pan-India baselines.

- Impact of the MVAG Schemes

- Macroeconomic and Labor Market Impact

- Income Security for Gig Workers: The mandate ensuring drivers receive at least 80% of the total fare significantly reduced the ability of tech platforms to arbitrarily increase their commission cuts.
 - The Rise of the Micro-Entrepreneur: Legalizing non-transport (private registration) motorcycles as bike taxis opened mass employment. This became a critical economic safety net in Tier-2 and Tier-3 Indian cities, where formal jobs are scarce.
 - The Formalization of Informal Labor: By forcing aggregators to provide INR5 lakh health insurance and INR10 lakh term insurance, the central guidelines-initiated India's first large-scale formalization of platform gig workers.

- Environmental and Urban Mobility Shifts

- Accelerating the Electric Vehicle (EV) Transition: MVAG has become India's most effective tool for corporate decarbonization. Because states have the power to set hard EV onboarding targets for fleet aggregators, companies like Ola, Uber, and Zepto are driving a massive percentage of India's commercial 2-wheeler and 3-wheeler EV sales to meet local compliance.
 - Standardizing First-and-Last Mile Connectivity: By establishing clear rules for ride-pooling and app-based aggregators, the guidelines helped integrate private tech fleets with public metro rail networks across major metropolitan areas.

- Corporate and Business Ecosystem Impact

- Increased Operational Compliance Costs: Aggregators faced a heavier financial burden due to mandatory security deposits (up to INR 50 lakh), continuous background screening, and required 40-hour driver training programs.
 - The Surge Pricing Margin Squeeze: Capping surge pricing (typically at 1.5x or 2x of the base fare depending on the state) protected consumer wallets but altered the profitability models of ridesharing giants.

4.3 FAME II Scheme

The Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of (Hybrid &) Electric Vehicles (FAME) India Scheme is a flagship initiative of the Government of India aimed at promoting electric mobility and reducing dependence on fossil fuels. It seeks to encourage the adoption of electric vehicles (EVs) through financial incentives, development of charging infrastructure, and support for domestic manufacturing, thereby contributing to sustainable and environmentally friendly transportation.

4.3.1 Key Features of FAME II Scheme

- Implementation and Evolution of the FAME Scheme: The Government of India has played a pivotal role in advancing electric mobility through the FAME India Scheme, implemented in two phases between 2015 and 2024. Phase I (2015-2019) served as a pilot programme, supporting around 2.8 lakh electric and hybrid vehicles, deploying over 400 electric buses, and initiating early-stage charging infrastructure and research initiatives.
- Expansion under Phase II: Phase II (2019-2024) marked a significant scale-up, with the budget revised to INR 11,500 crore from the initial INR 10,000 crore. This phase enabled the deployment of over 16.7 lakh electric vehicles, more than 5,000 electric buses, and the installation of over 9,000 public charging stations.
- Financial Incentives and Impact: The scheme offered targeted financial incentives, including subsidies for EV purchases and support for charging infrastructure development. Incentives were linked to battery capacity, with INR 10,000 per kWh for electric three- and four-wheelers (capped at 20% of vehicle cost), and an increased INR 15,000 per kWh for electric two-wheelers (capped at 40%) from June 11, 2021. These measures boosted domestic manufacturing and accelerated the transition to sustainable transport.
- Transition to the PM E-DRIVE Scheme (2024): Building on the achievements of FAME, the PM Electric Drive Revolution in Innovative Vehicle Enhancement (PM E-DRIVE) Scheme was approved on September 11, 2024, to further advance EV adoption and infrastructure development. With a financial outlay of INR 10,900 crore over two years, it includes demand incentives of INR 3,679 crore for various EV categories such as e-2Ws, e-3Ws, e-ambulances, e-trucks, and buses. The scheme targets the deployment of approximately 24.79 lakh e-2Ws, 3.16 lakh e-3Ws, and more than 14,000 electric buses.

4.3.2 Core Objectives of the FAME-II Scheme

- Decarbonising Public Transport: Prioritising budgetary outlays to deploy over 7,000 electric buses across State Transport.
- Commercial Shared Mobility: Restricting third-party subsidies for four-wheelers and three-wheelers exclusively to public transport, commercial cabs, and freight delivery networks.
- Mass Two-Wheeler Adoption: Bridging the upfront price gap for daily commuters by providing direct showroom discounts on electric scooters and motorcycles.
- Eradicating Range Anxiety: Funding and installing thousands of Public EV Charging Stations along major national highways and across high-density urban smart cities.
- Driving Supply Chain Localization: Enforcing a strict 50% Domestic Value Addition mandate under the Phased Manufacturing Programme to establish a self-reliant Indian EV manufacturing ecosystem.

Transition to Other Schemes

- The Electric Mobility Promotion Scheme (EMPS) 2024 was a strategic, transitional initiative introduced by the Ministry of Heavy Industries to bridge the regulatory gap between the expiration of the FAME-II scheme and the formal activation of the broader PM E-DRIVE program. Launched initially with a budgetary allocation of INR500 crore for four months, the government subsequently upgraded the financial outlay to INR778 crore to extend its operations. The essential objective of EMPS 2024 was to maintain momentum in green transport adoption by targeting the fastest-growing two-wheeler (e-2W) and three-wheeler (e-3W) segments, providing crucial continuity in point-of-sale customer discounts.
- PM E-DRIVE Scheme (2024- 2028): The PM Electric Drive Revolution in Innovative Vehicle Enhancement (PM E-DRIVE) is India's flagship incentive program launched by the Ministry of Heavy Industries to accelerate the mass adoption of electric vehicles (EVs) was approved on 11 September 2024, aims to expand EVs and charging infrastructure across India. With a total outlay of INR 10,900 crore over two years but later extended till March 2028, it provides demand incentives for a wide range of electric vehicles, including e-2Ws, e-3Ws, e-ambulances, e-trucks, and buses, targeting deployment of 24.79 lakh e-2Ws, 2.89 lakh e-3Ws, and over 14,000 e-buses.

It explicitly expands on earlier green transport initiatives by providing targeted financial subsidies for electric two-wheelers (e-2Ws) capped at a INR1.5 lakh ex-factory value, electric three-wheelers (e-rickshaws) capped at a INR2.5 lakh value, electric ambulances, and electric cargo trucks.

To address technological, research and development, and ecosystem-related challenges under the PM E-DRIVE Scheme (effective from 1 April 2024), several key measures have been undertaken. An allocation of INR 780 crore has been made for upgrading testing agencies to strengthen R&D capabilities. There has been an INR 2,000 crore outlay for installing 22,100 fast chargers (e-4Ws), 1,800 for e-buses, and 48,400 for e-2Ws/3Ws in high EV penetration cities and highways.

4.4 Data Protection and Digital Platform Regulation

The Government of India notified the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025 on 14 November 2025, thereby completing the operationalisation of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023. Together, the Act and the Rules establish a comprehensive and citizen centric framework for the responsible handling of digital personal data, ensuring a balance between individual rights and lawful data processing. The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology adopted a consultative approach by inviting public comments on the draft Rules prior to their finalisation. Enacted by Parliament on 11 August 2023, the Act provides a structured legal regime for the collection, storage, and use of digital personal data in India, with the objective of curbing unauthorised commercial use, minimising digital harms, and fostering a secure environment for innovation.

The Act adopts the SARAL approach, meaning Simple, Accessible, Rational, and Actionable, which enhances clarity and facilitates ease of implementation. It is guided by seven core principles, namely consent and transparency, purpose limitation, data minimisation, accuracy, storage limitation, security safeguards, and accountability. These principles regulate every stage of data processing and ensure that personal data is used only for lawful and specific purposes, thereby reinforcing responsible data governance practices.

A key feature of the framework is the establishment of the Data Protection Board of India as an independent regulatory body. The Board is entrusted with overseeing compliance, investigating data breaches, and enforcing corrective measures where required. By safeguarding individual rights and ensuring adherence to legal provisions, it plays an important role in strengthening accountability and building trust in India's data governance ecosystem.

4.4.1 Key Provisions of the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025

- Phased Implementation and Consent Framework: The Rules provide an eighteen-month phased compliance period, allowing organisations to systematically transition to the new regulatory requirements. Data Fiduciaries must issue clear, accessible, and purpose-specific consent notices, ensuring individuals are fully informed about how their personal data is collected and used.
- Regulation of Consent Managers and Institutional Accountability: Consent Managers are required to be entities incorporated in India, strengthening regulatory oversight and accountability. Additionally, Data Fiduciaries must maintain transparency by providing accessible contact details, including those of designated officers or Data Protection Officers, while Significant Data Fiduciaries are subject to enhanced compliance obligations such as audits and impact assessments.
- Personal Data Breach Notification Mechanism: The Rules establish a structured and timely process for reporting personal data breaches. Data Fiduciaries must promptly notify affected individuals in clear and plain language, outlining the nature of the breach, its potential impact, remedial steps taken, and relevant contact details for assistance.
- Strengthening Rights of Data Principals: The framework reinforces the rights of individuals by enabling them to access, correct, update, or request the erasure of their personal data. It also allows them to nominate representatives to act on their behalf, with Data Fiduciaries required to respond to such requests within a prescribed period of ninety days.

4.4.2 Implications for Fleet and Aggregator Platforms

Cab aggregators and fleet operators that process the personal data of Indian users are classified as Data Fiduciaries under the Act. Entities operating at significant scale or handling sensitive data may additionally be designated as Significant Data Fiduciaries, thereby attracting enhanced compliance obligations.

- Strong Security Safeguards: Data Fiduciaries are required to implement robust technical measures such as encryption, masking, obfuscation, and tokenisation to safeguard personal data against unauthorised access and breaches.
- Consent Management: Verifiable and explicit consent must be obtained before collecting passenger information, including location data, payment details, and trip-related information.
- Access Control Measures: Strict access control mechanisms must be in place to ensure that only authorised personnel can access computer systems and sensitive personal data.
- Monitoring, Logging, and Breach Detection: Data Fiduciaries must maintain comprehensive monitoring systems and access logs to detect, investigate, and prevent unauthorised data access or security incidents in a timely manner.

- Data Backup and Continuity Planning: Appropriate data backup and continuity mechanisms must be implemented to maintain processing operations in cases where data confidentiality, integrity, or availability is compromised.
- Accountability and Contractual Compliance: Data Fiduciaries are responsible for ensuring that Data Processors comply with security obligations through contractual safeguards, along with technical and organisational measures such as maintaining logs and retaining relevant data (typically for one year) to support compliance and prevent repeat incidents.
- Obligations in Case of a Data Breach: Upon becoming aware of a personal data breach, the Data Fiduciary must promptly notify each affected Data Principal in a clear, concise, and easily understandable manner.
- Individual Rights over Personal Data: Individuals retain the right to access their personal data, request corrections or updates, and seek erasure in specific circumstances, reinforcing transparency and accountability.
- Penalties for Non-Compliance: Failure to implement reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breaches may attract penalties of up to INR 250 crore.

4.5 Competition and Antitrust Oversight

The Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023 introduces significant reforms to India's competition law regime by amending the Competition Act, 2002. The amendments are aimed at improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the Competition Commission of India (CCI). A key feature of the Act is the introduction of settlement and commitment mechanisms, which allow enterprises under investigation for certain anti-competitive practices to resolve matters expeditiously, thereby reducing prolonged litigation and encouraging voluntary compliance.

The Act also strengthens enforcement by permitting penalties for anti-competitive conduct to be calculated on the basis of global turnover, rather than being limited to Indian turnover, and by enhancing the maximum penalties for specific violations. It introduces a three-year limitation period for filing complaints to ensure timely regulatory action. Further, the amendments expand and clarify the scope of anti-competitive agreements, enhance the investigative powers of the CCI, impose stricter compliance obligations, and mandate greater transparency in regulatory rule-making.

4.5.1 Key changes made by the Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023

- Settlement and Commitment Mechanisms Introduced: New provisions (Sections 48A and 48B) allow enterprises under investigation for certain anti-competitive practices to apply for settlement or offer commitments, enabling faster and more flexible resolution of cases.
- Expansion of Combination Thresholds and Definition of Control: A new transaction value threshold (INR 2,000 crore) for merger notifications is introduced, in addition to existing asset and turnover thresholds. The definition of 'control' is broadened to include material influence over management or strategic decisions.
- Reduction in Timelines for Combination Approvals: The maximum time for the Competition Commission of India (CCI) to approve combinations is reduced from 210 days to 150 days, expediting the merger review process.
- Stricter Penalty Provisions and Global Turnover Consideration: Penalties for anti-competitive agreements and abuse of dominance can now be based on global turnover, not just Indian turnover. For cartels, penalties can be up to three times the profit or 10% of turnover, whichever is higher.
- Time Limit for Filing Complaints: A three-year limitation period is introduced for filing information or references with the CCI, with possible condonation for sufficient cause.
- Enhanced Investigative Powers and Transparency: The Director General's powers for investigation are expanded, including search, seizure, and examination of persons on oath. The CCI is required to ensure transparency in regulation-making, including publishing draft regulations for public comment.

4.5.2 Digital Competition Law (DCL)

The Digital Competition Law, proposed in 2024, is intended to regulate large digital enterprises operating in India, particularly those that exercise significant influence over core digital services. The proposed legislation seeks to complement the Competition Act, 2002 by introducing an ex-ante (preventive) regulatory framework, enabling the Competition Commission of India (CCI) to intervene before anti-competitive conduct materialises in digital markets. It is specifically designed to address conduct unique to digital platforms such as self-preferencing, misuse of data, and anti-steering practices which are not effectively addressed under the existing ex-post (after-the-fact) competition law framework.

The Law Has Gained Momentum for the Following Reasons

- Rapid Digitalisation: India has over 759 million active internet users, with digital platforms playing a dominant role in sectors such as e-commerce, digital payments, and online services.
- High Market Concentration: A small number of large digital enterprises, often global technology firms, have acquired disproportionate market power, raising concerns around competition, innovation, and consumer choice.
- Limitations of Existing Law: The current Competition Act relies on ex-post enforcement and is often too slow to prevent irreversible market tipping in fast-evolving digital markets.
- Stakeholder Feedback: Repeated complaints from businesses, consumers, and industry bodies regarding unfair practices by major digital platforms have exposed regulatory gaps.
- Global Regulatory Developments: Similar ex-ante digital competition frameworks introduced or proposed in jurisdictions such as the EU, UK, and Australia have influenced India's policy approach.

Key Proposals under the Digital Competition Law

- Ex-Ante Regulation for Large Digital Enterprises: Introduce a new Digital Competition Act that proactively monitors and regulates the conduct of large digital enterprises (Systemically Significant Digital Enterprises, or SSDEs) in core digital services, supplementing the current ex-post Competition Act.
- Scope and Applicability: The law will apply to a pre-identified list of 'Core Digital Services' (e.g., search engines, app stores, e-commerce platforms) that are susceptible to concentration. The list can be updated by the government as markets evolve.
- Designation of SSDEs: Only enterprises with a 'significant presence', measured by financial strength (turnover, market cap, gross merchandise value) and user base will be regulated. Both quantitative and qualitative criteria will be used for designation, and group companies can also be included as Associate Digital Enterprises (ADEs).
- Principle-Based Obligations: The law will set out broad, principle-based ex-ante obligations for SSDEs and ADEs, such as prohibiting self-preferencing, anti-steering, unfair data use, and exclusive tie-ups.
- Enforcement and Remedies: The CCI will enforce the law, with strengthened technical capacity and a dedicated appellate bench for digital market cases. Penalties for non-compliance can reach up to 10% of global turnover. The law also provides for exemptions, differential obligations, and a transparent grievance redressal mechanism for affected parties.

Impact on the Fleet Industry

- Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023 - Addressing Hub-and-Spoke Cartels (Ex-Post Approach)

The Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023 strengthens India's competition law framework by explicitly recognising and addressing "hub-and-spoke" cartel arrangements under Section 3(3). Traditionally, establishing a cartel required proving a direct agreement between competing entities. However, this amendment expands liability to include entities that facilitate or coordinate such arrangements. As a result, even intermediaries or digital platforms can be held accountable if they actively participate in or intend to coordinate anti-competitive behaviour, such as algorithm-driven price-setting among independent service providers. This reform enables regulatory authorities to act against anti-competitive practices after they have occurred.

- Proposed Digital Competition Law - Regulating Gatekeepers (Ex-Ante Approach)

The proposed Digital Competition Bill adopts a preventive; ex-ante approach aimed at curbing anti-competitive conduct before it arises. It introduces the concept of Systemically Significant Digital Enterprises (SSDEs), which are large digital platforms identified based on user base and revenue thresholds. Once designated, these entities are subject to strict regulatory obligations, including prohibitions on self-preferencing, bundling of services, and misuse of user or business data to restrict competition. The objective is to ensure fair market conditions by proactively limiting the market power of dominant digital platforms.

Fleet aggregators hold billions of data points on city traffic, driver behaviour, and commuter paths. Under the proposed Digital Competition Bill, if an aggregator uses this exclusive data to boost its other AI-driven businesses (like logistics or quick commerce) while denying access to external developers, it violates ex-ante fair-access rules.

4.6 Vehicle Scrappage Policy

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways introduced the Voluntary Vehicle Modernization Programme, popularly known as the Vehicle Scrappage Policy, in 2021 with the objective of systematically phasing out unfit and highly polluting vehicles across India. The policy seeks to establish a structured scrappage ecosystem through a nationwide network of Registered Vehicle Scrapping Facilities (RVSFs) and Automated Testing Stations (ATSS) to ensure the safe, transparent, and efficient disposal of end-of-life vehicles. By incentivising the replacement of older vehicles with newer, cleaner alternatives, the initiative aims to enhance road safety, reduce vehicular emissions, and improve overall fleet efficiency.

To support the programme, commercial and passenger vehicle manufacturers have extended purchase discounts against a Certificate of Deposit (Scrappage Certificate) for a limited period—two years for commercial vehicles and one year for passenger vehicles. This public-private collaboration encourages vehicle owners to scrap ageing vehicles and invest in newer models, thereby accelerating fleet modernisation and advancing circular economy principles. As of 30 January 2026, a total of 129 RVSFs are operational across 21 States and Union Territories, and approximately 4,30,306 vehicles have been scrapped under the policy.

Further strengthening the initiative, the Ministry of Finance, under the Special Assistance to States for Capital Investment Scheme (2025-26), has allocated INR 2,000 crore to incentivise vehicle scrapping on a first-come, first-served basis. The scheme provides lump-sum incentives ranging from INR 10 crore to INR 200 crore for States and Union Territories offering additional motor vehicle tax concessions. It also includes graded incentives for scrapping government vehicles older than 15 years, ranging from INR 50,000 to INR 1,50,000 per vehicle, and for non-government vehicles, ranging from INR 5,000 to INR 20,000 per vehicle, depending on scrapping volumes. Additionally, incentives between INR 5 crore and INR 9 crore are available for setting up Automated Testing Stations, along with supplementary benefits for timely operationalisation. Collectively, these measures aim to deepen the scrappage ecosystem, expand supporting infrastructure, and facilitate the transition to cleaner and more efficient transport systems.

Incentives for Vehicle Scrapping at Registered Vehicle Scrapping Facilities (RVSF)

- Waiver of Registration Fees: As per GSR 714 (E) dated 4 October 2021, no fee is charged for issuing a certificate of registration when a new vehicle is registered using a Certificate of Deposit obtained from scrapping an old vehicle.

- Concession in Motor Vehicle Tax: In accordance with GSR 720 (E) dated 5 October 2021, a concession in motor vehicle tax is provided for vehicles registered against a Certificate of Deposit. The concession is up to 25 percent for non-transport vehicles and up to 15 percent for transport vehicles. This benefit is available for up to eight years for transport vehicles and up to fifteen years for non-transport vehicles.
- Enhanced Tax Concession for Older Emission Norm Vehicles: As per GSR 200 (E) dated 26 March 2025, a higher motor vehicle tax concession of up to 50 percent is available for vehicles scrapped under older emission standards. This applies to all transport and non-transport vehicles manufactured under Bharat Stage I norms or earlier, as well as all medium and heavy goods and passenger vehicles manufactured under Bharat Stage II norms.

Environmental and Economic Benefits of Vehicle Recycling and Scrapping

- Environmentally Responsible Disposal: Scrapping of unfit and old vehicles is carried out in an environmentally sound manner at Registered Vehicle Scrapping Facilities in accordance with government guidelines, ensuring safe handling of hazardous materials and reduced environmental damage.
- Promotion of Circular Economy: Vehicle scrapping supports the circular economy by increasing the availability of low-cost raw materials such as steel, copper, aluminium, and rubber, which can be reused across industries including automotive, steel, and electronics.
- Adoption of Cleaner and Efficient Vehicles: The scrapping process encourages the replacement of outdated vehicles with modern, fuel efficient, and cleaner alternatives including electric and hybrid vehicles. Newer vehicles comply with stricter emission standards such as BS VI, making them significantly less polluting compared to older vehicles.

Our pan-India presence enables us to fulfil the requirements of our customers across the country. It also enables us to accelerate our expansion in cities where we have a presence in case the demand from our customers arises allowing us to service pre-existing clientele by establishing additional local offices which will improve profit margins by delivering an increased proportion of proprietary fleet utilization and access to new clientele that were previously unserviceable due to a lack of local presence.

We have an extensive network of vendors that allow us to connect our services across 80 cities in India and 6 cities outside India. To streamline our vendor-oriented operations, we execute contracts with vendors to create long-standing rate agreements, that dictates hiring charges specified in said contracts. This allows us to eliminate time and effort spent in negotiating rates every time we have a requirement. For vendors where we don't have a pre-existing rate agreement, or for special vehicles that we don't have a rate agreement for, we request rates on a need basis. This process involves requesting quotations from multiple vendors via email / phone to ensure we run a fair and competitive process. The vendor offering the most competitive quotation while meeting our quality standards is awarded the order. This procurement model reduces our dependency on any single vendor and allows us to select the most suitable partner for each assignment, thereby enabling us to maintain consistent service quality for our customers. We also have a global network of vendors through whom we have the capability of providing services in cities such as London, New York, Colombo, Abu Dhabi, Dubai and Jeddah.

In line with our technological commitments, we have recently launched a Mobile application, namely, Mann Fleet, to enable our target customers, specifically customers in RCR segment, to avail our services directly from the app. The Mobile application has been prepared by a third-party service provider, who is responsible for maintaining and updating the said application time to time and keeping track of all the activities.

As part of our ongoing efforts to enhance client engagement and improve operational efficiency, we have recently revamped our company website to serve as the primary point of interaction for clients. The redesigned website will enable users to view our fleet offerings, verify company credentials and make bookings directly through an integrated reservation form. The website will serve as a powerful informative and interactive space for our customers to browse our platform and avail our services.

Looking ahead, we intend to continue investing in our technological capabilities, including improving existing platforms, enhancing third-party technology integrations, and developing new tools that support automation and data-driven decision-making. Our commitment to technology-driven innovation remains integral to our long-term vision and competitive positioning.

To enhance client safety and ensure real-time monitoring of our fleet, we have engaged a third-party service provider for the installation and ongoing maintenance of Global Positioning System (GPS) devices in our vehicles. These GPS systems enable continuous tracking of vehicle locations, allowing for efficient fleet management and providing an added layer of security for our clients during transit. The integration of this technology reflects our commitment to leveraging reliable third-party solutions to uphold high standards of safety and operational transparency.

Reservation and Operations Protocols

As part of our standard operating framework, our Company has instituted robust operational mechanisms and procedures for both reservations and operations to ensure seamless, compliant, and high-quality service delivery across all client engagements and same has been captured above.

Reservation

All reservations are processed exclusively through authenticated user login IDs and must be documented in writing via official email channels. Call/text based bookings are discouraged, unless in emergencies, and must be followed by formal email confirmation. Each booking must be supported with requisite documentation including requisition form, pricings, applicable terms and conditions, and signed agreements (wherever applicable). GST details for corporate clients and full address of the client, is obtained for every new client entity. Bookings are classified and logged with specifics such as client/company name, GST applicability, booker's contact details, time (in 2400 hrs format), vehicle specifications (model, color preferences, seating capacity, amenities, etc.), and service type (day/night/noon with date clarity). All cash bookings are tracked and reported the next day, with administrative review and reporting to sales management. Automated invoicing protocols are enforced for single duties, pre-defined package services, and bundled offerings to minimize human error and enhance revenue assurance. Invoices and receipts for cash services are raised on the same day of completion.

Operations Procedure

Our operations team functions under a centralized, digitalized system with each executive required to log in using unique credentials. Upon confirmation of a booking, the client's travel itinerary is entered into our booking portal, enabling chauffeurs to access and track the assigned schedule in real time. This ensures timely service delivery, efficient coordination and smooth handling of operations. Monthly rosters are prepared in advance. Vehicles and chauffeurs are deployed as per client specifications, with upgrades permitted but downgrades strictly prohibited. Each deployed vehicle is inspected for cleanliness and the presence of standard amenities (e.g., mineral water, ice box, first-aid kit, umbrella). Chauffeurs are briefed personally on itineraries, reporting addresses, and client-specific instructions. Duty slips are generated digitally and dispatched to the chauffeur's mobile device. For multiple vehicle bookings, coordinators are deployed to oversee service delivery. With the help of Mobile application designed for chauffeurs, our chauffeurs will be able to monitor and update status of booking assigned to them resulting in higher operational efficiency. Vehicle shortfalls are to be pre-identified, and contingency planning is expected. Vehicle deployment is to be executed with strategic mapping and prior approval from relevant managers. All external vehicle hires require authorization and negotiation with approved vendors, with terms documented in the system. Vehicle tracking is enforced through real-time GPS monitoring, and discrepancies between chauffeur-reported and GPS-verified data are flagged.

Risk and Compliance Management

We strongly believe in upholding the strictest compliance standards in all our business activities. This includes appropriate documentations, licensing, vehicle registration requirements per each regional RTO, timely tax payments, fair and non-discriminative hiring and staffing practices, and timely financial reporting policies. We maintain strict personnel compliance requirements wherein all our chauffeurs are mandated to submit appropriate, vetted documentation such as their Aadhar Card and Pan Card for identification purposes, their Driver's License and Police Verification for road-safety purposes, and their references for background checking purposes. We also ensure that our operations are compliant with the state laws in all regions we render our services. For the same, we ensure all trips conducted by a vehicle in regions outside of its registered state have paid AITP (All India Tourist Permit) taxes, failing which, responsible personnel are held accountable.

The operations team is tasked with live tracking of vehicles, logging duty statuses and investigating any discrepancies. The operations team is also mandated with ensuring that all fastags are functional and sufficiently funded. Parking areas, office spaces, and Volvo buses are monitored via security cameras, which undergo routine checks. Complaints are handled with urgency, empathy, and structured resolution protocols, including post-resolution follow-up, root cause analysis, and service refinement. Client feedback is proactively encouraged through review requests and negative / positive remarks continually shape our service standards.

UTILITIES

Fuel Management

Our Company has implemented a comprehensive and technology-driven fuel management system as part of its operational controls to enhance transparency, optimise fuel consumption, and reduce costs across its fleet. The fleet primarily operates on diesel and petrol, vehicles, and fuel procurement is managed through a combination of fuel cards, fillings through approved fuel stations, and controlled reimbursement processes. Operational protocols mandate that fuelling is conducted only under supervision or with prior approval from designated personnel. Each vehicle is tagged with fuel type identification, and all fuelling transactions are digitally recorded, capturing key data points such as vehicle registration number, chauffeur name, fuel quantity and type, odometer readings, time, location, and cost. Fuel cards with predefined spending limits are issued to all chauffeurs, thereby enabling close monitoring of daily consumption and mitigating the risk of misuse.

A centralised communication system, primarily operated through a master WhatsApp platform accessible via both desktop and mobile interfaces, is utilised to coordinate and log fuelling data in real time. All fuelling events are subject to reconciliation by the administrative team, who validate actual mileage against company-defined benchmark averages. Any deviation results in the generation of a variance report, which is escalated for further review. Cash-based fuel purchases are permitted only in exceptional circumstances and must be supported by visual documentation, including pre- and post-fuelling meter readings, fuel dispenser images, and photographs showing the vehicle number plate and odometer. Non-compliance with this documentation protocol may result in denial of reimbursement, with the corresponding amount recovered from the concerned employee's remuneration. In order to control operational expenses, fuelling is limited to stations within a 3-kilometre radius of the nearest hub or office. Tank fills are permitted only in cases of vehicle redeployment or operational emergencies. Daily fuelling records are maintained at each hub and reviewed by the Admin Head or their designated representative. Any discrepancies are reported to the management for necessary corrective action. This structured and technology-enabled approach to fuel management constitutes a critical component of our Company's broader fleet control strategy and underpins its objectives related to cost efficiency, operational discipline, and sustainability.

Power Management

Our Company's offices are equipped with the necessary infrastructure to support efficient business operations, including computer systems, licensed software, internet connectivity, communication equipment, and data storage systems. These facilities enable effective coordination between operational teams, chauffeurs, vendors, and customers across various geographies.

As part of our commitment to sustainable mobility, our Delhi office is equipped with electric vehicle charging points. The charging location has been connected to local electricity grids to ensure a stable and direct power supply for charging operations. Our Company expects a proportionate increase in power consumption. This increase aligns with our strategic focus on reducing fuel dependency and enhancing cost efficiencies over the long term through electric mobility.

Our service engagements are primarily governed through work orders and email-based confirmations shared by our customers, which detail the scope of services, segment-wise pricing, applicable cancellation charges, and service-level expectations. These work orders typically include clear benchmarks such as maximum permissible vehicle age and mileage, hygiene and maintenance protocols, and compliance with safety requirements. Additionally, we ensure that all statutory vehicle documents, such as valid registration certificates, pollution control certificates, and inter/intra-state permits, are in place at all times. While these arrangements are not structured as long-term contracts, they allow for operational flexibility and responsiveness to client requirements. In the event of vehicle breakdowns, we provide timely replacements to avoid service disruption. These operational practices have enabled us to build credibility and maintain long-standing customer relationships, without compromising on service quality.

Our long-standing customer relationships, along with the significant revenue contribution from clients with whom we maintain long-term engagements, contribute to the retention of our customers. This also presents opportunities to up-sell our services to our customers. Our Company is of the opinion that, supported by our enduring client relationships and the synergies between our two business segments, we are well-positioned to sustain our market presence, deepen existing relationships, and expand our customer base.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Technological advancements have revolutionized the mobility solutions market, particularly with the growth of online booking platforms and mobile applications. These innovations have simplified the booking and management of rentals for customers while simultaneously allowing rental companies to optimize operations, enhance pricing strategies, and streamline service delivery. To this extent, investment in information technology ("IT") infrastructure is critical for reducing human-error, scaling business operations, and improving productivity.

by either automating workflows or enabling tools that streamline tasks. The software developed by the third-party service providers has played a pivotal role in enhancing our service offerings. The key solutions developed by the outsourced technology team include a comprehensive fleet management software. This software serves as the Central Management System (“CMS”) for our Company’s daily business proceedings and provides support to all departments within the Company at various levels. The software assists the reservations team by recording client profiles, preferences, prices, bookings, and automating booking generation and confirmations. The details of bookings are updated to the chauffeurs via our mobile application, who can accept, track, monitor and update the status of booking over the said application. Finally, the billing team uses the software to create, modify, generate, and push invoices against reservations recorded in the system. Our mobile application and website also have a feature that allows our customers to provide feedback on our services and raise complaints or issues, if any. The operations and finance team uses the software to track inventory utilization, availability, and recovery. Lastly, the software also creates reports that allow the management team to view revenue, expense, or inventory trends by region, client, period, or other customized filters. The integration of our software ecosystem reduces manual intervention in booking updates by enabling real-time tracking and status management. This assists our billing team in monitoring completed bookings, streamlining invoice generation and improving overall operational efficiency.

In order to enhance our customer outreach and experience, our Company has recently launched a Mobile application, namely, Mann Fleet, allowing our customers to make bookings and avail our services directly from our app, track their rides, raise issues or concerns and see transaction history. The application also serves as a direct customer interface, enabling us to engage more effectively with our customers, better understand their preferences and requirements, and offer a more personalized service experience. Further, the application is expected to improve operational efficiency through streamlined booking and ride management processes, while reducing dependence on third-party channels for customer acquisition. As adoption of the application increases, we expect it to support the scalability of our operations, strengthen our brand visibility, and contribute to revenue growth.

Under the terms of the agreement, all intellectual property, including but not limited to copyrights, patents, trademarks, and any improvements or modifications to the software, shall remain the exclusive property of the Service Provider.

Overall, our technology infrastructure provides critical management capabilities of our most instrumental business processes, whether operational, financial, or administrative. The software facilitates client management for the Company by empowering contract rate management by allowing us to capture and assign pre-agreed rates for different types of vehicles to each reservation. The platform is integrated with GPS tracking systems, enabling real-time monitoring of vehicle movements and enhancing operational oversight. It supports driver and fleet management through automated incentive calculations, availability tracking, fuel monitoring, maintenance alerts and compliance reminders. Also, it facilitates efficient assignment management and the processing of invoices relating to third-party vendors. In addition, it generates accounting outputs for sales and purchase invoices, which can be integrated with the TALLY system, with integration formats if provided by a partner. This integrated platform enables automation of core business functions, facilitates real-time updates, and supports data-driven decision-making, thereby improving overall operational efficiency.

Additionally, the Company facilitates data portability, allowing users to transfer their data to other service providers if they choose to do so, thereby empowering customers with greater control over their personal information.

SALES AND MARKETING

Our Company has consistently adopted a prudent approach towards sales and marketing expenditure, with a focus on organic growth and relationship-based strategies rather than high-cost media programs. Our success is underpinned by the trust and loyalty of our customers, many of whom have demonstrated a high rate of repeat engagement, thereby creating a resilient consumer base that has remained stable across economic cycles.

Our marketing initiatives comprise both online and offline channels. Online outreach includes digital marketing through LinkedIn, Instagram and Facebook. Offline initiatives primarily include vehicle and chauffeur uniform branding, participation in industry conferences and events, and sponsorships that enhance visibility and engagement with potential clients and partners. The Company is also a member of industry associations such as the Indian Association of Tour Operators (IATO) and the Indian Tourist Transporters Association (ITTA), which assist in developing vendor networks and building long-term industry relationships. In order to promote our brand and services among high-end clients, we act as transportation partner for events organized and hosted by a leading media house and put banners and posters with our logo across various places.

Also, our Company serves as a mobility partner at Noida International Airport, Jewar, Uttar Pradesh. Through an exclusive kiosk established within the airport premises, which enables us to expand our customer reach, strengthen our brand presence. Additionally, with the launch of our mobile application, our Company intends to utilize the platform as a direct marketing channel to offer personalized promotions, discounts and service-related updates, with the objective of enhancing customer engagement.

Our sales team currently comprises 08 employees, supported by account managers who provide dedicated assistance to clients across corporates, events management organisations, government ministries and embassies. The sales process follows a structured, research-driven approach, beginning with the identification of potential clients through monitoring of industry developments, business delegations, online databases, and professional networking platforms. Prospective leads are evaluated based on scale and relevance, following which customized solutions are presented through meetings and presentations. This approach enables us to provide personalised and solution-oriented services to our clients.

In line with our marketing strategy, our Company has also entered into a strategic agreement with Noida International Airport, Jewar, Uttar Pradesh, which allows our Company to set up a dedicated kiosk near the airport's arrival terminal. This arrangement benefits our Company in two ways, firstly, enhancing brand visibility and promoting our services through the display of posters, banners and other marketing materials, thereby strengthening our brand image and secondly, acting as a touchpoint for our customers who have pre-booked with us and also cater to other passengers arriving at the airport, by providing them prompt and high quality service, resulting in enhanced customer satisfaction.

For the period ended December 31, 2025 and in the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 the Company incurred ₹ 4.42 million, ₹ 1.37 million and ₹ 0.73 million and ₹ 0.97 million, respectively, towards sales and marketing expenses, representing 0.66%, 0.18%, 0.10% and 0.22% of total expenses for the respective periods.

QUALITY CONTROL, TESTING AND, TRAINING

Our Company provides high-quality service through a fleet of well maintained and regularly serviced vehicles and a team of well-trained chauffeurs. For some of our corporate clients, we assign dedicated account managers to ensure personalized service and timely resolution of any issues. Our customer support team operates 24*7, enabling us to respond quickly and effectively to our client needs.

Our vehicles and services adhere to stringent quality standards and specifications as outlined in the agreements, statements of work, and other quality requirements raised by our customers. To consistently meet these requirements, we conduct regular checks on various parts of our vehicles to ensure they are not worn or damaged and provide training for our chauffeurs and staff. Vehicles are inspected before the dispatch for any fuel leakage to ensure road worthiness. Along with that seatbelts are inspected for proper functionality and airbags in the vehicles are checked to see whether they have been previously deployed or not.

Upon request from our client, we also provide tissue box, fire extinguisher, umbrella, toolkit, mineral water, newspaper and magazines, and refreshments in the vehicle.

The other aspect that we focus on for quality service is our chauffeur recruitment and training. We recognize the pivotal role that our chauffeurs play in shaping our service benchmarks within the car rental industry. As part of our commitment to delivering a high standard of service and operational excellence, we have implemented a robust chauffeur training and compliance framework. This initiative is integral to our service delivery model and plays a critical role in ensuring passenger safety, comfort, and satisfaction. This includes defensive driving and safety training, focusing on adherence to traffic regulations, anticipation and management of road conditions, and early detection of potential mechanical issues. Chauffeurs are also trained in basic vehicle maintenance protocols, thereby enhancing vehicle reliability and passenger safety. Our chauffeurs are provided with a list of don'ts and do's that is mandatory for all the chauffeurs to follow.

Operational Standards and Driver Compliance Protocols

Our Company has instituted a comprehensive set of compliance protocols and standard operating procedures wherein all chauffeurs are mandated to carry and verify vehicle documentation including the Registration Certificate, All India Permit, Pollution Control Certificate, Insurance papers, and applicable interstate tax documentation. Personal documents, including a valid driving license, ID badge, and, where applicable, hill-driving permits, is also required. Vehicle inspections are conducted prior to the commencement of each trip. Operational discipline includes pre-journey route planning, reconfirmation of itinerary with the client, and documentation of vehicle condition, fuel level, and trip details. Chauffeurs are instructed to drive within regulated speed limits, maintain safe braking practices, and adhere to traffic rules including overtaking protocols and lane discipline. Behavioral protocols emphasize courteous conduct, punctuality, and adherence to client service expectations. Safety measures include regular health check-ups, especially eye tests, observance of rest breaks during long drives, and the responsibility to report all emergencies or mechanical failures promptly to designated authorities. Our commitment to service excellence is reflected in our operational motto "Discover the Excellence”.

Maintenance Team

To ensure ongoing adherence to these standards, we have constituted a dedicated maintenance team responsible for regular audits and quality checks. This team monitors:

1. Vehicle maintenance and cleanliness
2. Chauffeur uniform and grooming compliance
3. Roadworthiness of vehicles as per our pre-dispatch checklist
4. Adherence to applicable local laws and industry regulations, including emission norms and safety standards

The maintenance team also maintains comprehensive inspection records and documentation for all vehicles in our fleet, thereby ensuring regulatory readiness and operational transparency.

Our Company has acquired the following certifications and accreditations for our services:

1. ISO 9001:2015 certificate for quality management systems.
2. ISO 14001:2015 certificate for the environmental management systems;
3. ISO 45001:2018 certification for occupational health & safety management system

FLEET MANAGEMENT TOOLS

Our Company has implemented structured fleet management systems supported by advanced telematics technology, enabling efficient and cost-effective operations across our vehicle base. We have engaged a third-party vendor to install and maintain telematics devices under a monthly subscription model. These devices are plugged directly into the vehicles’ On-Board Diagnostics (OBD) ports, allowing real-time extraction of data related to fuel consumption, air-conditioning usage, driving speeds, fuel economy, live location, and other operational parameters.

The implementation of this telematics technology has delivered measurable benefits, including cost savings through accurate fuel consumption tracking, identification and correction of inefficiencies, enhanced theft protection through live tracking, and overall extension of vehicle lifespan. By leveraging real-time data and analytics, our operations team is able to make informed decisions that enhance reliability, efficiency, and scalability of services.

In addition to this telematics technology, we also deploy “TAS”, a comprehensive suite of fleet management tools to optimize our daily operations. This fleet management software provides visibility into key performance metrics, supporting monitoring and optimization of vehicle utilization. GPS-enabled tracking systems further enhance real-time monitoring of vehicle location, speed, and performance, enabling efficient route planning and quicker response time in case of emergencies.

We also use vehicle maintenance software to schedule and track routine servicing and repairs, thereby minimizing downtime and extending the operational life of vehicles. Data on driver behaviour and fuel usage, collected through telematics, is analyzed to enhance driver accountability and overall fleet safety. Together, these tools enable operational efficiency, strengthen customer service delivery, and support data-driven decision-making across our fleet management framework

LIFESPAN OF THE FLEETS

Our Company maintains modern and reliable fleets, which is achieved through a strategy of accelerated replacement. While the useful life of our assets is generally longer, we intentionally do not utilize our fleets until their full lifespan. Instead, we follow a fleet renewal cycle, selling our vehicles within 3 to 5 years of purchase. This proactive replacement strategy ensures that our fleet remains up-to-date, significantly minimizes the risk of age-related breakdowns, lowers overall maintenance cost and allows us to provide clients with vehicles featuring the latest safety and efficiency technology. Consequently, the actual operational life of a vehicle within our Company is limited to this 3 to 5 years period from the date of acquisition.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

Our client management and operations support team is available round the clock to respond and resolve service-related concerns. Our Company endeavours to address each issue promptly, with the goal of minimising resolution time and ensuring a seamless experience for all our users. Certain key customers have implemented independent performance tracking systems to evaluate our services against defined benchmarks. These typically cover parameters such as documentation compliance of vehicles, on-time vehicle reporting, police verification and background checks of chauffeurs, reports of unprofessional behaviour, and instances of rash driving. Over time, we have received letters of appreciation from various customers, acknowledging the consistency and quality of our service delivery. These commendations reflect our commitment to operational discipline, customer-centricity, and a strong service ethos.

Our Company currently operates a multi-channel customer feedback mechanism designed to capture real-time service experiences and incorporate them into continuous improvement efforts. Feedback is typically collected after service completion through channels such as our mobile application, email, telephone, social media platforms, and in-person interactions. This allows us to gather insights across parameters including punctuality, service quality, vehicle hygiene, chauffeur conduct, safety, and overall satisfaction. Inputs received from customers are reviewed by our internal teams and, wherever necessary, take specific action—ranging from direct communication with the customer to process the necessary corrections and training for field staff. Positive feedback from customers is shared with employees as a part of an internal recognition mechanism. We also seek to close the loop by informing customers when specific steps are taken based on their suggestions, thereby reinforcing a two-way relationship built on responsiveness and transparency.

In order to increase customer participation and engagement, our Company is exploring instant reward mechanisms, such as loyalty credits, discount coupons and post-service engagement activities. All customer feedback is systematically analysed to identify trends, monitor service performance, and improve operational services. Through this initiative, we aim to create a strong feedback-to-action loop that not only resolves issues in real time but also informs long-term enhancements to our service delivery framework. This system is expected to play an important role in elevating customer satisfaction, promoting retention, and reinforcing our brand as a reliable, service-first mobility partner.

We are committed to provide continuous customer support to ensure higher satisfaction levels and the prompt, effective resolution of any concerns.

HUMAN RESOURCES

Our workforce, particularly our chauffeurs, is a key driver in delivering consistent service quality and maintaining high safety standards, which contributes to our competitive advantage. The recruitment, training, and retention of chauffeurs is fundamental to our business operations and essential for meeting the evolving requirements of our customers. We follow a structured recruitment process that includes internal screening of the candidates based on predefined parameters such as prior driving experience, verification of government-issued documents, including a valid driving license, police verification, and other personal assessments.

As part of our onboarding process, we conduct comprehensive background verification, including employment history checks to validate prior experience, tenure, and reasons for cessation from previous employment. Each chauffeur is also required to undergo a mandatory medical fitness assessment to ensure physical capability for undertaking assigned responsibilities. We also get police verification done and complete background checks to maintain high standards of safety and compliance.

Our strategy is focused on hiring experienced chauffeurs where the majority of roles require a minimum of 3 years of on-the-road driving experience and reducing safety risks through continuous training, regular briefings, and a structured program of incentives, including rewards and recognition for performance.

HEALTH, SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENT

Our operations comply with applicable environmental and safety laws in India and other relevant jurisdictions. These regulations cover air emissions, handling of fuels such as petrol and diesel, management of natural resources, and protection of employee health and safety. In line with our commitment to sustainability, we have started integrating electric vehicles (EVs) into our fleet. This shift helps reduce emissions and supports environmental conservation efforts. We continue to prioritize safety across our entire fleet, including EVs, by providing thorough training to chauffeurs and employees on the specific handling and maintenance requirements of electric vehicles. Regular identification and mitigation of workplace hazards, periodic safety training, and safety audits of both conventional and electric vehicles are integral to maintaining a safe working environment.

Our operations are exposed to risks common in chauffeur-driven mobility, including accidents, natural disasters such as floods and earthquakes, fires, and other unforeseen events. COMPETITION

The chauffeur-driven mobility industry is heavily influenced by the overall economic conditions of a country or region. When the economy is strong, people and corporates are more likely to travel for business or leisure, leading to increased demand for chauffeured car rentals. Conversely, during an economic downturn, people and corporates may cut back on travel, resulting in lower demand for chauffeured car rentals.

KEY INDUSTRY REGULATIONS AND POLICIES

The following is an overview of some of the relevant laws, policies and regulations which are pertinent to our business of logistics. Taxation statutes such as the I.T. ENVIRONMENTAL LEGISLATIONS

The Environment Protection Act, 1986 and Environment (Protection) Rules, 1986

The Environmental Protection Act, 1986 is an "umbrella" legislation designed to provide a framework for coordination of the activities of various Central and State authorities established under various laws. The potential scope of the Act is broad, with "environment" defined to include water, air and land and the interrelationships which exist among water, air and land, and human beings and other living creatures such as plants, micro-organisms and property. Further, the Ministry of Environment and Forests looks into Environment Impact Assessment. The Ministry receives proposals for expansion, modernization and setting up of projects and the impact which such projects would have on the environment which is assessed by the Ministry in detail before granting clearances for such proposed projects.

National Environmental Policy, 2006

This Policy seeks to extend the coverage, and fill in gaps that still exist, in light of present knowledge and accumulated experience. This policy was prepared through an intensive process of consultation within the Government and inputs from experts. It does not displace, but builds on the earlier policies. It is a statement of India's commitment to making a positive contribution to international efforts. This is a response to our national commitment to a clean environment, mandated in the Constitution in Articles 48 A and 51 A (g), strengthened by judicial interpretation of Article 21. The dominant theme of this policy is that while conservation of environmental resources is necessary to secure livelihoods and well-being of all, the most secure basis for conservation is to ensure that people dependent on particular resources obtain better livelihoods from the fact of conservation, than from degradation of the resource.

EMISSION NORMS

Bharat stage emission standards (BSES) are emission standards instituted by the Government of India to regulate the output of air pollutants from compression ignition engines and Spark-ignition engines equipment, including motor vehicles. The standards and the timeline for implementation are set by the Central Pollution Control Board under the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change. Trucks, buses, tempos, three-wheelers, goods carriers, etc are all subject to BSES regulations. Commercial vehicles generally have to meet stricter emission limits than passenger cars for the same BSES stage. This is because they tend to have larger engines and carry heavier loads, leading to higher emissions. As of January 2024, BHARAT STANDARD (BS) VI emission standards are in effect for all new commercial vehicles in India. This means that these vehicles must comply with the stricter emission limits set by BS VI.

Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017

The GST Act levies indirect tax throughout India to replace many taxes levied by the Central and State Governments. GST is levied on all transactions such as sale, transfer, purchase, barter, lease, or import of goods and/or services. India has adopted a dual GST model, meaning that taxation is administered by both the Union and State Governments. Transactions made within a single state are levied with Central GST (CGST) by the Central Government and State GST (SGST) by the government of that state. For inter-state transactions and imported goods or services, an Integrated GST (IGST) is levied by the Central Government. GST is a consumption-based tax; therefore, taxes are paid to the state where the goods or services are consumed and not the state in which they were produced.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Intellectual property in India enjoys protection under both common law and statutes. Under statutes, India provides for patent protection under the Patents Act, 1970, copyright protection under the Copyright Act, 1957 and trademark protection under the Trade Marks Act, 1999. These enactments provide for the protection of intellectual property by imposing civil and criminal liability for infringement. In addition to the domestic laws, India is party to several international intellectual property related instruments including the Patent Cooperation Treaty, 1970, the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, 1883, the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 1886, the Universal Copyright Convention adopted at Geneva in 1952, the International Convention for the Protection of Performers, Producers of Phonograms and Broadcasting Organizations, 1961 and as a member of the World Trade Organisation is a signatory to the Agreement on Trade Related aspects of Intellectual Property Rights.

The Trade Marks Act, 1999 (“Trade Marks Act”)

Indian law permits the registration of trademarks for both goods and services. Under the provisions of the Trade Marks Act, an application for trademark registration may be made with the Trade Marks Registry by any person or persons claiming to be the proprietor of a trade mark, whether individually or as joint applicants, and can be made on the basis of either actual use or intention to use a trademark in the future. Once granted, a trademark registration is valid for 10 years unless cancelled, subsequent to which, it can be renewed. If not renewed, the mark lapses and the registration is required to be restored to gain protection under the provisions of the Trade Marks Act. The Trade Marks Act prohibits registration of deceptively similar trademarks and provides for penalties for infringement, falsifying and falsely applying trademarks among others. Further, pursuant to the notification of the Trade Marks (Amendment) Act, 2010, simultaneous protection of trademark in India and other countries has been made available to owners of Indian and foreign trademarks. It also seeks to simplify the law relating to the transfer of ownership of trademarks by assignment or transmission and to bring the law in line with international practices.

The Patents Act, 1970

The Patents Act, 1970 (“Patents Act”) governs the patent regime in India. Being a signatory to the Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights, India is required to recognize product patents as well as process patents. In addition to the broad requirement that an invention satisfy the requirements of novelty, utility and non-obviousness in order for it to avail patent protection, the Patents Act further provides that patent protection may not be granted to certain specified types of inventions and materials even if they satisfy the above criteria. Section 39 of the Patents Act also prohibits any person resident in India from applying for a patent for an invention outside India without making an application for a patent for the same invention in India. The term of a patent granted under the Patents Act pursuant to Section 53 is for a period of twenty years from the date of filing of the application for the patent. A patent shall cease to have effect if the renewal fee is not paid within the period prescribed for the payment of such renewal fee. While the Patents Act prohibits patentability of a ‘computer programme’ as such, computer programmes in combination with a novel hardware could be considered patentable depending on the substance of the invention and applicable provisions of the Patents Act. Computer programmes on their own are excluded from patent protection and are protected as a literary work under the Copyright Laws. In terms of the Patent Act, the patentee holds the exclusive right to prevent third parties from using, offering for sale, selling or importing for such purposes, the patented product or product obtained directly by a process patented in India.

Accordingly, the transition date to Ind AS is April 01, 2023. Further, for the period ended December 31, 2025, these Restated Consolidated Financials are the first consolidated financial statements of the Group.

2.2. Principles of Consolidated

The Group consolidates all entities which are controlled by it. The Group establishes control when; it has power over the entity, is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect the entity's returns by using its power over relevant activities of the entity. Entities controlled by the Company are consolidated from the date control commences until the date control ceases. The consolidated financial statements relate to Mann Fleet Partners Limited, the holding Company and its subsidiary company (hereinafter collectively referred as the Group). The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the following basis:

- a. The financial statements of the subsidiary company used in the consolidation are drawn upto the same reporting date as that of the Company i.e., December 31, 2025.
- b. The financial statements of the Company and its subsidiary company have been combined on a line by-line basis by adding together like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses, after eliminating intra-group balances, intra-group transactions and resulting unrealised profits or losses.
- c. The excess of cost to the company of its investments in the subsidiary company over its share of equity of the subsidiary company, at the dates on which the investments in the subsidiary company were made, is recognised as 'Goodwill' being an asset in the consolidated financial statements and is tested for impairment on annual basis.
- d. Goodwill is initially measured at cost, being the excess of the aggregate of the consideration transferred, over the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. After initial recognition, goodwill is measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses. For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is, from the acquisition date, allocated to each of the Company's cash generating units that are expected to benefit from the combination, irrespective of whether other assets or liabilities of the acquire are assigned to those units. A cash generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired. If the recoverable amount of the cash generating unit is less than its carrying amount, the impairment loss is allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit and then to the other assets of the unit pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment loss for goodwill is recognised in profit or loss. An impairment loss recognised for goodwill is not reversed in subsequent periods. Company treats the whole Company as Cash generating unit and hence impairment testing is test based on the profitability and foreseeable future of the Company as a whole.
- e. Non-Controlling Interests NCI are measured at their proportionate share of the acquirer's net identifiable assets on the date of acquisition.
- f. Following Subsidiary Company have been considered for the preparation of consolidated financial statements and we had consolidated financials from October 03, 2025:
 - Leap Green Infra Private Limited (CIN: U77100DL2024PTC428230) - 56.67 %

2.3. Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements is in conformity with Ind AS requires management to make estimates, judgments and assumptions. These estimates, judgments and assumptions affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period. Accounting estimates could change from period to period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Appropriate changes in estimates are made as management becomes aware of changes in circumstances surrounding the estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on going concern basis.

Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period. If the revision affects both current and future period, the same is recognised accordingly.

Key source of estimation of uncertainty at the date of financial statements, which may cause material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, is in respect of impairment, useful lives of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets, valuation of deferred tax assets, provisions and contingent liabilities, fair value measurements of financial instruments and retirement benefit obligations as disclosed below:

Impairment

The Company estimates the value in use of the cash generating unit (CGU) based on future cash flows after considering current economic conditions and trends, estimated future operating results and growth rates and anticipated future economic and regulatory conditions. The estimated cash flows are developed using internal forecasts. The cash flows are discounted using a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value.

Useful lives of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The Company reviews the useful life of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets at the end of each reporting period. This reassessment may result in change in depreciation and amortisation expense in future periods.

Valuation of deferred tax assets

The Company reviews the carrying amount of deferred tax assets at the end of each reporting period.

Allowances for expected credit loss

The Company makes provision for expected credit losses through appropriate estimations of irrecoverable amount. The identification of expected credit loss requires use of judgment and estimates. The Company evaluates trade receivables ageing and makes a provision for those debts as per the provisioning policy.

Retirement benefit obligations

The Company's retirement benefit obligations are subject to number of assumptions including discount rates, inflation and salary growth. Significant assumptions are required when setting these criteria and a change in these assumptions would have a significant impact on the amount recorded in the Company's balance sheet and the statement of profit and loss. The Company sets these assumptions based on previous experience and third-party actuarial advice.

Classification of Leases

The Company enters into leasing arrangements for Building. The classification of the leasing arrangement as a finance lease or operating lease is based on an assessment of several factors, including, but not limited to, transfer of ownership of leased asset at end of lease term, lessee's option to purchase and estimated certainty of exercise of such option, proportion of lease term to the asset's economic life, proportion of present value of minimum lease payments to fair value of leased asset and extent of specialized nature of the leased asset.

2.4. Significant Accounting Policies

This note provides a list of the material accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these restated financial statements. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

i) Current V/s Non-Current Classification

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current/ non-current classification. An asset is classified as current when it is:

- Expected to be realised or intended to sold or consumed in normal operating cycle.
- Held primarily for the purpose of trading
- Expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- Cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

- It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle
- It is held primarily for the purpose of trading
- It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period

The Company classifies all other liabilities as non-current. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

The operating cycle is the time between the acquisition of assets for processing and their realisation in cash and cash equivalents. Based on the nature of service and the time between rendering of services and their realization in cash and cash equivalents, 12 months has been considered by the Company for the purpose of current / non-current classification of assets and liabilities.

ii) Functional and Presentation Currency

The company has determined the currency of the primary economic environment in which the company operates, i.e., the functional currency, to be Indian Rupees (INR). The Restated Financial Statements are presented in Indian Rupees, which is the company's functional and presentation currency. All amounts have been rounded to the nearest million up to two decimal places, unless otherwise stated. Consequent to rounding off, the numbers presented throughout the document may not add up precisely to the totals and percentages may not precisely reflect the absolute amounts.

iii) Fair Value Measurement

The company measures financial instruments at each balance sheet date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

1. In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
2. In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability. The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest. A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the Restated Financial Statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

Level 1 — Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.

Level 3 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the Restated Financial Statements on a recurring basis, the company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period. External valuers may be required for valuation of significant assets and liabilities. Involvement of external valuers is decided on the basis of nature of transaction and complexity involved. Selection criteria include market knowledge, reputation, independence and whether professional standards are maintained.

At each reporting date, the finance team analyses the movements in the values of assets and liabilities which are required to be remeasured or re-assessed as per the company's accounting policies. For this analysis, the team verifies the major inputs applied in the latest valuation by agreeing the information in the valuation computation to contracts and other relevant documents. A change in fair value of assets and liabilities is also compared with relevant external sources to determine whether the change is reasonable. For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

This note summarises accounting policy for fair value. Other fair value related disclosures are given in the relevant notes.

iv) Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE):

An item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset if it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company and its cost can be measured reliably. This recognition principle is applied to costs incurred initially to acquire an item of property, plant and equipment and also to costs incurred subsequently to add to, replace part of, or service it. All other repair and maintenance costs, including regular servicing, are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss as incurred. Where an item of property, plant and equipment comprises major components having different useful lives, these components are accounted for as separate items.

The cost of property, plant and equipment comprises its purchase price net of any trade discounts and rebates, any import duties and other taxes (other than those subsequently recoverable from the tax authorities), any directly attributable expenditure on making the asset ready for its intended use, other incidental expenses and interest on borrowings attributable to acquisition of qualifying fixed assets up to the date the asset is ready for its intended use. Subsequent expenditure on fixed assets after its purchase / completion is capitalized only if such expenditure results in an increase in the future benefits from such asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. The company depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the straight line method. Depreciation methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically at each financial year end. The gain or loss arising on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between sale proceeds and carrying value of such item and is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

v) Intangible Assets

Design, development and software costs are included in the balance sheet as intangible assets when it is probable that associated future economic benefits would flow to the company. All other costs on the aforementioned are expensed in the statement of profit and loss as and when incurred. Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment. The estimated useful life of an identifiable intangible asset is based on a number of factors including the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors (such as the stability of the industry and known technological advances). Amortization methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically including at each financial year end.

Intangible asset under development

The company capitalises intangible asset under development for a project in accordance with the accounting policy. Initial capitalisation of costs is based on management's judgement that technological and economic feasibility is confirmed, usually when a product development project has reached a defined milestone according to an established project management model. In determining the amounts to be capitalised, management makes assumptions regarding the expected future cash generation of the project, discount rates to be applied and the expected period of benefits.

vi) Depreciation of Property, Plant and Equipment

Depreciation is provided on the straight line method. The estimated useful life of each asset as prescribed under Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013 and based on technical assessment of internal experts (after considering the expected usage of the asset, expected physical wear and tear, technical and commercial obsolescence and understanding of past practices and general industry experience) are as depicted below:

Particulars	Estimated useful life (in years)
Furniture & Fixtures	10
Computers	3
Office Equipments	5
Motor Vehicles (for self use)	8
Motor vehicles (for car rental business)	6

The residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at the end of each reporting period.

vii) Impairment of Non-Financial Assets

Assets that are subject to amortisation and depreciation are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount of cash generating units exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount of a cash generating unit is the higher of cash generating unit's fair value less cost of disposal and its value in use.

viii) Financial Instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through statement of profit and loss are recognised immediately in statement of profit and loss.

1. Financial Assets

All financial assets are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through statement of profit and loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market-place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

a. Classification and Subsequent Measurement:

Debt instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortised cost less impairment loss (except for debt investments that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition)

- (i) the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- (ii) the contractual terms of the instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Debt instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (except for debt investments that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition).

- (i) the asset is held within a business model whose objective is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets; and
- (ii) the contractual terms of the instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

FVTPL is a residual category for debt instruments. Any debt instrument, which does not meet the criteria for categorization as at amortized cost or as FVTOCI, is classified as at FVTPL. Trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, other bank balances, loans and other financial assets are classified for measurement at amortised cost.

Financial assets at amortised cost are subsequently measured at amortised cost using effective interest method. The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of an instrument and of allocating interest income over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts (including all fees paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the debt instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

b. Equity Instruments:

The company subsequently measures all equity investments in scope of Ind AS 109 at fair value, with net changes in fair value recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

c. Derecognition:

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a company of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e. removed from the company's financial statements of assets and liabilities) when: i) The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or ii) The company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement; and either (a) the company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) the company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, it evaluates if and to what extent it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the company continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of the company's continuing involvement. In that case, the company also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the company could be required to repay.

d. Impairment of financial assets:

The company recognises loss allowances using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model for the financial assets which are not fair valued through profit and loss. Loss allowance for trade receivables with no significant financing component is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECL. For all other financial assets, expected credit losses are measured at an amount equal to the 12-month ECL, unless there has been a significant increase in credit risk from initial recognition, in which case those financial assets are measured at lifetime ECL. The changes (incremental or reversal) in loss allowance computed using ECL model, are recognised as an impairment gain or loss in the statement of profit and loss.

The company recognises loss allowances for expected credit losses on financial assets measured at amortised cost. At each reporting date, the company assesses whether financial assets carried at amortised cost are credit impaired. A financial asset is 'credit impaired' when one or more events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred.

Evidence that a financial asset is credit impaired includes the following observable data:

i. significant financial difficulty of the borrower or issuer; ii. a breach of contract such as a default or past dues; iii. the restructuring of a loan or advance by the company on terms that the company would not consider otherwise; - it is probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation; or iv. the disappearance of an active market for a security because of financial difficulties.

The company follows 'simplified approach' for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables which do not contain a significant financing component. The application of simplified approach does not require the company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime impairment pattern at each balance sheet date, right from its initial recognition.

In all cases, the maximum period considered when estimating expected credit losses is the maximum contractual period over which the company is exposed to credit risk.

When determining whether the credit risk of a financial asset has increased significantly since initial recognition and when estimating expected credit losses, the company considers reasonable and supportable information that is relevant and available without undue cost or effort. This includes both quantitative and qualitative information and analysis, based on the company's historical experience and informed credit assessment and including forward looking information.

The company considers a financial asset to be in default when: i. the borrower is unlikely to pay its credit obligations to the company in full, without recourse by the company to actions such as realising security (if any is held); or ii. the financial asset is more than past due.

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off (either partially or in full) to the extent that there is no realistic prospect of recovery. This is generally the case when the company determines that the counterparty does not have assets or sources of income that could generate sufficient cash flows to repay the amounts subject to write-off. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities in order to comply with the company's procedures for recovery of amounts due.

2. Financial Liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit and loss, loans and borrowings, payables, as appropriate.

- a. Initial recognition and measurement: All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs. The company's financial liabilities include Borrowings, Other Financial Liabilities, Trade Payables and Leases.
- b. Subsequent measurement: All financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method or at FVTPL. For financial liabilities that are denominated in a foreign currency and are measured at amortized cost at the end of each reporting period, the foreign exchange gains and losses are determined based on the amortized cost of the instruments and are recognized in 'Other income'. The fair value of financial liabilities denominated in a foreign currency is determined in that foreign currency and translated at the spot rate at the end of the reporting period. For financial liabilities that are measured as at FVTPL, the foreign exchange component forms part of the fair value gains or losses and is recognized in profit or loss.
- c. Derecognition: The company derecognizes financial liabilities when, and only when, the company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid and payable is recognized in statement of profit and loss.

3. Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the statement of assets and liabilities if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

ix) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalent in the statement of assets and liabilities comprise cash at banks and on hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less, which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and short-term deposits, as defined above, net of outstanding bank overdrafts (if any) as they are considered an integral part of the company's cash management.

x) Cash Flow Statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby loss for the period is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a noncash nature, any deferrals or accruals of past or future operating cash receipts or payments and item of income or expenses associated with investing or financing cash flows. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities of the company are segregated.

xi) Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs are expensed in the period in which they occur. Borrowing cost consist of interest and other costs that an entity incurs in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing cost also includes exchange differences to the extent regarded as an adjustment to the borrowing costs.

xii) Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assetsa) Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. The expense relating to a provision is presented in the statement of profit and loss net of any reimbursement. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

b) Contingent Liabilities

Contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events and the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the company, or is a present obligation that arises from past event but is not recognised because either it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, or a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation cannot be made. The company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements unless the probability of outflow of resources is remote.

c) Contingent Assets

Contingent assets are not recognized. However, when the realization of income is virtually certain, then the related asset is no longer a contingent asset, but it is recognized as an asset.

Provisions, contingent liabilities, contingent assets and commitments are reviewed at each balance sheet date.

xiii) Share Capital and Securities Premium

Ordinary shares are classified as Equity. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new shares are shown in equity as a deduction, net of tax, from the proceeds. Par value of the equity share is recorded as share capital and the amount received in excess of the par value is classified as securities premium.

xiv) Revenue Recognition

The company derives revenue primarily through renting of cars.

Revenue is recognised either at a point of time or over time, when (or as) the company satisfies the performance obligation of promised services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration the company expects to receive in exchange for those services. Revenue is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with a customer.

In arrangements for sale of services, the company has applied the guidance in Ind AS 115, Revenue from contract with customers, by applying the revenue recognition criteria for each distinct performance obligation. Revenue towards satisfaction of a performance obligation is measured at the amount of transaction price (net of variable consideration) allocated to that performance obligation. The transaction price of services rendered is net of variable consideration on account of various trade discounts and schemes offered by the company as part of the contract.

Renting of Cars

Revenue comprising of renting of cars is recognised when obligations under the terms of a contract with the customer are satisfied; generally, this occurs at a point in time, when control of the promised services is transferred to the customer (including service contract with customer for employee transportation services rendered to corporate customers).

Other Income

Interest income from a financial asset is recognised when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably. Interest income is accrued on a time proportion basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount on initial recognition.

xv) Taxation

a) Current Income Tax

Current tax is the tax payable on the taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from 'profit before tax' as reported in the Statement of Profit and Loss because of items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and items that are never taxable or deductible. The company's current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period, in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside financial statements profit and loss is recognised outside financial statements profit and loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the statement of assets and liabilities after off-setting advance tax paid and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction and where the relevant tax paying units intends to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

b) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying values of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses only if it is probable that future taxable amounts will be available to utilise those temporary differences and losses.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset is realised, based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets and liabilities and where the deferred tax balances relate to the same taxation authority.

Current tax assets and tax liabilities are off set where the entity has a legally enforceable right to offset and intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. Current and deferred tax is recognised in profit or loss, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case, the tax is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

xvi) Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is computed using the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of equity and dilutive equivalent shares outstanding during the period, except where the results would be anti-dilutive.

The number of equity shares and potentially dilutive equity shares are adjusted retrospectively for all periods presented for any splits and bonus shares issues including for change effected prior to the approval of the financial Information by the Board of Directors.

xvii) Leases

The company's leased assets primarily consist of leases for office buildings. The company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the company assesses whether:

- i. the contract involves the use of an identified asset

- ii. the company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease; and
- iii. the company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

1. Rights of use Assets

At the date of commencement of the lease, the company recognizes a right-of-use asset (“ROU”) and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low value leases. For these short-term and low-value leases, the company recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight - line basis over the term of the lease.

The right-of-use assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses. Right-of-use assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset unless the lease transfers ownership of the underlying asset to the company by the end of the lease term or the cost of the right-of-use asset reflect that the company exercise a purchase option. The company applies Ind AS 36 to determine whether a right-of-use asset is impaired and accounts for any identified impairment loss as described in the accounting policy above on “Impairment of non- financial assets”.

2. Lease Liabilities

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments that are not paid at the commencement date. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the company’s incremental borrowing rates. Lease liabilities are remeasured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right of use asset (or in profit or loss if the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset has been reduced to zero) if the company changes its assessment of whether it will exercise an extension or a termination or a purchase option. The interest cost on lease liability (computed using effective interest method), is expensed in the statement of profit and loss.

Lease liability and right-of-use asset have been separately presented in the Restated Statement of Assets and Liabilities and lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows. The company has applied a practical expedient wherein the company has ignored the requirement to separate non- lease components (such as maintenance services) from the lease components. Instead, the company has accounted for the entire contract as a single lease contract.

xviii) Commitments

Commitments are future liabilities for contractual expenditure, classified and disclosed as follows:

- i. estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for
- ii. uncalled liability on shares and other investments partly paid;

xix) Employee Benefits

Defined contribution plans: The company's contribution to provident fund and employee state insurance scheme are considered as defined contribution plans and are charged as an expense based on the amount of contribution required to be made and when services are rendered by the employees.

Defined benefit plans: The company has Defined Benefit Plan in the form of Gratuity. Liability for Defined Benefit Plans is provided on the basis of valuations, as at the balance sheet date, carried out by an independent actuary. The defined benefit obligation is calculated annually by independent actuary using the projected unit credit method. The present value of the defined benefit obligation is determined by discounting the estimated future cash outflows using discount rate (interest rates of government bonds) that have terms to maturity approximating to the terms of the gratuity. Remeasurement gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the period in which they occur, directly in other comprehensive income. They are included in 'Other Comprehensive Income' (net of taxes) in the statement of changes in equity and in the balance sheet. Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset.

The company presents the first two components of defined benefit costs in profit or loss in the line item 'Employee Benefits Expense'.

xx) Events occurring after the balance sheet date

Based on the nature of the event, the company identifies the events occurring between the balance sheet date and the date on which the financial statements are approved as 'Adjusting Event' and 'Non-adjusting event'. Adjustments to assets and liabilities are made for events occurring after the balance sheet date that provide additional information materially affecting the determination of the amounts relating to conditions existing at the balance sheet date or because of statutory requirements or because of their special nature. For non-adjusting events, the company may provide a disclosure in the financial statements considering the nature of the transaction.

2.4) Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the Restated Financial Statements in conformity with the principles of Ind AS requires the management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that effect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods. In particular, information about the significant areas of estimation, uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements.

Information about significant areas of estimation /uncertainty and judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the financial statements are as follows:

a) Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment represent a significant proportion of the asset base of the company. The useful lives and residual values of property, plant and equipment are determined by the management based on technical assessment by internal team and external advisor. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. Company believes that the useful life best represents the period over which the company expects to use these assets.

b) Income Taxes

Management judgment is required for the calculation of provision for income taxes and deferred tax assets and liabilities. The Company reviews at each balance sheet date the carrying amount of deferred tax assets. The factors used in estimates may differ from actual outcome which could lead to significant adjustment to the amounts reported in the financial statements.

c) Contingencies

Management judgement is required for estimating the possible outflow of resources, if any, in respect of contingencies/claim/ litigations against the company as it is not possible to predict the outcome of pending matters with accuracy.

d) Leases

e) Defined Benefit plans

The cost of the defined benefit gratuity plan and the present value of the gratuity obligation are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate; future salary increases and mortality rates. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date.

The parameter most subject to change is the discount rate. In determining the appropriate discount rate for plans operated in India, the management considers the interest rates of government bonds where remaining maturity of such bond correspond to expected term of defined benefit obligation.

The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for the country. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases and gratuity increases are based on expected future inflation rates of the country.

f) Impairment of financial assets

The company determines the allowance for credit losses based on policy for expected loss provision based on experiential realisations, current and estimated future economic conditions. The company considered current and anticipated future economic conditions relating to industries the company deals with.

Notes:

(1) The discount rate is based on the prevailing market yield of Indian Government Securities as at Balance Sheet date for the estimated term of obligation.

(2) The estimate of future salary increase considered in actuarial valuation takes into account inflation, seniority, promotion and other relevant factors such as supply and demand in the employment market.

(₹ in million)

(iv) Sensitivity Analysis

The sensitivity of the defined benefit obligation to changes in the weighted principal assumptions is :

Particulars	As at December 31, 2025	FY ended March 31, 2025	FY ended March 31, 2024	FY ended March 31, 2023
(a) Impact of Discount rate on defined benefit obligation
Increased by 1.00%	(0.99)	(1.41)	(1.18)	(1.04)
Decreased by 1.00%	1.13	1.61	1.35	1.18
(b) Impact of Salary Escalation rate on defined benefit obligation
Increased by 1.00%	1.15	1.36	1.23	0.97
Decreased by 1.00%	(0.90)	(1.31)	(1.08)	(0.98)
(c) Impact of Withdrawal rate on defined benefit obligation
Increased by 1.00%	0.16	0.29	0.31	0.32
Decreased by 1.00%	(0.20)	(0.33)	(0.35)	(0.36)

The above sensitivity analyses are based on a change in an assumption while holding all other assumptions constant. In practice, this is unlikely to occur, and changes in some of the assumptions may be correlated. When calculating the sensitivity of the defined benefit obligation to significant actuarial assumptions the same method i.e. projected unit credit method has been applied as that used for calculating the defined benefit liability recognised in the balance sheet.

(v) Risk Exposure

The defined benefit obligations have the undermentioned risk exposures:

Interest rate risk: The defined benefit obligation calculated uses a discount rate based on government bonds. If bond yields fall, the defined benefit obligation will tend to increase.

Salary Inflation risk: Higher than expected increases in salary will increase the defined benefit obligation.

Demographic risk: This is the risk of variability of results due to unsystematic nature of decrements that include mortality, withdrawal, disability and retirement. The effect of these decrements on the defined benefit obligation is not straight forward and depends upon the combination of salary increase, discount rate and vesting criteria.

Investment risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated using a discount rate determined by reference to high quality corporate bond yields; if the return on plan asset is below this rate, it will create a plan deficit.

(₹ in million)

vi) Defined benefit liability and employer contributions

The weighted average duration of the defined benefit obligation is 43.53 years (March 31, 2024: 44.17 years and March 31, 2022: 44.67 years).

The expected maturity analysis of undiscounted gratuity is as follows:

Particulars	As at December 31, 2025	FY ended March 31, 2025	FY ended March 31, 2024	FY ended March 31, 2023
Less than a year	1.73	2.28	1.79	1.59
Between 1 - 2 years	0.70	1.08	0.97	0.64
Between 2 - 3 years	2.56	2.85	0.99	0.88
Between 3 - 4 years	1.33	1.42	2.66	0.90
Between 4 - 5 years	0.80	1.62	1.26	2.48
Beyond 5 years	5.94	8.46	7.34	6.77

B) Defined Contribution Plan

The Company has a defined contribution plan in respect of provident fund. Contributions are made to provident fund and employees state insurance in India for employees at the rate as prescribed in the regulations. The obligation of the group is limited to the amount contributed and it has no further contractual nor any constructive obligation.

The Company has recognized the following amounts towards defined contribution plan in the Statement of Profit and Loss –

ANNEXURE 48: FIRST TIME ADOPTION OF IND AS

These are the company's first financial statements prepared in accordance with Ind AS.

For all periods up to and including the financial year ended March 31, 2024, the Group has prepared its financial statements in accordance with the accounting standards notified under the section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013, read together with paragraph 7 of the Companies [Accounts] Rules, 2014 ["Indian GAAP" or "IGAAP"].

The Special purpose Financial Statements as at and for the financial year ended March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023 have been prepared after making suitable adjustments to the accounting heads from their Indian GAAP values following accounting policies and accounting policy choices (both mandatory exceptions and optional exemptions available as per Ind AS 101) consistent with that used at the date of transition to Ind AS and as per the presentation, accounting policies and grouping/classifications including Schedule III disclosures

The impact of above to the equity as at March 31, 2024, March 31, 2023, and April 01, 2022 (Opening balance sheet date for Special purpose financial statements) and on total comprehensive income for the financial years ended March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023 has been explained as under:

A) Exemptions availed on first time adoption of Ind AS

Ind AS 101 First time adoption of Indian Accounting Standard allows first time adopter certain exemption from the retrospective's application of certain requirements under IND AS. The Company has applied the exemption which are as follow: -

I. Deemed cost of property plant and equipment and intangibles assets

The company has elected to continue with the carrying value of all its property, plant and equipment as recognised in the financial statements as at the date of transition to Ind AS, measured as per the previous GAAP and use that as its deemed cost as at the date of transition after making necessary adjustments.

II. Recognition of Right of Use and Lease Liability

Ind AS - 116 is applied with full retrospective approach. The Group has identified leases since its inception of all lease contracts that are presented in the financial statements and has restated the comparative years presented.

The company also applied the available practical expedient wherein it

- has used a single discount rate for leases with reasonably similar characteristics
- has elected to apply short term lease exemption to leases for which the lease term ends within 12 months of the date of initial application
- has excluded the initial direct costs from the measurement of the right of use assets at the date of initial application

III. Borrowing Transaction Cost (Processing Fees)

On transition to Ind AS, the Company evaluated adjustments relating to transaction costs/processing fees on borrowings in accordance with Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments. In line with the principle of materiality as set out in Ind AS 1 (Presentation of Financial Statements), management has assessed the impact of such adjustments to be immaterial. Accordingly, the Company has continued with the previous GAAP carrying values for such borrowings and has not made any retrospective adjustment. Management believes that non-recognition of such adjustment does not materially affect the financial statements.

B. Mandatory exemptions on first-time adoption of Ind AS

I. Estimates

An entity's estimates in accordance with Ind AS at the date of transition to Ind AS shall be consistent with estimates made for the same date in accordance with Indian GAAP (after adjustments to reflect any difference in accounting policies), unless there is objective evidence that those estimates were in error.

Ind AS estimates are consistent with the estimates as at the same date made in conformity with Indian GAAP. The Company made estimates for following items in accordance with Ind AS at the date of transition as these were not required under Indian GAAP:

- (i) Fair valuation of Non-current Investments.
- (ii) Effective interest rate used in calculation of security deposit and retention money.

II. De-recognition of financial assets and financial liabilities

There are no items of financial asset and liabilities which are required to be de-recognised as per Ind AS 109.

III. Classification of financials assets

The company has classified financial assets in accordance with conditions that existed at the date of transition to Ind AS.

IV. Remeasurement of post-employment benefit obligations

Under Ind AS, Remeasurement i.e. actuarial gains and losses and the return on plan assets, excluding amounts included in the net interest expense on the net defined benefit liability are recognized in other comprehensive income instead of profit and loss. Under the previous GAAP, this remeasurement was forming part of the profit

V. Classification of security deposit:

Under Ind AS, security deposit received/given are recorded as current financial liability/current financial assets as the same is repayable/receivable on demand.

VI. Other comprehensive income

Under Ind AS, all items of income and expense recognised in a period should be included in profit and loss for the period, unless a standard requires or permits otherwise. Items of income and expense that are not recognised in profit and loss but in other comprehensive income under "Statement of Profit and Loss (including other comprehensive income)" includes re-measurements of defined benefit plans and their corresponding income tax effects.

D) Explanatory notes for other adjustments

D1 Exceptional Items

Till Financial year 2021-22, company sold certain vehicles and did not account for profit of INR 87.48 Million on sale of these vehicles through statement of profit & loss account and only adjusted written down value of property, plant and equipment in the past financial statements. As at April 1,2022, the written down value of the Property, Plant Equipment has been reinstated and the effect of this transaction has been disclosed as an exceptional item in Statement of Profit and Loss account.

D2 Change in Method of Depreciation

In accordance with the requirements of Ind AS 16 'Property, Plant and Equipment' and Ind AS 8 'Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors', the Company reassessed the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits of its Property, Plant and Equipment. Based on this assessment, the Company has changed its method of depreciation from the Straight Line Method (SLM) to the Written Down Value (WDV) Method effective from the transition date.

This change in method of depreciation has been considered a change in accounting estimate as per Ind AS 8 and has been applied prospectively from April 1,2022.

- The carrying amount of the affected assets as on the transition date has been depreciated using the new method over the remaining useful life.

- The impact of the change in depreciation method on the profit before tax in the financial year 2022-23 is INR 37.65 Million and in the financial year 2023-24 is INR 96.18 Million.

Management believes that the revised method of depreciation provides a more appropriate presentation of the manner in which the Company derives economic benefits from these assets.

The Company has made certain errors in adoption of accounting policies under Previous GAAP. During the period/ financial year, on transition to Ind AS, the Company has rectified these errors by restating the financial Statement for the respective financial years/period. These adjustments are on account of:-

D3 Provision for Gratuity Expense (as per valuation report prepared by an independent actuary) and Actuarial gain/loss

D4 Recognition of expense related to Corporate Social Responsibility in the correct period.

E) Explanatory notes for IND AS adjustments

E1 Lease Accounting

Under the Indian GAAP, lease rentals related to operating lease were accounted as expense in the statement of profit and loss. Under Ind AS, lease liability and right of use ('ROU') is recorded at present value of future contractual rent payment on initial date of lease. Subsequently, finance cost is accrued on lease liability and lease payments are recorded by way of reduction in lease liability. ROU is depreciated over lease term.

E2 Fair valuation of Investments

The company has accounted for fair valuation of investment in equity shares with the resultant impact being accounted for in the Other Equity (FVOCI).

E3 Provisions for Expected Trade Receivables

'On transition to Ind AS, the Company has applied the requirements of Ind AS 109 'Financial Instruments' in respect of impairment of financial assets. Under previous GAAP, provision for bad and doubtful debts was made based on management estimates of specific recoverability. Under Ind AS 109, the Company is required to recognise impairment using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model.

Accordingly, a provision for expected credit losses on trade receivables amounting to INR 0.64 Million has been recognised on the transition date. This has resulted in a reduction of retained earnings by INR 0.64 Million as at April 1,2022 (the transition date).

Management believes this adjustment provides a more prudent and forward-looking estimate of credit losses.

E4 Fair Valuation of Security Deposits

On transition to Ind AS, the Company has fair valued its security deposits in accordance with Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments. Under previous GAAP, security deposits were carried at transaction value. On transition, these deposits have been measured at their present value, with the difference between transaction value and present value recognised as prepaid expenses.

ii) Fair value hierarchy

This section explains the judgements and estimates made in determining the fair values of the financial instruments that are (a) recognised and measured at fair value and (b) measured at amortised cost and for which fair values are disclosed in the financial statements. To provide an indication about the reliability of the inputs used in determining fair value, the company has classified its financial instruments into the three levels prescribed under the accounting standard.

Level 1: Level 1 hierarchy includes financial instruments measured using quoted prices. This includes listed equity instruments that have quoted price. The fair value of all equity instruments which are traded in the stock exchanges is valued using the closing price as at the reporting period.

Level 2: The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined using valuation techniques which maximise the use of observable market data and rely as little as possible on entity-specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in level 2.

Level 3: If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3. This is the case for unlisted equity securities, security deposits included in level 3.

(iii) Assets and liabilities which are measured at amortised cost for which fair values are disclosed

All the financial asset and financial liabilities measured at amortised cost, carrying value is an approximation of their respective fair value.

ANNEXURE 50

A) FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The Company's principal financial liabilities comprise loans, borrowings and trade and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to finance the Company's operations. The Company's principal financial assets include loans, trade and other receivables, and cash and cash equivalents that derive directly from its operations. The Company also holds investments.

The Company is exposed to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company's senior management oversees the management of these risks. The Company's senior management ensures that the Company's financial risk activities are governed by appropriate policies and procedures and that financial risks are identified, measured and managed in accordance with the Company's policies and risk objectives. All derivative activities for risk management purposes are carried out by specialist teams that have the appropriate skills, experience and supervision. The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies for managing each of these risks, which are summarised below.

(a) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: interest rate risk, currency risk and other price risk, such as equity price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include loans and borrowings. The Company has no direct exposure to foreign currency risk.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Company's long-term debt obligations with floating interest rates. The Company manages its interest rate risk by having a balanced portfolio of fixed and variable rate loans and borrowings. The Company's policy is to borrow funds at fixed and floating rate of interest.

(b) Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including investments, deposits with banks and financial institutions and other financial instruments.

(i) Trade receivables

Customer credit risk is managed by the Company's established policies, procedures and controls relating to customer credit risk management. Credit quality of a customer is assessed based on an individual credit limits and are defined in accordance with management's assessment of the customer. Outstanding customer receivables are regularly monitored. The concentration of credit risk is limited due to the fact that the customer base is large. An impairment analysis is performed at each reporting date using a provision matrix to measure expected credit losses. The Company uses ageing buckets and provision matrix for the purpose of computation of expected credit loss. The provision rates are based on past trend of recoverability. The calculation reflects the probability-weighted outcome, the time value of money and reasonable and supportable information that is available at the reporting date about past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions.

(ii) Financial instruments and bank deposits

Credit risk from balances with banks is managed by the management in accordance with the Company's policy. Investments of surplus funds are made only with approved counterparties based on limits defined by the management. The limits are set to minimise the concentration of risks and therefore mitigate financial loss through counterparty's potential failure to make payments.

(c) Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company may encounter difficulty in meeting its present and future obligations associated with financial liabilities that are required to be settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of bank overdrafts, bank loans and finance leases. The Company closely monitors its liquidity position and deploys a robust cash management system. It aims to minimise these risks by generating sufficient cash flows from its current operations, which in addition to the available cash and cash equivalents and sufficient committed fund facilities, will provide liquidity. The liquidity risk is managed on the basis of expected maturity dates of the financial liabilities. The carrying amounts are assumed to be reasonable approximation of fair value.

B) Capital management

For the purpose of the Company's capital management, capital includes issued equity capital, compulsorily convertible preference shares, securities premium and all other equity reserves attributable to the equity holders. The primary objective of the Company's capital management is to maximise the shareholder value. The Company manages its capital structure and makes adjustments in light of changes in economic conditions and the requirements of the financial covenants. The Company monitors capital using a gearing ratio, which is net debt divided by total capital plus net debt. The Company's policy is to keep the gearing ratio between 0% and 25%. 2.2. Principles of Consolidated

The Group consolidates all entities which are controlled by it. The Group establishes control when; it has power over the entity, is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect the entity's returns by using its power over relevant activities of the entity. Entities controlled by the Company are consolidated from the date control commences until the date control ceases. The consolidated financial statements relate to Mann Fleet Partners Limited, the holding Company and its subsidiary company (hereinafter collectively referred as the Group). The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the following basis:

- a. The financial statements of the subsidiary company used in the consolidation are drawn upto the same reporting date as that of the Company i.e., December 31, 2025.
- b. The financial statements of the Company and its subsidiary company have been combined on a line by-line basis by adding together like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses, after eliminating intra-group balances, intra-group transactions and resulting unrealised profits or losses.
- c. The excess of cost to the company of its investments in the subsidiary company over its share of equity of the subsidiary company, at the dates on which the investments in the subsidiary company were made, is recognised as 'Goodwill' being an asset in the consolidated financial statements and is tested for impairment on annual basis.
- d. Goodwill is initially measured at cost, being the excess of the aggregate of the consideration transferred, over the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. After initial recognition, goodwill is measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses. For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is, from the acquisition date, allocated to each of the Company's cash generating units that are expected to benefit from the combination, irrespective of whether other assets or liabilities of the acquire are assigned to those units. A cash generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired. If the recoverable amount of the cash generating unit is less than its carrying amount, the impairment loss is allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit and then to the other assets of the unit pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment loss for goodwill is recognised in profit or loss. An impairment loss recognised for goodwill is not reversed in subsequent periods. Company treats the whole Company as Cash generating unit and hence impairment testing is test based on the profitability and foreseeable future of the Company as a whole.
- e. Non-Controlling Interests NCI are measured at their proportionate share of the acquirer's net identifiable assets on the date of acquisition.
- f. Following Subsidiary Company have been considered for the preparation of consolidated financial statements and we had consolidated financials from October 03, 2025:
- Leap Green Infra Private Limited (CIN: U77100DL2024PTC428230) - 56.67 %

2.3. Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements is in conformity with Ind AS requires management to make estimates, judgments and assumptions. These estimates, judgments and assumptions affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period. Accounting estimates could change from period to period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Appropriate changes in estimates are made as management becomes aware of changes in circumstances surrounding the estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on going concern basis.

Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period. If the revision affects both current and future period, the same is recognised accordingly.

Key source of estimation of uncertainty at the date of financial statements, which may cause material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, is in respect of impairment, useful lives of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets, valuation of deferred tax assets, provisions and contingent liabilities, fair value measurements of financial instruments and retirement benefit obligations as disclosed below:

Impairment

The Company estimates the value in use of the cash generating unit (CGU) based on future cash flows after considering current economic conditions and trends, estimated future operating results and growth rates and anticipated future economic and regulatory conditions. The estimated cash flows are developed using internal forecasts. The cash flows are discounted using a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value.

Useful lives of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The Company reviews the useful life of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets at the end of each reporting period. This reassessment may result in change in depreciation and amortisation expense in future periods.

Valuation of deferred tax assets

The Company reviews the carrying amount of deferred tax assets at the end of each reporting period.

Allowances for expected credit loss

The Company makes provision for expected credit losses through appropriate estimations of irrecoverable amount. The identification of expected credit loss requires use of judgment and estimates. The Company evaluates trade receivables ageing and makes a provision for those debts as per the provisioning policy.

Retirement benefit obligations

The Company's retirement benefit obligations are subject to number of assumptions including discount rates, inflation and salary growth. Significant assumptions are required when setting these criteria and a change in these assumptions would have a significant impact on the amount recorded in the Company's balance sheet and the statement of profit and loss. The Company sets these assumptions based on previous experience and third-party actuarial advice.

Classification of Leases

The Company enters into leasing arrangements for Building. The classification of the leasing arrangement as a finance lease or operating lease is based on an assessment of several factors, including, but not limited to, transfer of ownership of leased asset at end of lease term, lessee's option to purchase and estimated certainty of exercise of such option, proportion of lease term to the asset's economic life, proportion of present value of minimum lease payments to fair value of leased asset and extent of specialized nature of the leased asset.

2.4. Significant Accounting Policies

This note provides a list of the material accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these restated financial statements. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

i) Current V/s Non-Current Classification

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current/ non-current classification. An asset is classified as current when it is:

- Expected to be realised or intended to sold or consumed in normal operating cycle.
- Held primarily for the purpose of trading
- Expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- Cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

- It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle
- It is held primarily for the purpose of trading
- It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period

The Company classifies all other liabilities as non-current. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

The operating cycle is the time between the acquisition of assets for processing and their realisation in cash and cash equivalents. Based on the nature of service and the time between rendering of services and their realization in cash and cash equivalents, 12 months has been considered by the Company for the purpose of current / non-current classification of assets and liabilities.

ii) Functional and Presentation Currency

The company has determined the currency of the primary economic environment in which the company operates, i.e., the functional currency, to be Indian Rupees (INR). The Restated Financial Statements are presented in Indian Rupees, which is the company's functional and presentation currency. All amounts have been rounded to the nearest million up to two decimal places, unless otherwise stated. Consequent to rounding off, the numbers presented throughout the document may not add up precisely to the totals and percentages may not precisely reflect the absolute amounts.

iii) Fair Value Measurement

The company measures financial instruments at each balance sheet date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

1. In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
2. In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability. The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest. A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the Restated Financial Statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

Level 1 — Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.

Level 3 — Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the Restated Financial Statements on a recurring basis, the company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period. External valuers may be required for valuation of significant assets and liabilities. Involvement of external valuers is decided on the basis of nature of transaction and complexity involved. Selection criteria include market knowledge, reputation, independence and whether professional standards are maintained.

At each reporting date, the finance team analyses the movements in the values of assets and liabilities which are required to be remeasured or re-assessed as per the company's accounting policies. For this analysis, the team verifies the major inputs applied in the latest valuation by agreeing the information in the valuation computation to contracts and other relevant documents. A change in fair value of assets and liabilities is also compared with relevant external sources to determine whether the change is reasonable. For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

This note summarises accounting policy for fair value. Other fair value related disclosures are given in the relevant notes.

iv) Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE):

An item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset if it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company and its cost can be measured reliably. This recognition principle is applied to costs incurred initially to acquire an item of property, plant and equipment and also to costs incurred subsequently to add to, replace part of, or service it. All other repair and maintenance costs, including regular servicing, are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss as incurred. Where an item of property, plant and equipment comprises major components having different useful lives, these components are accounted for as separate items.

The cost of property, plant and equipment comprises its purchase price net of any trade discounts and rebates, any import duties and other taxes (other than those subsequently recoverable from the tax authorities), any directly attributable expenditure on making the asset ready for its intended use, other incidental expenses and interest on borrowings attributable to acquisition of qualifying fixed assets up to the date the asset is ready for its intended use. Subsequent expenditure on fixed assets after its purchase / completion is capitalized only if such expenditure results in an increase in the future benefits from such asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. The company depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the straight line method. Depreciation methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically at each financial year end. The gain or loss arising on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between sale proceeds and carrying value of such item and is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

v) Intangible Assets

Design, development and software costs are included in the balance sheet as intangible assets when it is probable that associated future economic benefits would flow to the company. All other costs on the aforementioned are expensed in the statement of profit and loss as and when incurred. Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment. The estimated useful life of an identifiable intangible asset is based on a number of factors including the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors (such as the stability of the industry and known technological advances). Amortization methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically including at each financial year end.

Intangible asset under development

The company capitalises intangible asset under development for a project in accordance with the accounting policy. Initial capitalisation of costs is based on management's judgement that technological and economic feasibility is confirmed, usually when a product development project has reached a defined milestone according to an established project management model. In determining the amounts to be capitalised, management makes assumptions regarding the expected future cash generation of the project, discount rates to be applied and the expected period of benefits.

vi) Depreciation of Property, Plant and Equipment

Depreciation is provided on the straight line method. The estimated useful life of each asset as prescribed under Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013 and based on technical assessment of internal experts (after considering the expected usage of the asset, expected physical wear and tear, technical and commercial obsolescence and understanding of past practices and general industry experience) are as depicted below:

Particulars	Estimated useful life (in years)
Furniture & Fixtures	10

Computers	3
Office Equipments	5
Motor Vehicles (for self use)	8
Motor vehicles (for car rental business)	6

vii) Impairment of Non-Financial Assets

Assets that are subject to amortisation and depreciation are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount of cash generating units exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount of a cash generating unit is the higher of cash generating unit's fair value less cost of disposal and its value in use.

viii) Financial Instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through statement of profit and loss are recognised immediately in statement of profit and loss.

1. Financial Assets

All financial assets are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through statement of profit and loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market-place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

a. Classification and Subsequent Measurement:

Debt instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortised cost less impairment loss (except for debt investments that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition)

- (i) the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- (ii) the contractual terms of the instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Debt instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (except for debt investments that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition).

- (i) the asset is held within a business model whose objective is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets; and
- (ii) the contractual terms of the instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

FVTPL is a residual category for debt instruments. Any debt instrument, which does not meet the criteria for categorization as at amortized cost or as FVTOCI, is classified as at FVTPL. Trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, other bank balances, loans and other financial assets are classified for measurement at amortised cost.

Financial assets at amortised cost are subsequently measured at amortised cost using effective interest method. The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of an instrument and of allocating interest income over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts (including all fees paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the debt instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

b. Equity Instruments:

The company subsequently measures all equity investments in scope of Ind AS 109 at fair value, with net changes in fair value recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

c. Derecognition:

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a company of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e. removed from the company's financial statements of assets and liabilities) when: i) The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or ii) The company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement; and either (a) the company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) the company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, it evaluates if and to what extent it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the company continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of the company's continuing involvement. In that case, the company also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the company could be required to repay.

d. Impairment of financial assets:

The company recognises loss allowances using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model for the financial assets which are not fair valued through profit and loss. Loss allowance for trade receivables with no significant financing component is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECL. For all other financial assets, expected credit losses are measured at an amount equal to the 12-month ECL, unless there has been a significant increase in credit risk from initial recognition, in which case those financial assets are measured at lifetime ECL. The changes (incremental or reversal) in loss allowance computed using ECL model, are recognised as an impairment gain or loss in the statement of profit and loss.

The company recognises loss allowances for expected credit losses on financial assets measured at amortised cost. At each reporting date, the company assesses whether financial assets carried at amortised cost are credit impaired. A financial asset is 'credit impaired' when one or more events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred.

Evidence that a financial asset is credit impaired includes the following observable data:

i. significant financial difficulty of the borrower or issuer; ii. a breach of contract such as a default or past dues; iii. the restructuring of a loan or advance by the company on terms that the company would not consider otherwise; - it is probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation; or iv. the disappearance of an active market for a security because of financial difficulties. The company follows 'simplified approach' for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables which do not contain a significant financing component. The application of simplified approach does not require the company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime impairment pattern at each balance sheet date, right from its initial recognition.

In all cases, the maximum period considered when estimating expected credit losses is the maximum contractual period over which the company is exposed to credit risk.

When determining whether the credit risk of a financial asset has increased significantly since initial recognition and when estimating expected credit losses, the company considers reasonable and supportable information that is relevant and available without undue cost or effort. This includes both quantitative and qualitative information and analysis, based on the company's historical experience and informed credit assessment and including forward looking information.

The company considers a financial asset to be in default when: i. the borrower is unlikely to pay its credit obligations to the company in full, without recourse by the company to actions such as realising security (if any is held); or ii. the financial asset is more than past due.

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off (either partially or in full) to the extent that there is no realistic prospect of recovery. This is generally the case when the company determines that the counterparty does not have assets or sources of income that could generate sufficient cash flows to repay the amounts subject to write-off. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities in order to comply with the company's procedures for recovery of amounts due.

2. Financial Liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit and loss, loans and borrowings, payables, as appropriate.

a. Initial recognition and measurement: All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs. The company's financial liabilities include Borrowings, Other Financial Liabilities, Trade Payables and Leases.

b. Subsequent measurement: All financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method or at FVTPL. For financial liabilities that are denominated in a foreign currency and are measured at amortized cost at the end of each reporting period, the foreign exchange gains and losses are determined based on the amortized cost of the instruments and are recognized in 'Other income'. The fair value of financial liabilities denominated in a foreign currency is determined in that foreign currency and translated at the spot rate at the end of the reporting period. For financial liabilities that are measured as at FVTPL, the foreign exchange component forms part of the fair value gains or losses and is recognized in profit or loss.

- c. Derecognition: The company derecognizes financial liabilities when, and only when, the company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid and payable is recognized in statement of profit and loss.

3. Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the statement of assets and liabilities if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

ix) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalent in the statement of assets and liabilities comprise cash at banks and on hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less, which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and short-term deposits, as defined above, net of outstanding bank overdrafts (if any) as they are considered an integral part of the company's cash management.

x) Cash Flow Statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby loss for the period is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a noncash nature, any deferrals or accruals of past or future operating cash receipts or payments and item of income or expenses associated with investing or financing cash flows. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities of the company are segregated.

xi) Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs are expensed in the period in which they occur. Borrowing cost consist of interest and other costs that an entity incurs in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing cost also includes exchange differences to the extent regarded as an adjustment to the borrowing costs.

xii) Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets

a) Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. The expense relating to a provision is presented in the statement of profit and loss net of any reimbursement. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

b) Contingent Liabilities

Contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events and the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the company, or is a present obligation that arises from past event but is not recognised because either it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, or a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation cannot be made. The company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements unless the probability of outflow of resources is remote.

c) Contingent Assets

Contingent assets are not recognized. However, when the realization of income is virtually certain, then the related asset is no longer a contingent asset, but it is recognized as an asset.

Provisions, contingent liabilities, contingent assets and commitments are reviewed at each balance sheet date.

xiii) Share Capital and Securities Premium

Ordinary shares are classified as Equity. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of new shares are shown in equity as a deduction, net of tax, from the proceeds. Par value of the equity share is recorded as share capital and the amount received in excess of the par value is classified as securities premium.

xiv) Revenue Recognition

The company derives revenue primarily through renting of cars.

Revenue is recognised either at a point of time or over time, when (or as) the company satisfies the performance obligation of promised services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration the company expects to receive in exchange for those services. Revenue is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with a customer.

In arrangements for sale of services, the company has applied the guidance in Ind AS 115, Revenue from contract with customers, by applying the revenue recognition criteria for each distinct performance obligation. Revenue towards satisfaction of a performance obligation is measured at the amount of transaction price (net of variable consideration) allocated to that performance obligation. The transaction price of services rendered is net of variable consideration on account of various trade discounts and schemes offered by the company as part of the contract.

Renting of Cars

Revenue comprising of renting of cars is recognised when obligations under the terms of a contract with the customer are satisfied; generally, this occurs at a point in time, when control of the promised services is transferred to the customer (including service contract with customer for employee transportation services rendered to corporate customers).

Other Income

Interest income from a financial asset is recognised when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably. Interest income is accrued on a time proportion basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount on initial recognition.

xv) Taxation

a) Current Income Tax

Current tax is the tax payable on the taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from 'profit before tax' as reported in the Statement of Profit and Loss because of items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and items that are never taxable or deductible. The company's current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period, in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Current income tax relating to items recognised outside financial statements profit and loss is recognised outside financial statements profit and loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate. Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the statement of assets and liabilities after off-setting advance tax paid and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction and where the relevant tax paying units intends to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

b) Deferred Tax

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying values of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses only if it is probable that future taxable amounts will be available to utilise those temporary differences and losses.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset is realised, based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets and liabilities and where the deferred tax balances relate to the same taxation authority.

Current tax assets and tax liabilities are off set where the entity has a legally enforceable right to offset and intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. Current and deferred tax is recognised in profit or loss, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case, the tax is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

xvi) Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is computed using the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted-average number of equity and dilutive equivalent shares outstanding during the period, except where the results would be anti-dilutive.

The number of equity shares and potentially dilutive equity shares are adjusted retrospectively for all periods presented for any splits and bonus shares issues including for change effected prior to the approval of the financial Information by the Board of Directors.

xvii) Leases

The company's leased assets primarily consist of leases for office buildings. The company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the company assesses whether:

- i. the contract involves the use of an identified asset
- ii. the company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease; and
- iii. the company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

1. Rights of use Assets

At the date of commencement of the lease, the company recognizes a right-of-use asset ("ROU") and a corresponding lease liability for all lease arrangements in which it is a lessee, except for leases with a term of twelve months or less (short-term leases) and low value leases. For these short-term and low-value leases, the company recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight - line basis over the term of the lease.

The right-of-use assets are initially recognized at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or prior to the commencement date of the lease plus any initial direct costs less any lease incentives. They are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses. Right-of-use assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and useful life of the underlying asset unless the lease transfers ownership of the underlying asset to the company by the end of the lease term or the cost of the right-of-use asset reflect that the company exercise a purchase option. The company applies Ind AS 36 to determine whether a right-of-use asset is impaired and accounts for any identified impairment loss as described in the accounting policy above on "Impairment of non- financial assets".

2. Lease Liabilities

The lease liability is initially measured at amortized cost at the present value of the future lease payments that are not paid at the commencement date. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if not readily determinable, using the company's incremental borrowing rates. Lease liabilities are remeasured with a corresponding adjustment to the related right of use asset (or in profit or loss if the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset has been reduced to zero) if the company changes its assessment of whether it will exercise an extension or a termination or a purchase option. The interest cost on lease liability (computed using effective interest method), is expensed in the statement of profit and loss.

Lease liability and right-of-use asset have been separately presented in the Restated Statement of Assets and Liabilities and lease payments have been classified as financing cash flows. The company has applied a practical expedient wherein the company has ignored the requirement to separate non- lease components

(such as maintenance services) from the lease components. Instead, the company has accounted for the entire contract as a single lease contract.

xviii) Commitments

Commitments are future liabilities for contractual expenditure, classified and disclosed as follows:

- i. estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for
- ii. uncalled liability on shares and other investments partly paid;

xix) Employee Benefits

Employee benefits include provident fund, employee state insurance scheme and gratuity.

Defined contribution plans: The company's contribution to provident fund and employee state insurance scheme are considered as defined contribution plans and are charged as an expense based on the amount of contribution required to be made and when services are rendered by the employees.

Defined benefit plans: The company has Defined Benefit Plan in the form of Gratuity. Liability for Defined Benefit Plans is provided on the basis of valuations, as at the balance sheet date, carried out by an independent actuary. The defined benefit obligation is calculated annually by independent actuary using the projected unit credit method. The present value of the defined benefit obligation is determined by discounting the estimated future cash outflows using discount rate (interest rates of government bonds) that have terms to maturity approximating to the terms of the gratuity. Remeasurement gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the period in which they occur, directly in other comprehensive income. They are included in 'Other Comprehensive Income' (net of taxes) in the statement of changes in equity and in the balance sheet. Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset.

The company presents the first two components of defined benefit costs in profit or loss in the line item 'Employee Benefits Expense'.

xx) Events occurring after the balance sheet date

Based on the nature of the event, the company identifies the events occurring between the balance sheet date and the date on which the financial statements are approved as 'Adjusting Event' and 'Non-adjusting event'. Adjustments to assets and liabilities are made for events occurring after the balance sheet date that provide additional information materially affecting the determination of the amounts relating to conditions existing at the balance sheet date or because of statutory requirements or because of their special nature. For non-adjusting events, the company may provide a disclosure in the financial statements considering the nature of the transaction.

2.4) Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the Restated Financial Statements in conformity with the principles of Ind AS requires the management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that effect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods. In particular, information about the significant areas of estimation, uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements.

Information about significant areas of estimation /uncertainty and judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the financial statements are as follows:

a) Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment represent a significant proportion of the asset base of the company. The useful lives and residual values of property, plant and equipment are determined by the management based on technical assessment by internal team and external advisor. The charge in respect of periodic depreciation is derived after determining an estimate of an asset's expected useful life and the expected residual value at the end of its life. Company believes that the useful life best represents the period over which the company expects to use these assets.

b) Income Taxes

Management judgment is required for the calculation of provision for income taxes and deferred tax assets and liabilities. The Company reviews at each balance sheet date the carrying amount of deferred tax assets. The factors used in estimates may differ from actual outcome which could lead to significant adjustment to the amounts reported in the financial statements.

c) Contingencies

Management judgement is required for estimating the possible outflow of resources, if any, in respect of contingencies/claim/ litigations against the company as it is not possible to predict the outcome of pending matters with accuracy.

d) Leases

Judgment required to ascertain lease classification, lease term, incremental borrowing rate, lease and non-lease component and impairment of right of use assets.

e) Defined Benefit plans

The cost of the defined benefit gratuity plan and the present value of the gratuity obligation are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate; future salary increases and mortality rates. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date.

The parameter most subject to change is the discount rate. In determining the appropriate discount rate for plans operated in India, the management considers the interest rates of government bonds where remaining maturity of such bond correspond to expected term of defined benefit obligation.

The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for the country. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases and gratuity increases are based on expected future inflation rates of the country.

f) Impairment of financial assets

The company determines the allowance for credit losses based on policy for expected loss provision based on experiential realisations, current and estimated future economic conditions. The company considered current and anticipated future economic conditions relating to industries the company deals with.

D) Explanatory notes for other adjustments

D1 Exceptional Items

Till Financial year 2021-22, company sold certain vehicles and did not account for profit of ₹ 87.48 million on sale of these vehicles through statement of profit & loss account and only adjusted written down value of property, plant and equipment in the past financial statements. As at April 01, 2022, the written down value of the Property, Plant Equipment has been reinstated and the effect of this transaction has been disclosed as an exceptional item in Statement of Profit and Loss account.

D2 Change in Method of Depreciation

In accordance with the requirements of Ind AS 16 'Property, Plant and Equipment' and Ind AS 8 'Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors', the Company reassessed the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits of its Property, Plant and Equipment. Based on this assessment, the Company has changed its method of depreciation from the Straight Line Method (SLM) to the Written Down Value (WDV) Method effective from the transition date.

This change in method of depreciation has been considered a change in accounting estimate as per Ind AS 8 and has been applied prospectively from April 01, 2022.

- The carrying amount of the affected assets as on the transition date has been depreciated using the new method over the remaining useful life.
- The impact of the change in depreciation method on the profit before tax in the financial year 2022-23 is ₹ 37.65 million and in the financial year 2023-24 is ₹ 96.18 million.

Management believes that the revised method of depreciation provides a more appropriate presentation of the manner in which the Company derives economic benefits from these assets.

The Company has made certain errors in adoption of accounting policies under Previous GAAP. During the current year, on transition to Ind AS, the Company has rectified these errors by restating the financial Statement for the respective years/period. These adjustments are on account of:-

D3 Provision for Gratuity Expense (as per valuation report prepared by an independent actuary) and Actuarial gain/loss

D4 Recognition of expense related to Corporate Social Responsibility in the correct period.

E) Explanatory notes for IND AS adjustments

E1 Lease Accounting

Under the Indian GAAP, lease rentals related to operating lease were accounted as expense in the statement of profit and loss. Under Ind AS, lease liability and right of use ('ROU') is recorded at present value of future contractual rent payment on initial date of lease. Subsequently, finance cost is accrued on lease liability and lease payments are recorded by way of reduction in lease liability. ROU is depreciated over lease term.

E2 Fair valuation of Investments

The company has accounted for fair valuation of investment in equity shares with the resultant impact being accounted for in the Other Equity (FVOCI).

E3 Provisions for Expected Trade Receivables

'On transition to Ind AS, the Company has applied the requirements of Ind AS 109 'Financial Instruments' in respect of impairment of financial assets. Under previous GAAP, provision for bad and doubtful debts was made based on management estimates of specific recoverability. Under Ind AS 109, the Company is required to recognise impairment using the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model.

Accordingly, a provision for expected credit losses on trade receivables amounting to ₹ 0.64 million has been recognised on the transition date. This has resulted in a reduction of retained earnings by ₹ 0.64 million as at April 01, 2022 (the transition date).

Management believes this adjustment provides a more prudent and forward-looking estimate of credit losses.

E4 Fair Valuation of Security Deposits

On transition to Ind AS, the Company has fair valued its security deposits in accordance with Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments. Under previous GAAP, security deposits were carried at transaction value. On transition, these deposits have been measured at their present value, with the difference between transaction value and present value recognised as prepaid expenses.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISKS

The Company’s principal financial liabilities comprise loans, borrowings and trade and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to finance the Company’s operations. The Company’s principal financial assets include loans, trade and other receivables, and cash and cash equivalents that derive directly from its operations. The Company also holds investments.

The Company is exposed to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company’s senior management oversees the management of these risks. The Company’s senior management ensures that the Company’s financial risk activities are governed by appropriate policies and procedures and that financial risks are identified, measured and managed in accordance with the Company’s policies and risk objectives. All derivative activities for risk management purposes are carried out by specialist teams that have the appropriate skills, experience and supervision. The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies for managing each of these risks, which are summarised below.

(a) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: interest rate risk, currency risk and other price risk, such as equity price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include loans and borrowings. The Company has no direct exposure to foreign currency risk.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Company's long-term debt obligations with floating interest rates. The Company manages its interest rate risk by having a balanced portfolio of fixed and variable rate loans and borrowings. The Company's policy is to borrow funds at fixed and floating rate of interest.

(b) Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including investments, deposits with banks and financial institutions and other financial instruments.

(i) Trade receivables

Customer credit risk is managed by the Company's established policies, procedures and controls relating to customer credit risk management. Credit quality of a customer is assessed based on an individual credit limits and are defined in accordance with management's assessment of the customer. Outstanding customer receivables are regularly monitored. The concentration of credit risk is limited due to the fact that the customer base is large. An impairment analysis is performed at each reporting date using a provision matrix to measure expected credit losses. The Company uses ageing buckets and provision matrix for the purpose of computation of expected credit loss. The provision rates are based on past trend of recoverability. The calculation reflects the probability-weighted outcome, the time value of money and reasonable and supportable information that is available at the reporting date about past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions.

(ii) Financial instruments and bank deposits

Credit risk from balances with banks is managed by the management in accordance with the Company's policy. Investments of surplus funds are made only with approved counterparties based on limits defined by the management. The limits are set to minimise the concentration of risks and therefore mitigate financial loss through counterparty's potential failure to make payments.

(c) Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company may encounter difficulty in meeting its present and future obligations associated with financial liabilities that are required to be settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of bank overdrafts, bank loans and finance leases. The Company closely monitors its liquidity position and deploys a robust cash management system. It aims to minimise these risks by generating sufficient cash flows from its current operations, which in addition to the available cash and cash equivalents and sufficient committed fund facilities, will provide liquidity. The liquidity risk is managed on the basis of expected maturity dates of the financial liabilities. The carrying amounts are assumed to be reasonable approximation of fair value.

The SEBI ICDR Master Circular has reduced the time period for listing of equity shares pursuant to a public issue from six Working Days to three Working Days. The timeline was applicable on a voluntary basis for public issues opening on or after September 1, 2023, and has been made applicable on a mandatory basis for public issues opening on or after December 1, 2023. Considering the time required for making necessary changes to the systems and to ensure complete and smooth transition to the UPI payment mechanism, the UPI Circulars have introduced the UPI Mechanism in three phases in the following manner:
